Russia To Attend Jap Treaty Parley

Decision May Mean Attempt To Block Pact

Gromyko To Head Soviet Delegation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Russia, after denouncing the proposed Japanese peace treaty, has given notice it will attend a 50-nation Japanese peace conference called in San Francisco Sept. 4 to sign it.

Moscow's decision foreshadowed a Soviet propaganda attempt to block the American-sponsored peace pact.

Barring an unexpected policy switch, Russia's delegation is expected to refuse to sign—but only after objecting to virtually every paragraph of the treaty draft.

The State Department, in announcing Russia's acceptance today, refused to speculate on whether it means an end to elaborately-laid plans for a brief five-day session, climaxed by a grand signing ceremony Sept. 8. It seemed inevitable, however, that Russian arguments would drag the conference beyond the closing deadline.

Gromyko To Head Delegation

In formal protest notes, Moscow has bitterly condemned the proposed treaty draft as illegal and a device for tying an "aggressive" satellite Japan to the United States.

Acting Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko will head the Russian delegation to the San Francisco meeting. Gromyko is filling in for Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky who reportedly is recovering from pneumonia.

Nearly 25 nations have already indicated they will attend. The Philippines, however, bitterly criticized the absence of reparations for its devastated country. India, likewise has voiced criticism of some sections.

The State Department reported in telling of Russia's acceptance today that a newly-revised draft, the third since March, is now being circulated to all interested governments, including Russia.

Text To Be Published Soon

No details were disclosed. But Press Officer Michael J. McDermott said the text would be published shortly.

The draft treaty so far places no restrictions on Japan's right to rearm. Presumably because of the Communist menace in the Far East.

Russia has especially denounced this. It said in a note to the State Department June 10:

"The government of the U.S.A., with the help of its occupation authorities, is in reality already carrying out a policy of restoring Japanese militarism."

Moscow in effect called for the United States to start all over in writing a treaty for Japan.

U. S. TV Exhibition Is Tempting Lure To German Reds

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—"It's wonderful. It's a marvel of technology and something we never thought to see."

Thus a German youth from Thuringia in the Russian occupation zone described his first glimpse of television today in free West Berlin.

The American-sponsored television exhibition, both in black-and-white and in color, proved a tempting lure to East German Communist youth, footsore and hoarse from their continuing festival in East Berlin.

President Truman, in his greeting to West Berliners for the television exhibition, told them that "the hearts of the free world are with you." Mr. Truman said the show, sponsored by the Economic Cooperation Organization, was aimed to demonstrate "how free men can work together for peace and prosperity."

No-Strings Aid For Spain OK'd By Senate Group

Committee Eliminates Criticism Of Franco

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved a no-strings $400,000,000 military and economic aid program for Franco Spain today and rejected a subcommittee's criticism of the Spanish dictatorship.

The subcommittee, which visited Spain and other European countries in June, had recommended the aid program on the condition the Spanish government "promote the freedoms cherished by the Spanish peoples."

But the full committee, before approving the subcommittee report, cut out the conditions and also struck out criticisms of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government.

The action was taken as the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees began a joint study of the administration's $8,500,000,000 foreign aid program.

Knowland Moves For Cut

During the day, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) moved to cut the total by $1,275,000,000. The House Foreign Affairs Committee has cut $651,000,000 from the total in sending its measure to the House.

Committee approval of the Spanish aid proposal apparently was influenced by a confidential staff memorandum which quoted Ambassador Stanton Griffis as saying in Madrid the Spanish have unlimited manpower but they could be "armed only with broomsticks at the present."

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Green (D-RI), had proposed that strings be attached to the Spanish aid. And the members had voiced these misgivings:

"Enigma" Pointed Out

"No one questions that Spain would be a useful ally in event of a Communist attack in Europe. Yet many people do question whether the acquisition of such an ally is worth the price that would be exacted by way of compromising the moral and spiritual values shared by the free nations of the Atlantic area.

"One of the enigmas that struck the subcommittee at it examined the Spanish situation was that any American assistance to Spain would in fact strengthen Gen. Franco, thereby reducing the likelihood that the Spanish people would regain such freedoms as those of religion, assemblage and press."

B-50 Explodes, Setting Seattle Structure Afire

Four-Engined Craft Crashes On Takeoff

SEATTLE, Aug. 13 (AP)—A roaring, four-engined B-50 bomber went suddenly out of control after a takeoff from Boeing Field today and smashed into a three-story hillside apartment house, bringing flaming death to more than 10 people.

Carrying 3,500 gallons of gasoline and 300 gallons of oil, the mammoth plane caught fire as she hit and turned a third of the 200-foot long building into a raging furnace.

There were 49 apartments and 67 tenants. How many actually died may not be known for hours. Six men, three of them Boeing Airplane Company test personnel, were aboard the plane.

Explosions Hamper Workers

Four hours after the crash, Fire Battalion Chief R. B. Rogers said nine bodies had been recovered and a tenth was being removed from the mass of twisted steel, tangled bedsprings and charred wood that marked the smouldering death scene. He said other bodies had been sighted but could not estimate the number.

Twice explosions drove workers away. An hour after the crash a fuel tank blew up and in another hour an unexplained gas explosion forced the men back.

The huge aircraft had gained only about 700 feet altitude when it nosed downward, then pivoted on one wing and piled into the apartment house. It made no radio report after takeoff. A tower of flame and smoke shot skyward immediately.

A Boeing official at the scene said three of the men aboard were Air Force personnel and three were Boeing employes. The firm's information office said it could not confirm that report immediately.

Ammunition Explodes

Witnesses said the four engines seemed to be functioning well when the plane started faltering.

One wing apparently struck the side of the main brick building of the brewery before the plane crashed. A scratch mark was visible across it. Then the B-50 continued about 150 feet up the hill before hitting the end of the apartment house. It apparently plowed into it nose first.

Firemen said they heard ammunition exploding in the burning wreckage long after the crash.

The apartments left in the building presented a scene of panic and disorder. There was overturned furniture. Windows were broken. Food was left on tables from which tenants fled in terror.

INCURABLY ILL—Sister Elizabeth Kenny (above), a leader in the fight against polio, told a reporter in Sydney, Australia, yesterday she is incurably ill and has little time left in this world. The famous nurse, who is 65, did not name the disease with which she has been stricken.

Tax Boost Plan Hits Low Income Groups Hardest

Senate Group Works On Version Of Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP)—A strong move was reported in the Senate Finance Committee today to knock out the individual income tax increase plan approved by the House, and shift the blow more to the lower income groups.

Committee members said they are studying a new proposal to raise personal income tax rates by three percentage points in all brackets. Some members predicted approval of this plan.

How Plan Would Work

It would work like this: In the lower income groups the present levy of 20 per cent on taxable income would be increased to 23 per cent. In much higher income groups, where, say, the present rate is 50 per cent, the rate would go up to 53 per cent.

The House-passed tax bill would increase actual payments—not the rates—by 12½ per cent all along the line.

Both plans would raise approximately the same amount—$2,850,000,000. The difference is in who pays the bill.

Under the new proposal the average couple with two children and a net income of $3,000 to $5,000 would pay 15 per cent more than at present, instead of the 12½ per cent increase in the House bill.

For the same family with $100,000 net income, the increase would be cut from 12½ per cent as provided in the House bill to 5½ per cent.

Works Behind Closed Doors

The Senate committee began working behind closed doors today to write its version of the new tax bill. Chairman George (D-Ga) said no definite decisions were reached, but said he hoped to have a bill ready for the Senate within two weeks.

The House measure would boost taxes a total of $7,200,000,000. In addition to personal income tax increases, it hikes corporate income levies and excise (sales) taxes on scores of products from automobiles to liquor.

Navy Helicopter Hits Power Line, Killing Two

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—A Navy helicopter hit a power line near here today and crashed in flames. Its two occupants were killed.

The tragedy came just a week after another helicopter from the same HU-1 squadron at Miramar Auxiliary Air Station crashed and burned, with the loss of two lives.

Nam Says U.N. Must Change Buffer Stand

Refuses To Offer Any Adjustments

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Aug. 14. (AP)—Allied and Communist armistice teams adjourned their 24th conference today after two hours and 40 minutes and agreed to meet again tomorrow.

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Aug. 14 (AP) — Allied delegates resumed Korean truce talks today under a Communist threat that they must change their attitude on a buffer zone or accept a prolonged deadlock.

The talks, now bogged down for 13 straight sessions on the issue of where to draw a demilitarized zone across Korea, resumed at 11 a. m. (9 p. m., EDT, Monday).

The Reds yesterday flatly turned down an Allied invitation to propose any adjustments in the United Nations demand for a buffer zone based on the present battle line. Most of this lies north of parallel 38.

Instead, the Reds insisted that the U. N. truce team discuss the Communist demand for a demarcation line along parallel 38. This is the old boundary between North and South Korea.

Pyongyang radio, 10 hours after yesterday's session, broadcast a statement by the chief Red delegate, North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, that the Allied delegation must change its attitude on the buffer zone issue or the conference will "not make any progress."

Talks Stalled Since July 27

The question of where to draw a buffer zone has deadlocked the talks since July 27. A total of 28 hours and 18 minutes has been consumed on the one subject, including one session where the negotiators sat for two hours and 11 minutes without saying anything.

Despite the failure to progress, the feeling persisted at U. N. advance headquarters that the Communists may still back down from their insistence on a buffer zone along the 38th parallel.

There was no indication that the U. N. delegation, headed by Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, would revise its stand for a defensible line along present battle positions. However, it was believed the Allies might consider a compromise if the Communists would meet them half way.

Short-tempered little Gen. Nam gave no hint Monday that the Reds would revise their stand. Frequently he used such words as "arrogant, absurd and self-contradictory" to describe the U. N. stand.

In effect he rejected in advance a conciliatory offer from Joy.

Joy Answers Nam's Questions

Joy opened the one-hour 20-minute Monday session by replying in detail to five questions submitted Sunday by Nam.

As soon as Joy finished, Nam picked up a previously prepared and translated paper which described Joy's answer as "not satisfactory," according to a U. N. communique.

Obviously, Nam had his rejection ready before he had heard what the senior U. N. delegate would say.

Joy had explained that the U. N. proposed buffer zone was given to the Reds to provide a "clear and concise" understanding of what the Allies wanted in a demilitarized zone.

Then Joy offered to compromise again and concluded by asking, "have you any adjustments to propose?"

Nam did not. Instead, he sought to blame the Allies for the deadlock.

O'Mahoney Calls For More Taxes, Cut In Spending

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Less government spending and more taxes are needed if the country is going to lick inflation, Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) of the Congressional Economic Committee declared today.

O'Mahoney called his Senate-House group together to consider a warning from its staff experts that rising prices, increased inflation and three years of federal deficits may be by-products of the nation's giant defense program.

He failed to get a quorum of the committee, so the report was not acted on today. But O'Mahoney reported there appeared to be general agreement among the senators and representatives present that "inflation is the most serious threat to the position that this country is taking in the world."

"The American economy is the principal bulwark of the free world," O'Mahoney said, recalling the prediction of some experts that Russia is banking heavily on an American economic collapse in its cold war plans.

"This committee out to issue a report on the importance of preventing inflation from taking hold in this country by seizing every opportunity to reduce expenditures and to balance the budget by increased taxation," he said.

A Senate-House conference committee agreed today on an economy formula which they said would require a 10 per cent cut in current federal payrolls.

Macfadden Plans 'Chute Jump After His 83rd Birthday

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Bernarr Macfadden, 82-year-old physical culturalist, plans to make a parachute jump over Niagara Falls "within the next 10 days," a spokesman for the octogenarian said today.

The spokesman added that Macfadden plans to end his leap into the water below the falls.

"He (Macfadden) wants to know what it's like to go into the water," the spokesman said.

Macfadden had planned to make the parachute leap over the falls Aug. 18, two days after his 83rd birthday. But that depends on the weather, the spokesman said, "which should be right within the next 10 days."

India, Pakistan Pullback Asked

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 13 (AP)—United Nations Mediator Frank Graham was reported today to have suggested that India and Pakistan compromise by pulling some of their advance troops back in the dispute over Kashmir.

The reports circulated after Graham talked alone with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru for 50 minutes.

While there is no confirmation, it is believed here that Graham made similar suggestions to Pakistani Premier Liaquat Ali Khan in an effort to ease the threat of war. Graham came here from Karachi.

A spokesman for Graham's mission would not answer questions about possible progress.

(Authoritative sources in Paris said the Big Three powers—the United States, Britain and France—may send a note to India and Pakistan urging they take it easy.)

'Ike's' Aide Says Help Of Germany 'Must' In Defense

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower's chief of staff has told congressmen behind closed doors that the help of Western Germany is "very close to being a must" in any successful defense of Western Europe.

Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther indicated before the House Foreign Affairs Committee recently that Eisenhower's North Atlantic defense planning is going forward on the assumption Western Germany will be brought into the European defense effort. His testimony was made public today.

Gruenther also said:

(1) He does not believe Russia can start another "Korean war" in Europe by using only satellite states.

(2) The Balkan satellites aren't strong enough to go to war except as units of a Russian army.

(3) An attack by Russia and her satellites on Yugoslavia might well start World War Three.

On Germany, Gruenther was asked this question by Rep. Merrow (R-NH):

"Do you think it would be possible to realize the objective that you have now set forth that Europe will be in a position to defend itself, without the integration of Western Germany economically and militarily into these plans?

Gruenther: "It is conceivably possible, but with the greatest of difficulty. I would say the participation of Germany comes very close to being a 'must.' x x x Naturally in our thinking we are going on the hypothesis that the inclusion of Germany obviously is a 'must.' We think it is very essential.

9 Saved, 20 Missing After Ship Abandoned

ROTTERDAM, Aug. 13 (AP)—Nine exhausted survivors of the Norwegian freighter Bess were rescued from the stormy North Sea tonight, 24 hours after the Bess was abandoned in a gale.

Radio messages received here said the bodies of two others, a man and a woman, were recovered. Twenty others of the 31 persons aboard the Bess still are missing.

Friendship Balloons Czechoslovakia-Bound

MUNICH, Germany, Aug. 13 (AP)—Two thousand balloons soared into the air toward Czechoslovakia tonight, carrying across the iron curtain messages of Western friendship for the Communist-ruled Czechs.

The balloons were sent up by the American Crusade for Freedom organization.

Bill Gives Reserves 30-Day Recall Notice

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—A House Armed Services subcommittee decided today to require by law that the services give military reservists plenty of advance notice before recall to duty.

The new reserve bill, now being written by the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Brooks (D-La), would require a minimum 30 days notice "unless military conditions as determined by the appropriate secretary do not permit."

Witnesses from the services and reserve associations conceded that the section would merely write out in law the present policy of the Defense Department.

"Hot Potato?" O'Conor's Handling Of Md. Crime Inquiry Under Fire

BALTIMORE, Aug. 13 (AP)—The only Baltimore Republican in the General Assembly contended today that Sen. O-Conor (D-Md) handled last week's Maryland crime investigation like a "hot potato."

Samuel Hopkins, Third District delegate who has been mentioned as a possible aspirant for the Republican nomination in the new Seventh Congressional District, said that among other things O'Conor failed to call witnesses about tieups between politics and crime.

The Senate committee headed by O'Conor completed testimony on Maryland crime last Thursday.

Speaking of O'Conor, Hopkins said in his statement:

"If I were running against him, I certainly would rake him over the coals. He has soft-pedaled everything to do with the relations between crime and politics.

"Of course, he was in a difficult position. As a former state's attorney, he might have had things come up which would ruin him completely.

"From some of the things, I've heard, I can understand that he might have thought twice before going in there with both fists flying. If you get people mad, they might start to tell on you."

Cadets, If Ousted, Must Register For Draft

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP) — Selective Service said today cadets dropped from the Military Academy at West Point must register for the draft within 30 days, if not already registered.

Those who entered the academy before they were 18 years old presumably are not registered. As cadets, they were in military service and not required to register.

Once the boys are out of West Point and registered, they will be subject to reclassification and, if placed in class 1-A, may be ordered for induction.

The spokesman estimated that, allowing time for appeal and for processing, this might take about 60 days.

"To Err Is Human" Haven In Catholic Colleges Offered 90 Accused Cadets

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman today offered 90 accused West Point cadets a haven in any of three Catholic men's colleges.

"To err is human, to forgive is divine," the Cardinal said in a statement.

He referred to the pending ouster of the 90 cadets, accused of academic cheating in the greatest scandal in West Point's 150 years.

The three colleges that are open to the cadets are Fordham University, Manhattan College and Iona College.

Of the three, only Fordham has any rank in collegiate football. Cardinal Spellman made no mention of athletics. But many of the accused cadets were members of Army's great grid team.

Fordham with about 10,000 students and Manhattan with 2,500 are in New York City. Iona is a small college in New Rochelle, N.Y., with about 1,300 students.

The Army at West Point said some of the involved cadets will leave the campus for home tomorrow. Each will have a final chance to talk things over with the academy superintendent, Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving.

Chevallier's Widow Charged With Murder

ORLEANS, France, Aug. 13 (AP)—Pretty Yvonne Chevallier was formally charged with murder today in the strange politics-conquers-love shooting of her young cabinet minister husband, Pierre.

Theoretically, dark-haired Mme. Chevallier, who is reported to be in her late 30s, faces the possibility of being guillotined. Actually French courts are apt to show great leniency in such a case.

Leniency is expected even if the investigation shows that her chief object of jealousy was not another woman but her husband's promising political career which was taking most of his time.

Firemen said they heard ammunition exploding in the burning wreckage long after the crash.

Tax Boost Plan Hits Low Income Groups Hardest

Senate Group Works On Version Of Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP)—A strong move was reported in the Senate Finance Committee today to knock out the individual income tax increase plan approved by the House, and shift the blow more to the lower income groups.

Committee members said they are studying a new proposal to raise personal income tax rates by three percentage points in all brackets. Some members predicted approval of this plan.

How Plan Would Work

It would work like this: In the lower income groups the present levy of 20 per cent on taxable income would be increased to 23 per cent. In much higher income groups, where, say, the present rate is 50 per cent, the rate would go up to 53 per cent.

The House-passed tax bill would increase actual payments—not the rates—by 12½ per cent all along the line.

Both plans would raise approximately the same amount—$2,850,000,000. The difference is in who pays the bill.

Under the new proposal the average couple with two children and a net income of $3,000 to $5,000 would pay 15 per cent more than at present, instead of the 12½ per cent increase in the House bill.

For the same family with $100,000 net income, the increase would be cut from 12½ per cent as provided in the House bill to 5½ per cent.

Works Behind Closed Doors

The Senate committee began working behind closed doors today to write its version of the new tax bill. Chairman George (D-Ga) said no definite decisions were reached, but said he hoped to have a bill ready for the Senate within two weeks.

The House measure would boost taxes a total of $7,200,000,000. In addition to personal income tax increases, it hikes corporate income levies and excise (sales) taxes on scores of products from automobiles to liquor.

Navy Helicopter Hits Power Line, Killing Two

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—A Navy helicopter hit a power line near here today and crashed in flames. Its two occupants were killed.

The tragedy came just a week after another helicopter from the same HU-1 squadron at Miramar Auxiliary Air Station crashed and burned, with the loss of two lives.

Nam Says U.N. Must Change Buffer Stand

Refuses To Offer Any Adjustments

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Aug. 14. (AP)—Allied and Communist armistice teams adjourned their 24th conference today after two hours and 40 minutes and agreed to meet again tomorrow.

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Aug. 14 (AP) — Allied delegates resumed Korean truce talks today under a Communist threat that they must change their attitude on a buffer zone or accept a prolonged deadlock.

The talks, now bogged down for 13 straight sessions on the issue of where to draw a demilitarized zone across Korea, resumed at 11 a. m. (9 p. m., EDT, Monday).

The Reds yesterday flatly turned down an Allied invitation to propose any adjustments in the United Nations demand for a buffer zone based on the present battle line. Most of this lies north of parallel 38.

Instead, the Reds insisted that the U. N. truce team discuss the Communist demand for a demarcation line along parallel 38. This is the old boundary between North and South Korea.

Pyongyang radio, 10 hours after yesterday's session, broadcast a statement by the chief Red delegate, North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, that the Allied delegation must change its attitude on the buffer zone issue or the conference will "not make any progress."

Talks Stalled Since July 27

The question of where to draw a buffer zone has deadlocked the talks since July 27. A total of 28 hours and 18 minutes has been consumed on the one subject, including one session where the negotiators sat for two hours and 11 minutes without saying anything.

Despite the failure to progress, the feeling persisted at U. N. advance headquarters that the Communists may still back down from their insistence on a buffer zone along the 38th parallel.

There was no indication that the U. N. delegation, headed by Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, would revise its stand for a defensible line along present battle positions. However, it was believed the Allies might consider a compromise if the Communists would meet them half way.

Short-tempered little Gen. Nam gave no hint Monday that the Reds would revise their stand. Frequently he used such words as "arrogant, absurd and self-contradictory" to describe the U. N. stand.

In effect he rejected in advance a conciliatory offer from Joy.

Joy Answers Nam's Questions

Joy opened the one-hour 20-minute Monday session by replying in detail to five questions submitted Sunday by Nam.

As soon as Joy finished, Nam picked up a previously prepared and translated paper which described Joy's answer as "not satisfactory," according to a U. N. communique.

Obviously, Nam had his rejection ready before he had heard what the senior U. N. delegate would say.

Joy had explained that the U. N. proposed buffer zone was given to the Reds to provide a "clear and concise" understanding of what the Allies wanted in a demilitarized zone.

Then Joy offered to compromise again and concluded by asking, "have you any adjustments to propose?"

Nam did not. Instead, he sought to blame the Allies for the deadlock.

O'Mahoney Calls For More Taxes, Cut In Spending

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Less government spending and more taxes are needed if the country is going to lick inflation, Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) of the Congressional Economic Committee declared today.

O'Mahoney called his Senate-House group together to consider a warning from its staff experts that rising prices, increased inflation and three years of federal deficits may be by-products of the nation's giant defense program.

He failed to get a quorum of the committee, so the report was not acted on today. But O'Mahoney reported there appeared to be general agreement among the senators and representatives present that "inflation is the most serious threat to the position that this country is taking in the world."

"The American economy is the principal bulwark of the free world," O'Mahoney said, recalling the prediction of some experts that Russia is banking heavily on an American economic collapse in its cold war plans.

"This committee out to issue a report on the importance of preventing inflation from taking hold in this country by seizing every opportunity to reduce expenditures and to balance the budget by increased taxation," he said.

A Senate-House conference committee agreed today on an economy formula which they said would require a 10 per cent cut in current federal payrolls.

HUDSWELL, England, Aug. 13 (AP)—Two Royal Air Force planes collided in flight today, killing eight men and seriously injuring another.

Macfadden Plans 'Chute Jump After His 83rd Birthday

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Bernarr Macfadden, 82-year-old physical culturalist, plans to make a parachute jump over Niagara Falls "within the next 10 days," a spokesman for the octogenarian said today.

The spokesman added that Macfadden plans to end his leap into the water below the falls.

"He (Macfadden) wants to know what it's like to go into the water," the spokesman said.

Macfadden had planned to make the parachute leap over the falls Aug. 18, two days after his 83rd birthday. But that depends on the weather, the spokesman said, "which should be right within the next 10 days."

India, Pakistan Pullback Asked

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 13 (AP)—United Nations Mediator Frank Graham was reported today to have suggested that India and Pakistan compromise by pulling some of their advance troops back in the dispute over Kashmir.

The reports circulated after Graham talked alone with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru for 50 minutes.

While there is no confirmation, it is believed here that Graham made similar suggestions to Pakistani Premier Liaquat Ali Khan in an effort to ease the threat of war. Graham came here from Karachi.

A spokesman for Graham's mission would not answer questions about possible progress.

(Authoritative sources in Paris said the Big Three powers—the United States, Britain and France—may send a note to India and Pakistan urging they take it easy.)

'Ike's' Aide Says Help Of Germany 'Must' In Defense

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower's chief of staff has told congressmen behind closed doors that the help of Western Germany is "very close to being a must" in any successful defense of Western Europe.

Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther indicated before the House Foreign Affairs Committee recently that Eisenhower's North Atlantic defense planning is going forward on the assumption Western Germany will be brought into the European defense effort. His testimony was made public today.

Gruenther also said:

(1) He does not believe Russia can start another "Korean war" in Europe by using only satellite states.

(2) The Balkan satellites aren't strong enough to go to war except as units of a Russian army.

(3) An attack by Russia and her satellites on Yugoslavia might well start World War Three.

On Germany, Gruenther was asked this question by Rep. Merrow (R-NH):

"Do you think it would be possible to realize the objective that you have now set forth that Europe will be in a position to defend itself, without the integration of Western Germany economically and militarily into these plans?

Gruenther: "It is conceivably possible, but with the greatest of difficulty. I would say the participation of Germany comes very close to being a 'must.' x x x Naturally in our thinking we are going on the hypothesis that the inclusion of Germany obviously is a 'must.' We think it is very essential.

9 Saved, 20 Missing After Ship Abandoned

ROTTERDAM, Aug. 13 (AP)—Nine exhausted survivors of the Norwegian freighter Bess were rescued from the stormy North Sea tonight, 24 hours after the Bess was abandoned in a gale.

Radio messages received here said the bodies of two others, a man and a woman, were recovered. Twenty others of the 31 persons aboard the Bess still are missing.

Friendship Balloons Czechoslovakia-Bound

MUNICH, Germany, Aug. 13 (AP)—Two thousand balloons soared into the air toward Czechoslovakia tonight, carrying across the iron curtain messages of Western friendship for the Communist-ruled Czechs.

The balloons were sent up by the American Crusade for Freedom organization.

Bill Gives Reserves 30-Day Recall Notice

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—A House Armed Services subcommittee decided today to require by law that the services give military reservists plenty of advance notice before recall to duty.

The new reserve bill, now being written by the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Brooks (D-La), would require a minimum 30 days notice "unless military conditions as determined by the appropriate secretary do not permit."

Witnesses from the services and reserve associations conceded that the section would merely write out in law the present policy of the Defense Department.

Cadets, If Ousted, Must Register For Draft

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP) — Selective Service said today cadets dropped from the Military Academy at West Point must register for the draft within 30 days, if not already registered.

Those who entered the academy before they were 18 years old presumably are not registered. As cadets, they were in military service and not required to register.

Once the boys are out of West Point and registered, they will be subject to reclassification and, if placed in class 1-A, may be ordered for induction.

"Hot Potato?"

O'Conor's Handling Of Md. Crime Inquiry Under Fire

BALTIMORE, Aug. 13 (AP)—The only Baltimore Republican in the General Assembly contended today that Sen. O-Conor (D-Md) handled last week's Maryland crime investigation like a "hot potato."

Samuel Hopkins, Third District delegate who has been mentioned as a possible aspirant for the Republican nomination in the new Seventh Congressional District, said that among other things O'Conor failed to call witnesses about tieups between politics and crime.

The Senate committee headed by O'Conor completed testimony on Maryland crime last Thursday.

Speaking of O'Conor, Hopkins said in his statement:

"If I were running against him, I certainly would rake him over the coals. He has soft-pedaled everything to do with the relations between crime and politics.

"Of course, he was in a difficult position. As a former state's attorney, he might have had things come up which would ruin him completely.

"From some of the things, I've heard, I can understand that he might have thought twice before going in there with both fists flying. If you get people mad, they might start to tell on you."

"To Err Is Human"

Haven In Catholic Colleges Offered 90 Accused Cadets

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman today offered 90 accused West Point cadets a haven in any of three Catholic men's colleges.

"To err is human, to forgive is divine," the Cardinal said in a statement.

He referred to the pending ouster of the 90 cadets, accused of academic cheating in the greatest scandal in West Point's 150 years.

The three colleges that are open to the cadets are Fordham University, Manhattan College and Iona College.

Of the three, only Fordham has any rank in collegiate football. Cardinal Spellman made no mention of athletics. But many of the accused cadets were members of Army's great grid team.

Fordham with about 10,000 students and Manhattan with 2,500 are in New York City. Iona is a small college in New Rochelle, N.Y., with about 1,300 students.

The Army at West Point said some of the involved cadets will leave the campus for home tomorrow. Each will have a final chance to talk things over with the academy superintendent, Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving.

Chevallier's Widow Charged With Murder

ORLEANS, France, Aug. 13 (AP)—Pretty Yvonne Chevallier was formally charged with murder today in the strange politics-conquers-love shooting of her young cabinet minister husband, Pierre.

Theoretically, dark-haired Mme. Chevallier, who is reported to be in her late 30s, faces the possibility of being guillotined. Actually French courts are apt to show great leniency in such a case.

Leniency is expected even if the investigation shows that her chief object of jealousy was not another woman but her husband's promising political career which was taking most of his time.

Heat Returns To Texas

DALLAS, Aug. 13 (AP)—The heat came back to Texas today. Telephone workers at Dallas quit their jobs, demanding air conditioning.

Congress Hopes To Quit On Oct. 1

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP) — Democratic leaders began talking today about Congress going home in October. But it may be wishful thinking in the August heat.

There's still a mountain of work to be moved if Congress even makes a dent in the huge pile of bills introduced since Jan. 1.

To date, a total of 7,130 measures have been offered—5,130 in the House and 2,000 in the Senate. Only 115 of them have become law—that is passed by both houses and approved by the President.

Senate Democratic Leader McFarland (Ariz) told reporters after a White House conference with President Truman and top party leaders that he hopes to close shop on Oct. 1.

That would indicate the great bulk of the bills now pending will be left for the second session of the 82nd Congress next year—the big political year.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) wasn't as optimistic as McFarland. He said he had "no idea" when Congress would be able to quit work. He added he hopes the House will be in a position late next week to start a ten-day recess.

British Oil Plan Handed To Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 13 (AP) — Britain offered a guarantee tonight against any interference in Iranian affairs as part of her proposed agreement on the bitter oil nationalization dispute.

British Lord Privy Seal Richard Stokes handed a plan for joint operation of the rich South Iranian oil fields and huge Abadan refinery to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's negotiations but kept details secret.

The Briton told reporters, however, Britain had renewed her offer to turn over all assets of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company to the Mossadegh government and to abolish AICO "as such" in this country.

No immediate reaction came from the Iranians after the hour and a half meeting.

Iranian charges that the British government and AIOC have been a corrupting influence in the politics and economic life of the country have been a main root and cause of the extremist oil nationalization drive that flowered under Mossadegh.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13 (AP) — Prince Igor Troubetzkoy today ordered his attorney to drop his fight against Barbara Hutton's Mexican divorce in the hope he might effect a reconciliation with the dime store heiress.

The Lithuanian prince telephoned the instructions from Paris, said Attorney Melvin Belli of San Francisco.

Comfort-Loving TV Fan Uses Mirrors

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 13 (AP) —George W. Kister has figured out how to watch his living room television set while he's upstairs in bed.

He does it with mirrors—four of them.

The first one—about the davenport—reflects the program to a larger mirror above the fireplace. From there it goes to a mirror at the top of the stairs and then on to the fourth mirror in Kister's bedroom.

"It works swell," says Kister.

TOWSON, Md., Aug. 13 (AP)—Two Baltimore County judges sentenced Norman Richard Strait of Prince George's County to life imprisonment today after they convicted him of attempting to rape a 72-year-old Hyattsville spinster.

The little old woman, as the state's principal witness, testified that Strait raped her after offering her a ride in his automobile last February 1.

Strait, a Prince George's County employe, testified that he never saw the woman until after she picked him out of a police lineup three days later.

Indian Monkey Situation Tough

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The monkey situation in India is really tough, the House Foreign Affairs Committee disclosed today, what with each of the critters destroying about a dime's worth of grain every day.

The committee delved deeply into the monkey situation during hearings on the foreign aid bill. It wanted to know, among other things, why India, which recently got a grant of grain from the United States, doesn't curb the grain-destroying proclivities of its countless sacred monkeys.

Horace Holmes, an expert for the State and Agriculture Departments, supplied some of the answers.

Nobody knows how many monkeys there are in India, Holmes said, but "there are far too many," and they can ruin a grain field in nothing flat. What they don't eat, they destroy just for plain deviltment—the destruction rate being ten cents per day per monkey according to best estimates.

Red Festival Disenchants American; Calls It "Fake"

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—An American student who came here for the Communist world youth peace festival "to see whether it had anything constructive to offer for the cause of world peace" declared today that he was thoroughly disenchanted.

"The whole thing is a fake," he said. "And I think it has done more to divide East and West further than anything else."

The student, in his mid-twenties, refused to tell interviewers his name because he feared publicity might prejudice his chances of getting a teaching job in the United States when he finishes study for his doctorate at the University of Padua in Italy.

"Call me Vincent," he said, in an accent which sounded like a New Yorker's.

He said there were only about 40 Americans at the East Berlin festival, most of them recent arrivals. This contrasted sharply with Communist advance advertising that 500 Americans would show up.

"And," he added, "the other Americans came independently, as I did, and not as a delegation. They are mostly students living abroad or in Europe as tourists."

"Vincent" said he was not a member of the Communist Party but had been sympathetic with a lot of its aims.

However, he said, living two years in Europe, where he could see Communism in practice, had disabused him of most of these ideas.

"I observed for instance," he said, "that the Communist-inspired strikes in Italy actually lowered the standard of living of the workers instead of raising it. I have found that Communism has a lot of flaws."

Sister Kenny Incurably Ill

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 13. (AP) —Sister Elizabeth Kenny, a controversial figure for 40 years in the fight against polio, told reporters today she has an incurable disease and "I do not know how long I will live.

"There is no need for me to be sorry," she told a reporter for the Sydney Morning Herald in an interview in her hotel lounge. "I have done my work. My discovery has been recognized."

A Sydney Sun reporter said Miss Kenny, 65, looked ill but did not name the disease.

She plans to fly to the United States Thursday on the way to an international poliomyelitis conference in Copenhagen, Denmark. A nurse will go along.

VEVAY, Ind., Aug. 13 (AP)—The body of Samuel Woodfill, one of the outstanding heroes of World War I, was found today in his apartment here.

The body was found by Sheriff Ora Scudder, who said Woodfill apparently died several days ago. The cause of death was not immediately determined but the sheriff said it probably was natural.

Woodfill won the Medal of Honor for leading an attack near Cunel, France, Oct. 12, 1918.

Fears For Oatis' Life Expressed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Rep. Armstrong (R-Mo) told the House today he fears William N. Oatis will be killed within "a matter of weeks" unless released from a Czechoslovak prison.

Oatis, Associated Press correspondent at Prague, was sentenced to ten years on charges of espionage which the State Department denounced as a farce.

Armstrong said he received a cablegram from Ray Brock, free lance journalist now in Turkey, saying Oatis "is getting the full treatment and every brute cunning method of inquisition known to the dread Russian MVD—secret police —is being used to bring Mr. Oatis to the point of death."

Armstrong quoted the cablegram further:

"He (Oatis) is being subjected to solitary confinement in a small cell. There are endless questionings under blinding flood-lights, periodic beatings, the use of drugs, starvation and unspeakable indignities."

In the Senate, Sen. McCarthy read an identical message from Brock. McCarthy made no comment except to say he thought the Senate should hear it.

Comfort-Loving TV Fan Uses Mirrors

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 13 (AP) —George W. Kister has figured out how to watch his living room television set while he's upstairs in bed.

He does it with mirrors—four of them.

The first one—about the davenport—reflects the program to a larger mirror above the fireplace. From there it goes to a mirror at the top of the stairs and then on to the fourth mirror in Kister's bedroom.

"It works swell," says Kister.

TOWSON, Md., Aug. 13 (AP)—Two Baltimore County judges sentenced Norman Richard Strait of Prince George's County to life imprisonment today after they convicted him of attempting to rape a 72-year-old Hyattsville spinster.

The little old woman, as the state's principal witness, testified that Strait raped her after offering her a ride in his automobile last February 1.

Indian Monkey Situation Tough

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The monkey situation in India is really tough, the House Foreign Affairs Committee disclosed today, what with each of the critters destroying about a dime's worth of grain every day.

The committee delved deeply into the monkey situation during hearings on the foreign aid bill. It wanted to know, among other things, why India, which recently got a grant of grain from the United States, doesn't curb the grain-destroying proclivities of its countless sacred monkeys.

Horace Holmes, an expert for the State and Agriculture Departments, supplied some of the answers.

Nobody knows how many monkeys there are in India, Holmes said, but "there are far too many," and they can ruin a grain field in nothing flat. What they don't eat, they destroy just for plain deviltment—the destruction rate being ten cents per day per monkey according to best estimates.

BOLZANO, Italy, Aug. 13 (AP)—A crowded bus plunged into a lake near this Northeastern Italian city late today, and 34 persons on a holiday excursion were reported drowned.

Red Festival Disenchants American; Calls It "Fake"

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—An American student who came here for the Communist world youth peace festival "to see whether it had anything constructive to offer for the cause of world peace" declared today that he was thoroughly disenchanted.

"The whole thing is a fake," he said. "And I think it has done more to divide East and West further than anything else."

The student, in his mid-twenties, refused to tell interviewers his name because he feared publicity might prejudice his chances of getting a teaching job in the United States when he finishes study for his doctorate at the University of Padua in Italy.

"Call me Vincent," he said, in an accent which sounded like a New Yorker's.

He said there were only about 40 Americans at the East Berlin festival, most of them recent arrivals. This contrasted sharply with Communist advance advertising that 500 Americans would show up.

"And," he added, "the other Americans came independently, as I did, and not as a delegation. They are mostly students living abroad or in Europe as tourists."

"Vincent" said he was not a member of the Communist Party but had been sympathetic with a lot of its aims.

However, he said, living two years in Europe, where he could see Communism in practice, had disabused determined but the sheriff said it probably was natural.

Sister Kenny Incurably Ill

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 13. (AP) —Sister Elizabeth Kenny, a controversial figure for 40 years in the fight against polio, told reporters today she has an incurable disease and "I do not know how long I will live.

"There is no need for me to be sorry," she told a reporter for the Sydney Morning Herald in an interview in her hotel lounge. "I have done my work. My discovery has been recognized."

A Sydney Sun reporter said Miss Kenny, 65, looked ill but did not name the disease.

She plans to fly to the United States Thursday on the way to an international poliomyelitis conference in Copenhagen, Denmark. A nurse will go along.

Fears For Oatis' Life Expressed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Rep. Armstrong (R-Mo) told the House today he fears William N. Oatis will be killed within "a matter of weeks" unless released from a Czechoslovak prison.

Oatis, Associated Press correspondent at Prague, was sentenced to ten years on charges of espionage which the State Department denounced as a farce.

Armstrong said he received a cablegram from Ray Brock, free lance journalist now in Turkey, saying Oatis "is getting the full treatment and every brute cunning method of inquisition known to the dread Russian MVD—secret police —is being used to bring Mr. Oatis to the point of death."

Armstrong quoted the cablegram further:

"He (Oatis) is being subjected to solitary confinement in a small cell. There are endless questionings under blinding flood-lights, periodic beatings, the use of drugs, starvation and unspeakable indignities."

In the Senate, Sen. McCarthy read an identical message from Brock. McCarthy made no comment except to say he thought the Senate should hear it.

Agricultural Program Set

The first step in taking the "agricultural pulse" of Maryland's three western counties was initiated at a meeting yesterday in the local office of the Production Marketing Administration.

Allegany, Washington and Garrett counties were represented at the session, presided over by Dudley C. Aist, administrative assistant of the Maryland PMA.

A program was set up at the meeting for future sessions to be held throughout the counties regarding policies of the Department of Agriculture. Dates and places of these meetings will be announced later.

The county get-togethers will be open to the public, and are designed to give the people what they want in agriculture policy. Charged with setting up the program in Allegany county is Albert O'Neal, chairman of the Allegany County Mobilization Committee.

Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, said anyone will be free to criticize the current policies of the Department of Agriculture at the meetings. At the same time, he added, suggestions will be welcome.

Two Area Men Enlist In U. S. Air Force

They are Charles W. Stafford, RFD 2, Williams Road, and William E. Ellifritz, 35 Potomac Street, Ridgeley.

Commissioner Long Defends Police, Fire Promotions

Following a discussion of the method used in promoting members of the Cumberland Fire Department, on order by Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long naming Walter W. Hartman as lieutenant was passed by the Mayor and City Council yesterday.

When the order drawn by Long was read, Mayor Thomas S. Post commented that "There is too much favoritism and politics in promotions".

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick said he was in accord with Mayor Post's statement. Tederick said he believed some method more equitable should be used.

Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said that the promotion procedure of men in both the Police and Fire Departments followed in the past probably will be the pattern for the future, and that he expects no change until a system he suggested some time ago is adopted.

Under this system employes of the city would qualify for a certain minimum salary upon being hired. Then during a three-year period they would be classified as to their ability and if satisfactory they would achieve the maximum salary at the end of the period.

This would be an incentive for all employes to make themselves better qualified in their work and would benefit both the worker and the city taxpayer, Buchholtz said.

Long said he has used the most fair method he could devise in deciding upon men to be promoted. One-third of the consideration is based on seniority of the man in question, one-third for his standing in Civil Service Commission tests, and one-third on the recommendation of the chief of the department.

Long said each chief has to have men to work with he regards as efficient and most cooperative.

"I don't know any better way in which to do it," Long said.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, said she thought that the men being considered for promotion should be from the top of the Civil Service lists, and that consideration should not start at the bottom of the list and work upwards to somewhere in the middle.

Long replied that Hartman was at the top in seniority, among the top men on the Civil Service list and had the recommendation of the fire chief. He also commented that Mrs. Roeder has made appointments in personnel of the City Recreation Department with the statements that it was upon the recommendation of Mr. Hoey (Edwin F. Hoey, recreation director).

Long added, "If you can give me any fairer way to decide such appointments I will be happy to listen."

At the end of the discussion the matter was put to a vote and unanimously passed.

Christie Road Man Gets Prison Sentence

A 20-year-old Christie Road man pleaded guilty yesterday in Circuit Court to violating his parole and Associate Judge George Henderson imposed the original sentence.

He is Raymond G. Everitt, who had been tried and pleaded guilty to a forgery charge when arraigned July 28, 1950. At the time, he was sentenced to a period not to exceed two years in the Maryland State Reformatory. However, the sentence was suspended and a two-year parole granted.

In January of this year, Everitt was charged in Federal Court in Baltimore with pilfering a money order from a mail box here.

Everitt served almost six months in the Federal Reformatory in Petersburg, Va., and then was brought to the Allegany county jail to face the parole violation.

Not On The Must List

If Congress wants a September adjournment, it can get away from Washington before October 1 by completing action on (1) the 1951 tax bill, already passed by the House, (2) the foreign aid authorization bill, not yet considered in either house, (3) all of the regular appropriation bills. Senate Majority Leader McFarland has told his colleagues that if this "must program" is completed, he has assurance from the President that Congress will not be called back into session before its regularly scheduled meeting in January.

It caused no surprise that the must list omitted the President's proposals for further revision of the price control law, and particularly for reinstatement of the livestock quota system—which McFarland himself had voted to abolish. Nor was there any astonishment that civil rights measures were given no place on the program. The President is expected to hold his fire on these and other Fair Deal objectives until the 1952 election is nearer at hand.

What did cause surprise was the failure to schedule as a "must" the additional legislation needed to institute universal military training. The framework for UMT was provided by the draft extension bill signed by the President on last June 19. That measure says the system is to come into effect whenever the President or Congress finds that manpower needs of the armed forces can be met without further drafting under the Selective Service system.

But there is one essential condition: Congress must first have approved general legislation to safeguard the health, welfare, safety, etc. of the trainees. Recommendations for such legislation are now being framed by the National Security Training Commission, whose members were confirmed by the Senate last June 29. The commission is under instruction to report to Congress within four months—that is, before the end of October. And the Armed Services committees are under instruction to report bills on the basis of the Commission's recommendations within 45 days thereafter.

These elaborate arrangements, which were designed to insure final action before the end of 1951, now appear likely to fail of their purpose. UMT seemed close to achievement at the height of the Korean campaign last spring, but may now be as far away as before the Reds invaded South Korea.

The Mikado Now

The Treaty of Versailles, ending World War I, provided in Article 227 for the trial of Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany "for a supreme offense against international morality and the sanctity of treaties." The peace treaty with Japan, scheduled to be signed at San Francisco on September 4, contains no similar article with respect to the Japanese emperor. Hirohito sits as securely on his throne as he did on the day of the Japanese surrender, August 14, 1945, though he is now a constitutional monarch and no longer the "god-emperor" of his people.

The Tokyo government seemed more concerned for the fate of the emperor in the closing days of World War II than with the fate of the empire. It offered surrender on August 11, 1945, on the basis of the Potsdam declaration, but "with the understanding that the said declaration does not comprise any demand which prejudices the prerogatives of his majesty as a sovereign ruler." The Allies replied that, from the moment of the surrender and until a peace treaty was signed, the emperor's authority would be subject to the supreme allied commander (MacArthur); the emperor would issue such orders as would be required by the supreme commander to give effect to the surrender terms.

Nationalist China and Australia had wanted to "hang Hirohito." Russia and Britain left it to the United States. Washington saw a supreme advantage in using the emperor's authority with the Japanese people and the imperial armed forces to ease the difficulties of the surrender and the subsequent occupation of Japan. Experience has confirmed the wisdom of that policy as opposed to the World War I policy of "Hang the Kaiser."

Incidentally, the former ruler of Germany died peacefully at his estate at Droon, Holland, on June 4, 1941. He had fled across the border shortly before the German surrender. The project to put him on trial quickly came a cropper when the Dutch government rejected a demand of the Allies that it deliver Wilhelm into their hands.

Flowers On Hiroshima

Over Hiroshima a lone B-26 bomber dropped two wreaths and baskets of loose flowers. It opened its bomb bay doors at the spot where, six years before, the first atomic bomb had fallen on the unsuspecting Japanese city and had almost wiped it out in one tremendous searing blast. This flight recalled that earlier one. The falling flowers were meant for the victims and the wreaths wre intended to express a hope for peace.

No one could say that there was anything out of place in this ceremonial act carried out by an American crew in an American plane. The people of Hiroshima had planned a day-long observance of this anniversary, and surely they are entitled to remember the unforgettable tragedy that struck them on August 5, 1945.

There must have been many in Hiroshima who could hardly bear to watch the B-26 circle above them, though they were aware it carried nothing to do harm. They know from horrible experience that only one plane, if it is charged with delivering an atomic bomb, can snuff out thousands of lives in an instant, cripple thosuands of bodies, turn a whole city into a blazing ruin.

Rise In UC Reserves

Rising employment in the last fiscal year had a marked effect on the unemployment compensation reserves of the states through increasng income and reducing payments. Figures for the year ended June 30, released by the U. S. Department of Labor, show that income, including interest on government borrowing from the reserves, exceeded outgo by $641,000,000. This excess brings the total of state funds deposited with the United States Treasury, to $7,329,000,000.

This is a sharp reversal from the previous fiscal year when the states paid out $670,000,000 more than they took in. According to the Federal Social Security Administration's records, the favorable turn occurred in July, 1950, the first month of the last fiscal year, when withdrawals from the Treasury by the states for benefits dropped sharply. They continued to drop in succeeding months, with the exceptions of December and January.

Nutrition Is A Lively Topic

Many factors govern the amount and type of food eaten by the peoples of the world. Cost, availability, storage, and refrigeration must be considered as well as fertility of the soil, the number of inhabitants, the climate, religion, and dietary habits. This explains why the problem is different in the United States from what it is in Asia, Africa and Europe.

Some races lack protein and other protective foods because there are few animals or they have an aversion to or religious scruples against consuming meat, chicken and eggs. In these areas infant mortality is high. In other sections of the world there is enough food to supply the desired number of calories, but the quality is not good. If thiamin is inadequate, for example, the natives are forced to contend with beriberi. In Europe, space and soil are important and the farmers may be unable to produce enough for their population.

Since what we eat influences health it is only natural that considerable research has been done in the field of nutrition. This is not new as early man, thru trial and error, finally determined what was poisonous in field and forest. Then came a period when it was found that nutriment could be made more edible by cooking, curing, and other treatment. By adding condiments, it became more palatable; and by cooking or processing separate items, many new types of food became available.

As centuries passed they began to recognize that food provided energy in the form of calories. With this information it was possible to classify edibles as to their caloric value. Shortly thereafter, scientists learned that various other elements were equally if not more important than calories. These are the carbohydrates, fats, proteins, minerals and vitamins. The latter discovery created a stir and we are still in the midst of a popular vitamin fad. These substances were sold originally in drug stores but now grocery stores carry them also and they are even given to factory workers on the job and school children with their lunch.

Vitamins also made us aware of the diseases that developed in individuals who ate meals deficient in these products. Ten years ago many were afflicted with beriberi, scurvy, rickets, or pellagra. These maladies have become as rare as hen's teeth even in places where they flourished in the past. In 1939, 34 cases of pellagra were admitted to the Cincinnati general hospital; from 1946 to 1948, only one victim came to their attention. A Chicago scientist, looking for a pellagra case for study, went among the alcoholics in skid row but was unable to find a single sufferer, indicating that even those who prefer drinking to eating are doing fairly well so far as vitamins are concerned.

But many problems must be solved before the science of nutrition is established on a firm footing. The diets of numerous families are said not to be as good as the average food supply affords. In certain homes too much attention is still being paid to quantity rather than quality. In other words, the money available is not being used to the best advantage. These individuals need better information on food values, information that is scientific and not created by high powered sales organizations. The relationship between soil and food obtained therefrom also is being investigated as it never has been done before. It, too, is being subjected to scientific scrutiny and from now on we can expect more enlightenment along this line.

NEPHRITIS

Mrs. E. writes: My 11 year old daughter developed a type of kidney trouble in which her whole body swelled up, her blood pressure went to 160, and albumin appeared in her urine. She is much better now, after eight weeks' treatment. When will she be out of the woods completely?

REPLY

This question must be answered by your physician. The outcome in all kidney cases depends upon various factors, several of which you fail to mention, such as the blood chemistry, eye ground studies, and additional urinary findings.

HEART AND PRESSURE

A. L. writes: Can the blood pressure be normal when the heart is diseased?

REPLY

It is possible to have "leakage" of the heart valves, angina pectoris, or coronary thrombosis with no abnormalities of the blood pressure. However, hypertension usually is associated with enlargement of the pumping apparatus and, in some instances, with arteriosclerosis of the coronary arteries.

WARM WATER

B. Z. writes: Will taking a glass o hot water every morning before breakfast harm the kidneys or bladder?

REPLY

Only Propaganda Can Win The Cold War; Stalin Fears Influence Of Outside World; Friendship Balloons Are Start In The Right Direction

(NOTE—Drew Pearson is on another tour of Europe, studying conditions there in this period of world tension and crisis. Following is another of his dispatches from Central Europe.)

NEAR THE IRON CURTAIN, IN CENTRAL EUROPE — The most important answer to the alarming question put before Congress recently by Secretaries Marshall and Pace—"Will there be war with Russia soon?"—lies in the long stretch of barbed wire extending from the Black Sea to the Baltic which Winston Churchill named the iron curtain.

Most Americans, including the U. S. Government, have neglected the importance of this barrier between East and West.

We have failed to realize that there will always exist the danger of war with Russia as long as this curtain exists; as long as the Moscow radio can tell the Russian people anything they want about us and the Russian people have no way of knowing the opposite; and as long as there is no free parliament, no free church, no free press, no free public opinion to prevent the Kremlin from declaring war.

We have also failed to realize that even if we fight a war with Russia and win, actually our victory will be temporary unless we can convert the Russian people to friendship with the U.S.A. Until we have done that, we shall have to fight wars all over again.

Finally we have failed to realize that Russia has never been conquered by force of arms. Napoleon tried it and got bogged down on the road to Moscow. Hitler also tried it and got swamped in front of Stalingrad.

But the Kaiser, having been stopped in Latvia, picked up Lenin in Switzerland, put him on a special train with drawn blinds, and sent him to Russia. It was after this that Russia, under a new Bolshevist regime, finally surrendered.

In other words, it was propaganda and politics which really defeated the Czar.

Weather Balloons

That is one reason why I have been hammering home the idea that we should use any and all kinds of propaganda, including weather balloons, to penetrate the iron curtain and get the truth to the people of Russia and the satellites.

No matter what else is happening inside Russia, one thing is certain. Stalin has imposed the iron curtain for the specific reason that he fears contact between the Russian people and the outside world.

He knows, and a small segment of the Russian people also know, how American and Soviet troops drank vodka together, toasted their mutual friendship together on the shores of the River Elbe at the end of the war.

He also knows how soldiers of the Red Army who have visited Vienna, Warsaw, Prague or even shell-pocked Berlin, have returned to tell their friends about the culture and economic progress of the free world living beyond the Soviet border. Some of these soldiers have shown such enthusiasm over the West and such skepticism over communism that it has been necessary to isolate them, following their discharge, from their native villages.

Stalin also knows that when the Nazis advanced into Russia in 1940 the astounding total of 3,600,000 Russians surrendered to the Germans.

We in the West did not know about this wholesale surrender until after we had seized German documents and interviewed German officers after V-E Day. But Stalin knew. And he knew that the German army never would have penetrated Russia as it did if many of the Russian people had not actually welcomed it, and if whole segments of the Red army had not been eager to surrender.

The Kaiser's army in 1915-17 advanced only to Riga. It never actually reached the soil of Russia proper. Hitler's army in 1940 marched two-thirds of the way across Russia, right down to the Caucasus. In other words, the Czar, with all his tyranny, commanded more loyalty than Stalin.

These are some of the reasons for the iron curtain. These also are some of the reasons why we must make the iron curtain a lace curtain if we are to prevent war; if we are to win permanent peace over a period of years.

Counter Propaganda

Propaganda balloons floated across the iron curtain have their drawbacks. If they disrupt satellite and Russian public opinion enough, the Kremlin is bound to start the rumor that they are carrying bacteriological warfare—germs aimed to ruin the crops of the Communist people.

The Kremlin may also plant a bomb with an alleged propaganda balloon, arrange to kill someone and then claim that Westerners are trying to murder the Russian people.

Some counter-propaganda like this is almost certain to happen. But when two nations suffer such strained relations as the U.S.A. and U.S.S.R. you can't make those relations any worse, and sometimes revolutionary methods and radical surgery improve them. Certainly it will be true that the louder the Kremlin squawks and tried to twist the meaning of friendship messages to the Russian people, the more it is certain that such propaganda is hurting.

Freedom-friendship balloons floated across the iron curtain are not, of course, going to change the people of Russia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary overnight. But they can help. And added to the Voice of America and other propaganda, some of which cannot be written about, they can hit the Kremlin in the Achilles' heel which Stalin is worried most about—the fear that the people behind the iron curtain may get to know that we are a friendly, peaceful people who will fight if necessary, but who, contrary to the Russian radio, do not want war.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There is no keener judge of political factionalism that President Truman — and what he did the other day in boosting General Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination was about as effective a piece of maneuvering as anyone has done in reaching right into the opposition party to call attention to its weaknesses.

For what is rapidly taking shape is a split in the Republican party as fundamental as that which caused the break in 1912, when the Democrats rode to victory as a consequence of the schism.

This time, the Democrats may benefit not by the formation of a third political party but by the acquisition of millions of Republican voters who will not stand for a nationalist candidate as contrasted with an internationalist.

Nationalist Or Internationalist

General Eisenhower is an internationalist. Not only does his job today imply this, but his whole background and experience is plainly on that side.

In brief, if the Republicans want to go to the country with an international-minded candidate—as they did with Dewey and Willkie—they can do so in 1952 by nominating General Eisenhower.

If, on the other hand, the Republicans want a nationalist candidate, they will nominate Senator Taft of Ohio.

This is not to say that a nationalist candidate will or will not win in 1952. The situation will be far different from 1920 when the Republicans straddled and won and subsequently took what was at that time called the "isolationist" side—refusing to join the League of Nations. Senator Taft favors a closer union with Great Britain and France. He voted for the Marshall Plan and troops to Europe and is by no means an isolationist, as his opponents like to describe him.

But when campaign time comes, Senator Taft's record will be matched against the Democratic nominee, whether that's Mr. Truman or Chief Justice Vinson or anyone else. The Democrats will stand four-square on the international program of the Administration, whereas Senator Taft would inevitably campaign as a critic of that record and all its future implications.

If General Eisenhower were to be nominated on the Republican ticket, it would mean that the Republican party, in convention assembled, had agreed to accept the viewpoint of the Dewey-Stassen wing of the party and that foreign policy would be much less of an issue than if Senator Taft were the nominee.

The regular organization in the Republican party today leans toward Senator Taft. Will that be the situation next summer when the Republican convention meets?

A cleavage inside the Republican party is shaping up which will rock the party from one end of the country to the other. President Truman may or may not be mischievously inclined as he adds fuel to the flames by speaking in such a friendly way about General Eisenhower and the Republican nomination. He may feel that if the General runs and is elected, at least the foreign policy will not change materially and history will say the present Administration's program has been vindicated.

Practical People

Politicians are practical people. They usually name a candiate they think can win. At the moment the anti-Taft folks are saying the Ohio Senator cannot win because he has not been an internationalist. His supporters insist he would win for that very reason, because the country, as a consequence of the Korean war, has drifted away from its enthusiasm of recent years for the international position.

The dispute on this point will have to be settled by the voters. The Republicans can carry a number of Mid-Western states on the anti-international issue. Can they carry any of the Eastern or Far-Western states on that basis? Can they make any inroads in the South?

Many Republicans insist that there was no chance in 1944 or 1948 to choose between nationalism and internationalism. They would welcome such a clear-cut choice next time. So would Mr. Truman. For he is confident that on that issue alone any Democratic nominee can be elected. That's why he sees trouble for the Republicans unless they nominate Eisenhower, and permanent wounds developing for them anyhow in the pre-convention months as the Republican party engages in a bitter struggle for control between its international and national factions.

Matter Of Fact

Is Our Strategy Right?

WASHINGTON

Some of the most brilliant men in the Defense Department are taking a hard new look at American strategic planning. They are beginning to ask themselves whether our basic strategic concept—the way we intend to fight a war if war comes—should not be recast, root and branch.

A nation's war strategy must be based on its actual military situation. Since the Korean war began, our real military situation has been rapidly changing. Consider first our situation in terms of conventional military strength. On July 1, 1950, we had nine under-strength divisions; a mothball Navy; and a 42-group Air Force masquerading as 48 groups. We had an alliance with Western Europe which was a fake alliance, since Western Europe could not be defended. By July 1, 1952, we shall have the capacity to put about 50 extra-size full-strength divisions into the field in the first year of a war—about twice as many as could be shipped overseas in one year. We shall have a navy which should be capable of dominating the seas absolutely, a strong Naval air arm and a powerful Marine Corps. We shall have a 95-group Air Force, and whatever the precise outcome of the present air power dispute, the Air Force will then certainly be scheduled to grow rapidly larger.

All this gives no grounds for complacency. The balance of power in conventional arms is still certainly with the Soviets. Europe is still, as of today, almost certainly indefensible. Yet the planners, rightly or wrongly, look forward to a time when the balance in conventional military power will be at least partially restored, and when Western Europe will have a really serious defense.

Great Atomic Potential

Now consider the second category of power—atomic power. Here very much greater strides than is generally realized have been made. On this point it is well to tread lightly. But it can be said that the American atomic potential, by July 1, 1952, will be so great that atomic bombs can be regarded as more expendable than the planes which carry them. Nor is this all. For the first time, because of significant reductions in size and weight, atomic bombs can be carried in light planes, or delivered by guided missiles.

This means, for example, that the Navy can now for the first time deliver bombs even from the lighter carriers, and that Air Force delivery is no longer confined to the strategic bombers. This in turn means a greatly increased atomic potential, because deliverability is just as important a factor in atomic power as the size of the stockpile.

In brief, our real military situation is certainly changing. And the best men in the Pentagon are beginning to think that at least at some time in the future, when the balance in conventional military power begins to be restored, our basic strategic concept should change also. The fact is that our war strategy has rested squarely on population bombing.

To put this ugly fact bluntly, our willingness to use atomic bombs against the largest Russian population centers, in order to cause enormous civilian casualties and thus to disrupt the Soviet industrial and political system, has been the heart and soul of our war planning. This strategic concept, however hideous morally, has been wholly correct, since this willingness has been the only deterrent to Russian aggression.

Yet its weakness is very evident. Population bombing precludes that alliance with the Russian people which such Soviet experts as George Kennan consider the real key to victory. A war which ended with the great cities of Eurasia—or even only of the Soviet Union— in ruins, is not a war which could properly be said to have been won.

Most "Economical" Use

Population bombing is the most "economical" use of the bomb, since the bomb so used is most efficiently destructive. But since we are becoming very rich in atomic bombs, the question is beginning to be asked whether we cannot afford to be "uneconomical" in their use, provided always that something like a real power balance in conventional arms is established.

The planners are beginning to wonder whether our exclusive emphasis on population bombing may not be a hangover from the time when we seemed permanently condemned to hopeless weakness in the conventional arms, when a limited atomic stockpile was really all we had. They are asking themselves whether warfare might not be returned to the battlefield, where it belongs, and to the area which directly supports the battlefield.

Might it not be possible to hold population bombing in reserve, as an overwhelming retaliatory weapon, to be used only in case of atomic attack on our own great population centers, and those of our allies? Might not bombing priorities be assigned instead to enemy air fields, atomic plants and stockpiles; to relatively isolated critical installations like hydro-electric power plants and oil refineries; to lines of communications and military installations behind the front; and to heavy enemy troop concentrations?

These questions are being asked only very tentatively, and it is easy to find reasons why they should be answered in the negative. But it is well to remember what we so tragically forgot in the last war—that the aim of war is not confined to simple military victory. A war based essentially on unlimited population bombing simply could not result in real political victory. And this is why it is good that these questions are being asked, however cautiously, in the Defense Department.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Attorney General's Lists

The decision of the Supreme Court, in the cases involving the joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc., International Workers Order, Inc., is extremely important. These organizations sought their deletion from the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations. Lower courts had upheld the Attorney General; the Supreme Court held that these organizations had a right to sue for such deletion.

Mr. Justice Burton, who gave the majority opinion, said:

". . . To defend such a designation of them, on the basis of the complaints alone, is an assertion of presidential authority so to designate an organization at the option of the Attorney General without reliance upon either disclosed or undisclosed facts supplying a reasonable basis for the determination. It is that, and only that outer limit of the authority of the Attorney General that is now before us."

Further, he said:

". . . The organizations to be designated on that list are not limited to those having federal employes in their memberships. They may even exclude such employes from membership. Accordingly, the impact of the Attorney General's lists is by no means limited to persons who are subject to the employes loyalty program."

The Supreme Court is only supposed to deal with what has been placed before it and therefore, if no one called the attention of the learned brethren to the facts of life, they are not expected to know anything about them. For instance, Hede Massing, Louis Budenz, Whittaker Chambers and others have testified under oath that they were part of Communist apparatuses outside the government, under the control of Soviet Russia, which were actually engaged in efforts to infiltrate our government, in which they succeeded in specific cases.

There is ample evidence of this kind of activity in the files of the FBI, the House Committee on Un-american Activities, and now the McCarran Committee, to establish the validity of the Attorney General's list. What the Supreme Court has actually done is to open the door for each of these organizations—there are several hundred—to go into court to force a hearing on whether their names should or should not be on the list.

Maybe that is the only just way to do it. Justice Burton says:

". . . The acts of the Attorney General and the Loyalty Review Board, purporting to be taken by them under authority of the executive order, have seriously and irreparably impaired, and will continue to so impair, the reputation of the organization and the moral support and good will of the American people necessary for the continuance of its charitable activities. . ."

That is precisely what the list is designed to do. In the case of one of these organizations, the International Workers Order, Inc., I have before me the brief prepared by Paul W. Williams, special counsel for the insurance department of the State of New York, which successfully sought to put this organization out of the insurance business. The brief shows:

"The IWO operates through a system of more than 1,600 lodges throughout the United States. These lodges fall into 16 nationality societies, which are administrative subdivisions of the IWO, having no separate corporate existence. In many cases much of the business of these societies is transacted in the language of the nationality group in question. These groups are as follows:

"American Russian Fraternal Society; Carpatho-Russian American Mutual Aid Society; Cervantes Fraternal Society; Croatian Benevolent Fraternity of America; Czech Workers Society; Douglass Lincoln Fraternal Society; Finnish American Mutual Aid Society; Garibaldi American Fraternal Society; Hellenic American Fraternal Society; Hungarian Brotherhood; Jewish Peoples Fraternal Order; Polonia Society; Roumanian American Fraternal Society; Serbian American Federation; Slovak Workers Society; Ukrainian American Fraternal Union."

The brief clearly establishes Communist propagandist activity by the International Workers Order. The Attorney General is required to show "weighty reason for departing in this instance from a rule so deeply imbedded in history and in the demands of justice. Nothing in the loyalty order requires him to deny organizations opportunity to present their case. The executive order, defining his powers, directs only that designation shall be made 'after appropriate investigation and determination.' This surely does

Not On The Must List

If Congress wants a September adjournment, it can get away from Washington before October 1 by completing action on (1) the 1951 tax bill, already passed by the House, (2) the foreign aid authorization bill, not yet considered in either house, (3) all of the regular appropriation bills. Senate Majority Leader McFarland has told his colleagues that if this "must program" is completed, he has assurance from the President that Congress will not be called back into session before its regularly scheduled meeting in January.

It caused no surprise that the must list omitted the President's proposals for further revision of the price control law, and particularly for reinstatement of the livestock quota system—which McFarland himself had voted to abolish. Nor was there any astonishment that civil rights measures were given no place on the program. The President is expected to hold his fire on these and other Fair Deal objectives until the 1952 election is nearer at hand.

What did cause surprise was the failure to schedule as a "must" the additional legislation needed to institute universal military training. The framework for UMT was provided by the draft extension bill signed by the President on last June 19. That measure says the system is to come into effect whenever the President or Congress finds that manpower needs of the armed forces can be met without further drafting under the Selective Service system.

But there is one essential condition: Congress must first have approved general legislation to safeguard the health, welfare, safety, etc. of the trainees. Recommendations for such legislation are now being framed by the National Security Training Commission, whose members were confirmed by the Senate last June 29. The commission is under instruction to report to Congress within four months—that is, before the end of October. And the Armed Services committees are under instruction to report bills on the basis of the Commission's recommendations within 45 days thereafter.

These elaborate arrangements, which were designed to insure final action before the end of 1951, now appear likely to fail of their purpose. UMT seemed close to achievement at the height of the Korean campaign last spring, but may now be as far away as before the Reds invaded South Korea.

The Mikado Now

The Treaty of Versailles, ending World War I, provided in Article 227 for the trial of Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany "for a supreme offense against international morality and the sanctity of treaties." The peace treaty with Japan, scheduled to be signed at San Francisco on September 4, contains no similar article with respect to the Japanese emperor. Hirohito sits as securely on his throne as he did on the day of the Japanese surrender, August 14, 1945, though he is now a constitutional monarch and no longer the "god-emperor" of his people.

The Tokyo government seemed more concerned for the fate of the emperor in the closing days of World War II than with the fate of the empire. It offered surrender on August 11, 1945, on the basis of the Potsdam declaration, but "with the understanding that the said declaration does not comprise any demand which prejudices the prerogatives of his majesty as a sovereign ruler." The Allies replied that, from the moment of the surrender and until a peace treaty was signed, the emperor's authority would be subject to the supreme allied commander (MacArthur); the emperor would issue such orders as would be required by the supreme commander to give effect to the surrender terms.

Nationalist China and Australia had wanted to "hang Hirohito." Russia and Britain left it to the United States. Washington saw a supreme advantage in using the emperor's authority with the Japanese people and the imperial armed forces to ease the difficulties of the surrender and the subsequent occupation of Japan. Experience has confirmed the wisdom of that policy as opposed to the World War I policy of "Hang the Kaiser."

Incidentally, the former ruler of Germany died peacefully at his estate at Droon, Holland, on June 4, 1941. He had fled across the border shortly before the German surrender. The project to put him on trial quickly came a cropper when the Dutch government rejected a demand of the Allies that it deliver Wilhelm into their hands.

Since what we eat influences health it is only natural that considerable research has been done in the field of nutrition. This is not new as early man, thru trial and error, finally determined what was poisonous in field and forest. Then came a period when it was found that nutriment could be made more edible by cooking, curing, and other treatment. By adding condiments, it became more palatable; and by cooking or processing separate items, many new types of food became available.

As centuries passed they began to recognize that food provided energy in the form of calories. With this information it was possible to classify edibles as to their caloric value. Shortly thereafter, scientists learned that various other elements were equally if not more important than calories. These are the carbohydrates, fats, proteins, minerals and vitamins. The latter discovery created a stir and we are still in the midst of a popular vitamin fad. These substances were sold originally in drug stores but now grocery stores carry them also and they are even given to factory workers on the job and school children with their lunch.

Vitamins also made us aware of the diseases that developed in individuals who ate meals deficient in these products. Ten years ago many were afflicted with beriberi, scurvy, rickets, or pellagra. These maladies have become as rare as hen's teeth even in places where they flourished in the past. In 1939, 34 cases of pellagra were admitted to the Cincinnati general hospital; from 1946 to 1948, only one victim came to their attention. A Chicago scientist, looking for a pellagra case for study, went among the alcoholics in skid row but was unable to find a single sufferer, indicating that even those who prefer drinking to eating are doing fairly well so far as vitamins are concerned.

But many problems must be solved before the science of nutrition is established on a firm footing. The diets of numerous families are said not to be as good as the average food supply affords. In certain homes too much attention is still being paid to quantity rather than quality. In other words, the money available is not being used to the best advantage. These individuals need better information on food values, information that is scientific and not created by high powered sales organizations. The relationship between soil and food obtained therefrom also is being investigated as it never has been done before. It, too, is being subjected to scientific scrutiny and from now on we can expect more enlightenment along this line.

NEPHRITIS

Mrs. E. writes: My 11 year old daughter developed a type of kidney trouble in which her whole body swelled up, her blood pressure went to 160, and albumin appeared in her urine. She is much better now, after eight weeks' treatment. When will she be out of the woods completely?

REPLY

This question must be answered by your physician. The outcome in all kidney cases depends upon various factors, several of which you fail to mention, such as the blood chemistry, eye ground studies, and additional urinary findings.

HEART AND PRESSURE

A. L. writes: Can the blood pressure be normal when the heart is diseased?

REPLY

It is possible to have "leakage" of the heart valves, angina pectoris, or coronary thrombosis with no abnormalities of the blood pressure. However, hypertension usually is associated with enlargement of the pumping apparatus and, in some instances, with arteriosclerosis of the coronary arteries.

WARM WATER

B. Z. writes: Will taking a glass o hot water every morning before breakfast harm the kidneys or bladder?

REPLY

Only Propaganda Can Win The Cold War; Stalin Fears Influence Of Outside World; Friendship Balloons Are Start In The Right Direction

(NOTE—Drew Pearson is on another tour of Europe, studying conditions there in this period of world tension and crisis. Following is another of his dispatches from Central Europe.)

NEAR THE IRON CURTAIN, IN CENTRAL EUROPE — The most important answer to the alarming question put before Congress recently by Secretaries Marshall and Pace—"Will there be war with Russia soon?"—lies in the long stretch of barbed wire extending from the Black Sea to the Baltic which Winston Churchill named the iron curtain.

Most Americans, including the U. S. Government, have neglected the importance of this barrier between East and West.

We have failed to realize that there will always exist the danger of war with Russia as long as this curtain exists; as long as the Moscow radio can tell the Russian people anything they want about us and the Russian people have no way of knowing the opposite; and as long as there is no free parliament, no free church, no free press, no free public opinion to prevent the Kremlin from declaring war.

We have also failed to realize that even if we fight a war with Russia and win, actually our victory will be temporary unless we can convert the Russian people to friendship with the U.S.A. Until we have done that, we shall have to fight wars all over again.

Finally we have failed to realize that Russia has never been conquered by force of arms. Napoleon tried it and got bogged down on the road to Moscow. Hitler also tried it and got swamped in front of Stalingrad.

But the Kaiser, having been stopped in Latvia, picked up Lenin in Switzerland, put him on a special train with drawn blinds, and sent him to Russia. It was after this that Russia, under a new Bolshevist regime, finally surrendered.

In other words, it was propaganda and politics which really defeated the Czar.

Weather Balloons

That is one reason why I have been hammering home the idea that we should use any and all kinds of propaganda, including weather balloons, to penetrate the iron curtain and get the truth to the people of Russia and the satellites.

No matter what else is happening inside Russia, one thing is certain. Stalin has imposed the iron curtain for the specific reason that he fears contact between the Russian people and the outside world.

He knows, and a small segment of the Russian people also know, how American and Soviet troops drank vodka together, toasted their mutual friendship together on the shores of the River Elbe at the end of the war.

He also knows how soldiers of the Red Army who have visited Vienna, Warsaw, Prague or even shell-pocked Berlin, have returned to tell their friends about the culture and economic progress of the free world living beyond the Soviet border. Some of these soldiers have shown such enthusiasm over the West and such skepticism over communism that it has been necessary to isolate them, following their discharge, from their native villages.

Stalin also knows that when the Nazis advanced into Russia in 1940 the astounding total of 3,600,000 Russians surrendered to the Germans.

We in the West did not know about this wholesale surrender until after we had seized German documents and interviewed German officers after V-E Day. But Stalin knew. And he knew that the German army never would have penetrated Russia as it did if many of the Russian people had not actually welcomed it, and if whole segments of the Red army had not been eager to surrender.

The Kaiser's army in 1915-17 advanced only to Riga. It never actually reached the soil of Russia proper. Hitler's army in 1940 marched two-thirds of the way across Russia, right down to the Caucasus. In other words, the Czar, with all his tyranny, commanded more loyalty than Stalin.

These are some of the reasons for the iron curtain. These also are some of the reasons why we must make the iron curtain a lace curtain if we are to prevent war; if we are to win permanent peace over a period of years.

Counter Propaganda

Propaganda balloons floated across the iron curtain have their drawbacks. If they disrupt satellite and Russian public opinion enough, the Kremlin is bound to start the rumor that they are carrying bacteriological warfare—germs aimed to ruin the crops of the Communist people.

The Kremlin may also plant a bomb with an alleged propaganda balloon, arrange to kill someone and then claim that Westerners are trying to murder the Russian people.

Some counter-propaganda like this is almost certain to happen. But when two nations suffer such strained relations as the U.S.A. and U.S.S.R. you can't make those relations any worse, and sometimes revolutionary methods and radical surgery improve them. Certainly it will be true that the louder the Kremlin squawks and tried to twist the meaning of friendship messages to the Russian people, the more it is certain that such propaganda is hurting.

Freedom-friendship balloons floated across the iron curtain are not, of course, going to change the people of Russia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary overnight. But they can help. And added to the Voice of America and other propaganda, some of which cannot be written about, they can hit the Kremlin in the Achilles' heel which Stalin is worried most about—the fear that the people behind the iron curtain may get to know that we are a friendly, peaceful people who will fight if necessary, but who, contrary to the Russian radio, do not want war.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There is no keener judge of political factionalism that President Truman — and what he did the other day in boosting General Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination was about as effective a piece of maneuvering as anyone has done in reaching right into the opposition party to call attention to its weaknesses.

For what is rapidly taking shape is a split in the Republican party as fundamental as that which caused the break in 1912, when the Democrats rode to victory as a consequence of the schism.

This time, the Democrats may benefit not by the formation of a third political party but by the acquisition of millions of Republican voters who will not stand for a nationalist candidate as contrasted with an internationalist.

Nationalist Or Internationalist

General Eisenhower is an internationalist. Not only does his job today imply this, but his whole background and experience is plainly on that side.

In brief, if the Republicans want to go to the country with an international-minded candidate—as they did with Dewey and Willkie—they can do so in 1952 by nominating General Eisenhower.

If, on the other hand, the Republicans want a nationalist candidate, they will nominate Senator Taft of Ohio.

This is not to say that a nationalist candidate will or will not win in 1952. The situation will be far different from 1920 when the Republicans straddled and won and subsequently took what was at that time called the "isolationist" side—refusing to join the League of Nations. Senator Taft favors a closer union with Great Britain and France. He voted for the Marshall Plan and troops to Europe and is by no means an isolationist, as his opponents like to describe him.

But when campaign time comes, Senator Taft's record will be matched against the Democratic nominee, whether that's Mr. Truman or Chief Justice Vinson or anyone else. The Democrats will stand four-square on the international program of the Administration, whereas Senator Taft would inevitably campaign as a critic of that record and all its future implications.

If General Eisenhower were to be nominated on the Republican ticket, it would mean that the Republican party, in convention assembled, had agreed to accept the viewpoint of the Dewey-Stassen wing of the party and that foreign policy would be much less of an issue than if Senator Taft were the nominee.

The regular organization in the Republican party today leans toward Senator Taft. Will that be the situation next summer when the Republican convention meets?

A cleavage inside the Republican party is shaping up which will rock the party from one end of the country to the other. President Truman may or may not be mischievously inclined as he adds fuel to the flames by speaking in such a friendly way about General Eisenhower and the Republican nomination. He may feel that if the General runs and is elected, at least the foreign policy will not change materially and history will say the present Administration's program has been vindicated.

Practical People

Politicians are practical people. They usually name a candiate they think can win. At the moment the anti-Taft folks are saying the Ohio Senator cannot win because he has not been an internationalist. His supporters insist he would win for that very reason, because the country, as a consequence of the Korean war, has drifted away from its enthusiasm of recent years for the international position.

The dispute on this point will have to be settled by the voters. The Republicans can carry a number of Mid-Western states on the anti-international issue. Can they carry any of the Eastern or Far-Western states on that basis? Can they make any inroads in the South?

Many Republicans insist that there was no chance in 1944 or 1948 to choose between nationalism and internationalism. They would welcome such a clear-cut choice next time. So would Mr. Truman. For he is confident that on that issue alone any Democratic nominee can be elected. That's why he sees trouble for the Republicans unless they nominate Eisenhower, and permanent wounds developing for them anyhow in the pre-convention months as the Republican party engages in a bitter struggle for control between its international and national factions.

Is Our Strategy Right?

WASHINGTON

Some of the most brilliant men in the Defense Department are taking a hard new look at American strategic planning. They are beginning to ask themselves whether our basic strategic concept—the way we intend to fight a war if war comes—should not be recast, root and branch.

A nation's war strategy must be based on its actual military situation. Since the Korean war began, our real military situation has been rapidly changing. Consider first our situation in terms of conventional military strength. On July 1, 1950, we had nine under-strength divisions; a mothball Navy; and a 42-group Air Force masquerading as 48 groups. We had an alliance with Western Europe which was a fake alliance, since Western Europe could not be defended. By July 1, 1952, we shall have the capacity to put about 50 extra-size full-strength divisions into the field in the first year of a war—about twice as many as could be shipped overseas in one year. We shall have a navy which should be capable of dominating the seas absolutely, a strong Naval air arm and a powerful Marine Corps. We shall have a 95-group Air Force, and whatever the precise outcome of the present air power dispute, the Air Force will then certainly be scheduled to grow rapidly larger.

All this gives no grounds for complacency. The balance of power in conventional arms is still certainly with the Soviets. Europe is still, as of today, almost certainly indefensible. Yet the planners, rightly or wrongly, look forward to a time when the balance in conventional military power will be at least partially restored, and when Western Europe will have a really serious defense.

Great Atomic Potential

Now consider the second category of power—atomic power. Here very much greater strides than is generally realized have been made. On this point it is well to tread lightly. But it can be said that the American atomic potential, by July 1, 1952, will be so great that atomic bombs can be regarded as more expendable than the planes which carry them. Nor is this all. For the first time, because of significant reductions in size and weight, atomic bombs can be carried in light planes, or delivered by guided missiles.

This means, for example, that the Navy can now for the first time deliver bombs even from the lighter carriers, and that Air Force delivery is no longer confined to the strategic bombers. This in turn means a greatly increased atomic potential, because deliverability is just as important a factor in atomic power as the size of the stockpile.

In brief, our real military situation is certainly changing. And the best men in the Pentagon are beginning to think that at least at some time in the future, when the balance in conventional military power begins to be restored, our basic strategic concept should change also. The fact is that our war strategy has rested squarely on population bombing.

To put this ugly fact bluntly, our willingness to use atomic bombs against the largest Russian population centers, in order to cause enormous civilian casualties and thus to disrupt the Soviet industrial and political system, has been the heart and soul of our war planning. This strategic concept, however hideous morally, has been wholly correct, since this willingness has been the only deterrent to Russian aggression.

Yet its weakness is very evident. Population bombing precludes that alliance with the Russian people which such Soviet experts as George Kennan consider the real key to victory. A war which ended with the great cities of Eurasia—or even only of the Soviet Union— in ruins, is not a war which could properly be said to have been won.

Most "Economical" Use

Population bombing is the most "economical" use of the bomb, since the bomb so used is most efficiently destructive. But since we are becoming very rich in atomic bombs, the question is beginning to be asked whether we cannot afford to be "uneconomical" in their use, provided always that something like a real power balance in conventional arms is established.

The planners are beginning to wonder whether our exclusive emphasis on population bombing may not be a hangover from the time when we seemed permanently condemned to hopeless weakness in the conventional arms, when a limited atomic stockpile was really all we had. They are asking themselves whether warfare might not be returned to the battlefield, where it belongs, and to the area which directly supports the battlefield.

Might it not be possible to hold population bombing in reserve, as an overwhelming retaliatory weapon, to be used only in case of atomic attack on our own great population centers, and those of our allies? Might not bombing priorities be assigned instead to enemy air fields, atomic plants and stockpiles; to relatively isolated critical installations like hydro-electric power plants and oil refineries; to lines of communications and military installations behind the front; and to heavy enemy troop concentrations?

These questions are being asked only very tentatively, and it is easy to find reasons why they should be answered in the negative. But it is well to remember what we so tragically forgot in the last war—that the aim of war is not confined to simple military victory. A war based essentially on unlimited population bombing simply could not result in real political victory. And this is why it is good that these questions are being asked, however cautiously, in the Defense Department.

These Days

The Attorney General's Lists

The decision of the Supreme Court, in the cases involving the joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc., International Workers Order, Inc., is extremely important. These organizations sought their deletion from the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations. Lower courts had upheld the Attorney General; the Supreme Court held that these organizations had a right to sue for such deletion.

Mr. Justice Burton, who gave the majority opinion, said:

". . . To defend such a designation of them, on the basis of the complaints alone, is an assertion of presidential authority so to designate an organization at the option of the Attorney General without reliance upon either disclosed or undisclosed facts supplying a reasonable basis for the determination. It is that, and only that outer limit of the authority of the Attorney General that is now before us."

Further, he said:

". . . The organizations to be designated on that list are not limited to those having federal employes in their memberships. They may even exclude such employes from membership. Accordingly, the impact of the Attorney General's lists is by no means limited to persons who are subject to the employes loyalty program."

The Supreme Court is only supposed to deal with what has been placed before it and therefore, if no one called the attention of the learned brethren to the facts of life, they are not expected to know anything about them. For instance, Hede Massing, Louis Budenz, Whittaker Chambers and others have testified under oath that they were part of Communist apparatuses outside the government, under the control of Soviet Russia, which were actually engaged in efforts to infiltrate our government, in which they succeeded in specific cases.

There is ample evidence of this kind of activity in the files of the FBI, the House Committee on Un-american Activities, and now the McCarran Committee, to establish the validity of the Attorney General's list. What the Supreme Court has actually done is to open the door for each of these organizations—there are several hundred—to go into court to force a hearing on whether their names should or should not be on the list.

Maybe that is the only just way to do it. Justice Burton says:

". . . The acts of the Attorney General and the Loyalty Review Board, purporting to be taken by them under authority of the executive order, have seriously and irreparably impaired, and will continue to so impair, the reputation of the organization and the moral support and good will of the American people necessary for the continuance of its charitable activities. . ."

That is precisely what the list is designed to do. In the case of one of these organizations, the International Workers Order, Inc., I have before me the brief prepared by Paul W. Williams, special counsel for the insurance department of the State of New York, which successfully sought to put this organization out of the insurance business. The brief shows:

"The IWO operates through a system of more than 1,600 lodges throughout the United States. These lodges fall into 16 nationality societies, which are administrative subdivisions of the IWO, having no separate corporate existence. In many cases much of the business of these societies is transacted in the language of the nationality group in question. These groups are as follows:

"American Russian Fraternal Society; Carpatho-Russian American Mutual Aid Society; Cervantes Fraternal Society; Croatian Benevolent Fraternity of America; Czech Workers Society; Douglass Lincoln Fraternal Society; Finnish American Mutual Aid Society; Garibaldi American Fraternal Society; Hellenic American Fraternal Society; Hungarian Brotherhood; Jewish Peoples Fraternal Order; Polonia Society; Roumanian American Fraternal Society; Serbian American Federation; Slovak Workers Society; Ukrainian American Fraternal Union."

The brief clearly establishes Communist propagandist activity by the International Workers Order. The Attorney General is required to show "weighty reason for departing in this instance from a rule so deeply imbedded in history and in the demands of justice. Nothing in the loyalty order requires him to deny organizations opportunity to present their case. The executive order, defining his powers, directs only that designation shall be made 'after appropriate investigation and determination.' This surely does

Hugo R. Hoffmann, Maryland District Director for the Office of Price Stabilization, has announced that Edgar R. McShane, Deputy OPS District Director for Maryland, has been named to handle small business contacts for the Maryland District.

McShane's duties will be to assist small businessmen with their OPS problems in line with the new policies and standards to safeguard small businesses in the price controls program established on the national level this week by Michael V. DiSalle.

Council Order Puts Firemen On State Retirement System

The Mayor and City Council passed a resolution yesterday morning to make it possible for members of the Cumberland Fire Department to be placed under provisions of the Employe Retirement System of the State of Maryland.

The resolution provides for all funds now in the local pension fund of the firemen be turned over to the state agency.

Only one member of the department decided to stay out of the state program. He is R. Leo Reichert, whose letter to the Mayor and Council outlining his views was read yesterday morning.

Reichert said he was not opposed to other members of the department joining the state pension system, but he was not in favor of joining himself. He requested the city to return to him all the money he had contributed to the firemen's pension fund and in return he would sign a release whereby the city would not be responsible for paying pension funds to him at anytime in the future.

The bid of the Cumberland Contracting Company, the only one received, for paving Trost and Piedmont avenues in the North End was accepted. The bid was $10.87 per ton for 385 tons of blacktop machine laid on the streets. The bid on the asphalt was 32 cents per gallon.

An order was passed in which $50 was donated to the Cumberland Lions Club to help defray the expense of the Cumberland Horse Show the organization is sponsoring. The net proceeds of the show will be used to aid needy blind and crippled children.

The daily average consumption of water last week was 12,262,000 gallons as compared to 12,614,000 gallons for the same period last year. The weekly consumption was 85,840,000 gallons as compared to 88,300,000 last year. Water in Lake Gordon is three feet below the spillway and two inches above the crest of Lake Koon.

Four War Dead To Be Reburied

Bodies of four more area war dead arrived Sunday in San Francisco from Korea aboard the Lynn Victory.

Port officials listed the men as Pfc. William Robert Jackson, 27, husband of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Jackson, Shaft; Cpl. John T. Wilt, son of Michael C. Wilt, Route 2, Swanton; Pfc. William B. Friend, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Friend, Sang Run, and Cp. Wayne E. Riggleman, son of Claude S. Riggleman, Fisher, Hardy county, W. Va.

Next of kin have been notified and a military escort will accompany the bodies to the place designated by relatives.

Pfc. Jackson was killed in action February 9, the day he had been reported missing. He served 23 months in the European Theater during World War II. Prior to entering service, he attended St. Michael's parochial school and was graduated from Beall High School, Frostburg.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson, of West Main Street, Frostburg, Pfc. Jackson was recalled to active duty October 14 and trained at Camp Campbell, Ky., and Camp Stoneman, Calif. He arrived in Japan, December 29, and six days later was sent to Korea where he was attached to the 24th Infantry Division.

Pfc. Jackson was employed as a powder operator at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory plant before reentering the Army. Besides his widow and parents, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Juanita Flannigan, Frostburg.

Pfc. Friend also had been listed as missing in action before his death was reported.

Police To Make Drive On All-Night Parking

The City Police Department plans to begin a program of checking all-night parking on city streets, according to Police Commissioner John J. Long.

Long said there is an ordinance on all-night parking which states that no persons shall permit a vehicle to stand in any street, alley or other public place all night without first having obtained a permit from the Police Department.

Reasonable grounds for such a permit must be furnished, Long added.

Long said many complaints have been received of all-night parking violations, and that the city garbage collections and street department workers have been hampered by cars parked all night.

Cars found by police parked overnight will first be tagged with a courtesy warning ticket. The owner should contact police for a permit to park. A survey of available garages and off street parking areas will be made. Permits for all night parking will be kept at a minimum, Long said.

Friendsville Man Places In Pasture Contest

George C. Stauffer of Walkersville, Frederick County, has been named area winner in Maryland's Greener Pastures Contest. This was announced yesterday by Jos. H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Production and Marketing Administration State Committee, who also disclosed that Clark Schlosnagle of Friendsville, Garrett County, was the second place winner.

Pastures on the Stauffer and Schlosnagle farms are now in competition with first and second place winners in Southern Maryland and on the Eastern Shore for the State Championship. Those winners, previously announced, are Tilghman Moyer, Chestertown; Clarence F. Hartman, Westover; Eugene Roberts, Bowie, and Benjamin Parran St. Leonards.

Small Business Aid Offered

Hugo R. Hoffmann, Maryland District Director for the Office of Price Stabilization, has announced that Edgar R. McShane, Deputy OPS District Director for Maryland, has been named to handle small business contacts for the Maryland District.

McShane's duties will be to assist small businessmen with their OPS problems in line with the new policies and standards to safeguard small businesses in the price controls program established on the national level this week by Michael V. DiSalle.

Council Order Puts Firemen On State Retirement System

The Mayor and City Council passed a resolution yesterday morning to make it possible for members of the Cumberland Fire Department to be placed under provisions of the Employe Retirement System of the State of Maryland.

The resolution provides for all funds now in the local pension fund of the firemen be turned over to the state agency.

Only one member of the department decided to stay out of the state program. He is R. Leo Reichert, whose letter to the Mayor and Council outlining his views was read yesterday morning.

Reichert said he was not opposed to other members of the department joining the state pension system, but he was not in favor of joining himself. He requested the city to return to him all the money he had contributed to the firemen's pension fund and in return he would sign a release whereby the city would not be responsible for paying pension funds to him at anytime in the future.

The bid of the Cumberland Contracting Company, the only one received, for paving Trost and Piedmont avenues in the North End was accepted. The bid was $10.87 per ton for 385 tons of blacktop machine laid on the streets. The bid on the asphalt was 32 cents per gallon.

An order was passed in which $50 was donated to the Cumberland Lions Club to help defray the expense of the Cumberland Horse Show the organization is sponsoring. The net proceeds of the show will be used to aid needy blind and crippled children.

The daily average consumption of water last week was 12,262,000 gallons as compared to 12,614,000 gallons for the same period last year. The weekly consumption was 85,840,000 gallons as compared to 88,300,000 last year. Water in Lake Gordon is three feet below the spillway and two inches above the crest of Lake Koon.

Police To Make Drive On All-Night Parking

The City Police Department plans to begin a program of checking all-night parking on city streets, according to Police Commissioner John J. Long.

Long said there is an ordinance on all-night parking which states that no persons shall permit a vehicle to stand in any street, alley or other public place all night without first having obtained a permit from the Police Department.

Reasonable grounds for such a permit must be furnished, Long added.

Long said many complaints have been received of all-night parking violations, and that the city garbage collections and street department workers have been hampered by cars parked all night.

Cars found by police parked overnight will first be tagged with a courtesy warning ticket. The owner should contact police for a permit to park. A survey of available garages and off street parking areas will be made. Permits for all night parking will be kept at a minimum, Long said.

Legion To Ask Congress Help With Vet Bonus

Bond Issue Termed "Inflationary"

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 13 (AP)—State headquarters of the American Legion made public today a resolution calling upon Congress to take necessary steps to help pay the West Virginia veterans' bonus.

At the same time, the Legionnaires praised Gov. Patteson and his administration for their efforts to sell the bonds despite obstacles put in the way by federal agencies.

Earlier, the state department of the Legion in convention here had proposed that the $96,000,000 workmen's compensation fund be used to pay the bonus.

Gov. Patteson had told the Legionnaires it would be unwise to use other state funds to finance the program.

The bonus was voted last year and specific tax measures were provided for paying off the bonds.

When the first issue of bonds amounting to $67,500,000 was offered for sale, however, the National Voluntary Credit Restraint Committee advised investment houses against their purchase.

The committee had decided a bond issue of this type was inflationary in character.

In asking Congress to act to nullify this order, the resolution made public today also asked the legislative body to "censure those officials who have arrogantly arrogated unto themselves a so-called authority far beyond and outside the delegated duties and responsibilities given them by the limitations of law."

Cass Taylor Leases Shober's Restaurant

Casper R. Taylor, one of Allegany county's best known club and tavern managers, announced yesterday that he has leased Shober's Restaurant, 501 North Mechanic Street, from John C. Shober and assumed active operation of the business.

Present policies of the business, which has been operated by Mr. Shober for the past 15 months, will be continued, according to Mr. Taylor. The lease, subject to the approval of the Board of License Commissioners of Allegany County, is on a ten-year lease basis.

Mr. Shober first opened the restaurant and bar at the property, located at the corner of North Mechanic and Valley streets, on June 20, 1912, and returned to active management a little more than a year ago after it had been operated ten years by William V. Keegan, former city commissioner.

In leasing the popular North End business, Mr. Taylor returned to the native section of his home city. He resided in the North End during his boyhood days and after spending several years on the West Side, where he operated a grocery store and later a tavern, purchased the Clary Club in 1935 to develop it into one of the leading entertainment centers in Western Maryland.

Painful cramps of "Monthly Periods" stopped or amazingly relieved

in 3 out of 4 cases in doctors' own tests!

• Women and girls who suffer from those functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches of menstruation — who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days" — may often be suffering quite unnecessarily!

Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave complete or striking relief from such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases tested!

Yes! Medical evidence shows Lydia Pinkham's thoroughly modern in action. It exerts a remarkably calming effect on the uterus — without the use of pain-deadening drugs!

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to the millions of women and girls whom it has benefited. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for you?

Take Lydia Pinkham's through the month. See if you don't get the same relief from the pains and weakness of "those days"! See if you don't feel better before and during your period!

Get either Lydia Pinkham's Compound, or new, improved Tablets, with added iron!

If you're troubled with "hot flashes" and other functional distress of "change of life"—you'll find Lydia Pinkham's wonderful for that, too!

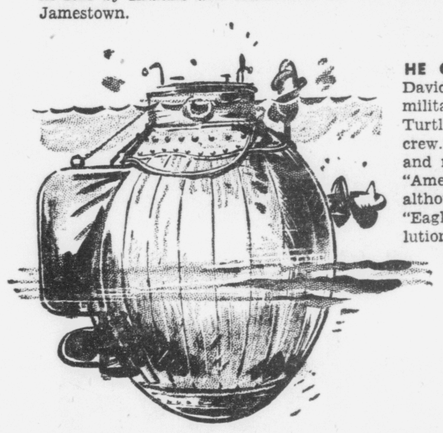
IS THAT A FACT! by Ches Peake

12 YEARS BEFORE THE PILGRIMS LANDED. The first glass factory in America was set up one mile from Jamestown, Va., in 1608. From this factory came the first bottle blown in America. Bottles made in this factory became the first manufactured product exported from this country. The factory was destroyed in 1622 by Indians who massacred the inhabitants of Jamestown.



HE CARRIED WAR UNDERWATER. In 1777, David Bushnell built the first submarine for military purposes. It was called the "American Turtle." The submarine carried a one-man crew. The operator could cause it to submerge and rise by pumping water in and out. The "American Turtle" was not a military success, although it nearly sank the English warship "Eagle" in New York harbor during the Revolutionary War.

Legion To Ask Congress Help With Vet Bonus

Bond Issue Termed "Inflationary"

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 13 (AP)—State headquarters of the American Legion made public today a resolution calling upon Congress to take necessary steps to help pay the West Virginia veterans' bonus.

At the same time, the Legionnaires praised Gov. Patteson and his administration for their efforts to sell the bonds despite obstacles put in the way by federal agencies.

Earlier, the state department of the Legion in convention here had proposed that the $96,000,000 workmen's compensation fund be used to pay the bonus.

Gov. Patteson had told the Legionnaires it would be unwise to use other state funds to finance the program.

The bonus was voted last year and specific tax measures were provided for paying off the bonds.

When the first issue of bonds amounting to $67,500,000 was offered for sale, however, the National Voluntary Credit Restraint Committee advised investment houses against their purchase.

The committee had decided a bond issue of this type was inflationary in character.

In asking Congress to act to nullify this order, the resolution made public today also asked the legislative body to "censure those officials who have arrogantly arrogated unto themselves a so-called authority far beyond and outside the delegated duties and responsibilities given them by the limitations of law."

Cass Taylor Leases Shober's Restaurant

Casper R. Taylor, one of Allegany county's best known club and tavern managers, announced yesterday that he has leased Shober's Restaurant, 501 North Mechanic Street, from John C. Shober and assumed active operation of the business.

Present policies of the business, which has been operated by Mr. Shober for the past 15 months, will be continued, according to Mr. Taylor. The lease, subject to the approval of the Board of License Commissioners of Allegany County, is on a ten-year lease basis.

Mr. Shober first opened the restaurant and bar at the property, located at the corner of North Mechanic and Valley streets, on June 20, 1912, and returned to active management a little more than a year ago after it had been operated ten years by William V. Keegan, former city commissioner.

In leasing the popular North End business, Mr. Taylor returned to the native section of his home city. He resided in the North End during his boyhood days and after spending several years on the West Side, where he operated a grocery store and later a tavern, purchased the Clary Club in 1935 to develop it into one of the leading entertainment centers in Western Maryland.

After selling the Clary Club in 1946, Mr. Taylor served as manager of the American Legion Home in Frostburg until his recent resignation.

Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave complete or striking relief from such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases tested!

Yes! Medical evidence shows Lydia Pinkham's thoroughly modern in action. It exerts a remarkably calming effect on the uterus — without the use of pain-deadening drugs!

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to the millions of women and girls whom it has benefited. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for you?

Take Lydia Pinkham's through the month. See if you don't get the same relief from the pains and weakness of "those days"! See if you don't feel better before and during your period!

Get either Lydia Pinkham's Compound, or new, improved Tablets, with added iron!

If you're troubled with "hot flashes" and other functional distress of "change of life"—you'll find Lydia Pinkham's wonderful for that, too!

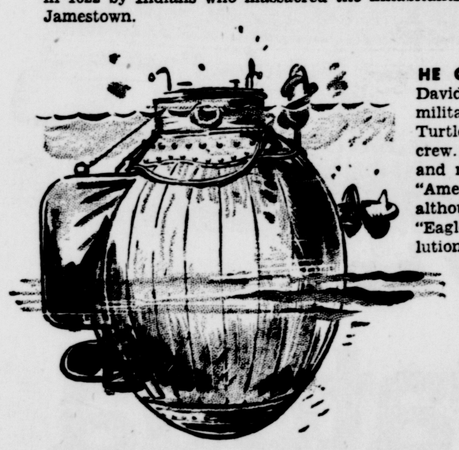
12 YEARS BEFORE THE PILGRIMS LANDED. The first glass factory in America was set up one mile from Jamestown, Va., in 1608. From this factory came the first bottle blown in America. Bottles made in this factory became the first manufactured product exported from this country. The factory was destroyed in 1622 by Indians who massacred the inhabitants of Jamestown.



HE CARRIED WAR UNDERWATER. In 1777, David Bushnell built the first submarine for military purposes. It was called the "American Turtle." The submarine carried a one-man crew. The operator could cause it to submerge and rise by pumping water in and out. The "American Turtle" was not a military success, although it nearly sank the English warship "Eagle" in New York harbor during the Revolutionary War.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Aug. 13 (AP)—Marvin Bass, a sprawling fellow they call "Big Moose," probably will be tapped by his alma mater this week to become the next head football coach at the College of William and Mary.

Bass is currently the school's line coach. He would fill the shoes left vacant by the sudden resignation last Saturday of R. N. (Rube) McCray. CINCINNATI, Aug. 13 (AP) —Cincinnati's long, lean and lanky Ewell Blackwell and righthander Howie Fox teamed in a twi-night doubleheader tonight for a double kayo of the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-0, 7-1. Red Sox Leave Doerr At Home

Veteran 2nd Sacker Is Reported Ailing

BOSTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Veteran second baseman Bob Doerr was left home tonight as the Boston Red Sox began their final long road trip — 16 games — of the season, five games out of first place.

Doerr has been in bed several days with a sacroiliac condition. He may rejoin the team Friday in Washington but probably won't be able to play.

Thus the Sox, selected by many before the season to win the American League pennant, left on their trip with one spare infielder, Fred Hatfield. Lou Boudreau is nursing a fractured hand and will be out for a couple more weeks.

The Sox just completed a 21 game home stand with an 11-10 record and must play better than .500 ball on the road or sag so far off the pennant race they won't be able to recover.

They will play three games against the Athletics in Philadelphia, three at Washington, then three at St. Louis, two at Chicago, a pair in Cleveland against the Indians, and a three game series at Detroit.

Iowan Is Leader In Jaycee Golf

George Clark's 69 Tops Field By Stroke

DURHAM, N. C., Aug. 13 (AP)—Seventeen-year-old George Clark of Ottumwa, Iowa, playing in the third threesome from the end, came home in the twilight today with a brilliant 33-36—69 to lead the first qualifying round of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce National Junior Golf Tournament.

His one-under par tour of the 6,660-yard Hope Valley Country Club course finally wrested away the lead from big Kent McLachlan of Vancouver, Wash., member of the Oregon team, who, seven and one half hours earlier, posted a 34-36—70 to apparently clinch the first day lead.

Sharing third place with 71s, two off the pace were Charlie Strack of York, Pa., who flew in today and played the course without any practice, and Don McLaughlin of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Five threats at 72 included Bob Schoener of Allentown, Pa., whose outgoing 33 matched Clark's front nine, but the Pennsylvanian fell off to 39 coming home.

Thirteen tied at 73, including the defending champion, Eddie Merrins of Meridian, Miss., who followed a par 35 with a three-over 38.

The field of 210 swarmed over the course for almost 13 hours in 90-degree temperatures. Heavy rain shortly after midnight made the course play long.

Another 18-hole round tomorrow will cut the field to 128 for the first round of match play on Wednesday morning.

Cleveland Fans Enjoying Case Of Pennantitis

Indians Are Swamped With Ticket Orders

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13 (AP) — Clevelanders by the hundreds of thousands were enjoying the most serious case of pennant-itis today since the Indians grabbed the flag in 1948.

Al Lopez
Indians

With the first place Tribe riding a 10-game winning streak—longest in 10 years—it was hard to get into an extended conversation on any subject but baseball in restaurants, bars, and barbershops.

Over last weekend a total 119,147 went through the turnstiles at the stadium.

The Indians' ticket office is so swamped with advance orders that a fifth telephone operator was hired, and Cleveland's first year manager, Al Lopez, said "for the first time, most of my mail from fans is complimentry."

Autograph Hunters Busy

Down at the Municipal Stadium, a crowd of about 1,000 autograph hunters and the merely curious was stacked around the gate yesterday after the game just for a glimpse of such players as Dale Mitchell, or Larry Doby or Mike Garcia.

A bartender named Lloyd Culp in Eastlake, O. is growing a beard which he won't shave off until they clinch the pennant, or until the first game next year.

Culp made this arrangement with a competing bartender, Tommy O'Toole, a New York Yankee fan. If the Indians win, he gets $400.

Now sporting a three-inch bush, Culp is drinking coffee out of a mustache cup, but his wife, Ellen, says: "no sacrifice is too great for the Indians."

"Frankly," said Culp, "I didn't like this business of firing Lou Boudreau and hiring Lopez as manager. Now I think it was the smartest thing the Indians ever did."

The Indians management got a lot of beefs from people who felt that way for about a month and a half after Boudreau was fired. Many of them swore they would never go to another Cleveland game.

"But the Boudreau issue is dead now," said an Indians' spokesman, thankfully.

Ticket Sales Skyrocket

Nate Dolin, the stadium director for the Indians, said business really shot upwards after the Indians moved into first place last week.

"We sold 51,000 tickets on Saturday, 40,000 for the game that night and 11,000 in advance sales. That's more in one day than any club has ever done anywhere. The crowd Saturday night against the White Sox was 70,600, our second largest of the season," he said.

"And the sale on future games with New York and Boston is terrific."

Pen-Mar Loop Teams Will Play Two Games

Kenneth Robertson, secretary of the Pen-Mar Baseball League, last night announced that two rained out games have been rescheduled for this week.

Wellersburg will play at Klondyke today at 5:30 p. m.

Zihlman will tangle with Wellersburg at the latter place Saturday at 4 p. m.

Women Golfers Vie For Trophy

Women golfers of the Cumberland Country Club will play for the Elsa Lichtenstein trophy in the annual handicap tournament set for today at 10 a. m.

The qualifying round of the women's fall tournament also is scheduled to get under way today. Players will be required to qualify by August 20.

August Eichhorn Succeeds Woodson As Bruce Mentor

Orville Jackson Gets Flintstone Post; 40 At LaSalle Meeting

Robert E. "Bob" Pence will remain as football coach at Allegany High School and will not accept the position of grid and cage mentor at George Washington High School at Alexandria, Va., it was announced last night by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of Allegany County public schools.

Announcement came out of Alexandria, Va., on Friday, August 3, that Pence had been named football and basketball coach at the Virginia school.

Pence informed Superintendent Kopp that he had accepted the Virginia offer in a verbal agreement and then changed his mind and decided to remain at the Campobello school where he had tutored football teams for five seasons. AHS teams have engaged in 50 games since Pence took over the reins in 1946 and have won 29, lost 17 and played four ties.

Eichhorn Succeeds Woodson

Superintendent Kopp also announced that August "Augie" Eichhorn, of Lonaconing, has been transferred from Flintstone High School to Bruce High School, Westernport, where he will succeed Coach Walter E. "Woody" Woodson, resigned.

Eichhorn is a graduate of Central High School, Lonaconing, and the University of Maryland. He made his debut as soccer coach at Flintstone High School last fall and tutored the baseball team there this spring.

Augie excelled in basketball when he attended Central High and was a track star at College Park.

Before he resigned as a member of the faculty at Bruce to accept employment at the Hercules Powder Company, Woodson coached basketball, soccer and baseball at Bruce High School.

Eichhorn's place at Flintstone will be taken by Orville Jackson, former Frostburg athlete, Kopp announced. Jackson will take over the duties of soccer coach in the fall.

40 Report At LaSalle

Approximately 40 candidates for LaSalle High School's football team attended a meeting at Carroll Hall last night. A coach has not been named but Phil Carolan, former Explorers' mentor, agreed to send the squad through its initial workouts. A light drill is scheduled for 2 p. m. today at Community Park. No equipment has been issued. Brother Joseph, director of athletics, attended last night's session.

700 "Musicians" Accept Invite To Ebbets Field

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (INS)—A musical monstrosity invaded Ebbets Field for free tonight and made more noise than a Dodger rhubarb with an umpire.

It was all part of a musical appreciation—or depreciation—gimmick rigged up by the Brooklyn management that provided free admissions for those who carried their musical instruments in the ball park.

The musicians, with or without union cards from Local 802, were placed in the left field section of the park, there to compete with the "sweet" refrains of the Dodger "Sym-Phony," a little group which blares away regularly from behind first base.

Some 700 musicians and would-be musicians, toting trumpets, violins, clarinets, saxophones and the like, streamed through Gate "M."

Dodger President Walter O'Malley got the musical bug in a recent row with the union over the Brooklyn Sym-Phony. It seems two members of that talented crew were union men and were performing at the ballyard without remuneration.

All was made serene, however, when the two unionists retired from the band and were replaced by non-union lads.

And while the Dodgers and Braves went through their baseball paces this humid August night, there was much more than the usual amount of hootin' and tootin' from the stands. Music lovers just had to make the best of things.

Harridge To Hear White Sox Protest

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (INS) — American League President Will Harridge today called a meeting for Aug. 27 to iron out the dispute over the Yankee-White Sox game on July 27 which was called because of rain, giving New York a 3 to 1 victory.

Harridge said he invited to the conference Casey Stengel, Yanks' manager; Paul Richards, managing Chicago's White Sox, and the four umpires who worked the game. The meeting will be held at the American League offices.

The quarrel is over Umpire Hank Soar's decision to call the game, played in New York, at the end of the eighth inning. The White Sox went into the top of the ninth trailing 3 to 1. Then Chicago drove in three runs to lead 4 to 3 and loaded the bases with only one out.

Soar called time because of rain and an hour later called the game on the score at the end of the eighth.

Bass May Get Job McCray Gave Up At William And Mary

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Aug. 13 (AP)—Marvin Bass, a sprawling fellow they call "Big Moose," probably will be tapped by his alma mater this week to become the next head football coach at the College of William and Mary.

Bass is currently the school's line coach. He would fill the shoes left vacant by the sudden resignation last Saturday of R. N. (Rube) McCray. McCray and basketball coach Barney Wilson resigned as college officials probed alleged "tampering" with high school transcripts to make athletes eligible for admission.

(To enter William and Mary, a high school student must graduate in the upper half of his class of an accredited secondary school.)

McCray indicated he would recommend Bass to succeed him.

Hits By Rice, Davis, White Win In Eighth 2nd Game Wednesday

Successive singles by Joan Rice, Dallas Davis and Margie White in the 8th inning produced the run that gave Rice's Grocery a 5-4 decision over Lover's Leap in the opener of the best-of-five series for the championship of the Queens Softball League yesterday at Stitcher Field.

Lover's Leap had knotted the count in the last of the 7th, forcing the game into an overtime stanza.

Rosalie Bowers, Rice's pitching ace, limited Lover's Leap to two hits—a double by Virginia Stratton and a single by Clara Kreigline.

The Grocery girls walloped the offerings of Hite and Betsy often for 12 safeties, including four two-base hits. Wanda True paced the attack with three hits in four trips while D. Rice, Bowers and Rice accounted for two hits each.

Musial Holds 19-Point Lead

Stan's Average .368, Campanella On Spree

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP) — With seven weeks to go, St. Louis' Stan Musial has opened up a 19-point lead on the Phils' Richie Ashburn in the National League batting race.

Musial's average through Sunday was .368. Ashburn tumbled eight points during the week to .349, only five points ahead of Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson at .344.

The big man of the week was Roy Campanella, Brooklyn catcher, who moved up six points to .334 for the only gain among the top ten. Campanella had nine hits, including four homers, at Ebbets Field.

Johnny Wyrostek of Cincinnati, tied with Campanella last week, dropped to .321. Then came Al Dark of New York, .319 and Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh, .316. Carl Furillo and Pee Wee Reese of Brooklyn tied for eighth at .315 and Harry Lowrey of St. Louis had .310.

Gil Hodges of Brooklyn regained the home run lead with his 32nd off New York's Jim Hearn. Kiner did not add to last week's total of 31 homers. Monte Irvin of New York remained first with 86 runs batted in, while Kiner led with 93 runs scored, Ashburn with 162 hits and Sam Jethrope of Boston with 25 stolen bases.

Gus Bell of Pittsburgh and Dark were joined by Wyrostek and Ted Kluszewski, also of Cincinnati, in a tie for most doubles, 26. Bell also tied Musial for most triples, nine.

Although Preacher Roe went his second straight week without a win, the Dodger lefthander still topped the league with his 15-2 record. Dodger Don Newcombe was first with 119 strikeouts.

Fox, Blackwell Master Pirates

CINCINNATI, Aug. 13 (AP) —Cincinnati's long, lean and lanky Ewell Blackwell and righthander Howie Fox teamed in a twi-night doubleheader tonight for a double kayo of the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-0, 7-1. Fox blanked the Bucs on five hits in the opener and hit a homer along with Ted Kluszewski for the two Redleg runs. Blackie had a one-run one-hitter going until he surrendered three singles in the ninth. Box:

Red Sox Leave Doerr At Home

Veteran 2nd Sacker Is Reported Ailing

BOSTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Veteran second baseman Bob Doerr was left home tonight as the Boston Red Sox began their final long road trip — 16 games — of the season, five games out of first place.

Doerr has been in bed several days with a sacroiliac condition. He may rejoin the team Friday in Washington but probably won't be able to play.

Thus the Sox, selected by many before the season to win the American League pennant, left on their trip with one spare infielder, Fred Hatfield. Lou Boudreau is nursing a fractured hand and will be out for a couple more weeks.

The Sox just completed a 21 game home stand with an 11-10 record and must play better than .500 ball on the road or sag so far off the pennant race they won't be able to recover.

They will play three games against the Athletics in Philadelphia, three at Washington, then three at St. Louis, two at Chicago, a pair in Cleveland against the Indians, and a three game series at Detroit.

Iowan Is Leader In Jaycee Golf

George Clark's 69 Tops Field By Stroke

DURHAM, N. C., Aug. 13 (AP)—Seventeen-year-old George Clark of Ottumwa, Iowa, playing in the third threesome from the end, came home in the twilight today with a brilliant 33-36—69 to lead the first qualifying round of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce National Junior Golf Tournament.

His one-under par tour of the 6,660-yard Hope Valley Country Club course finally wrested away the lead from big Kent McLachlan of Vancouver, Wash., member of the Oregon team, who, seven and one half hours earlier, posted a 34-36—70 to apparently clinch the first day lead.

Sharing third place with 71s, two off the pace were Charlie Strack of York, Pa., who flew in today and played the course without any practice, and Don McLaughlin of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Five threats at 72 included Bob Schoener of Allentown, Pa., whose outgoing 33 matched Clark's front nine, but the Pennsylvanian fell off to 39 coming home.

Thirteen tied at 73, including the defending champion, Eddie Merrins of Meridian, Miss., who followed a par 35 with a three-over 38.

The field of 210 swarmed over the course for almost 13 hours in 90-degree temperatures. Heavy rain shortly after midnight made the course play long.

Another 18-hole round tomorrow will cut the field to 128 for the first round of match play on Wednesday morning.

Allegany Insulation downed South End A.A. 12-5 at Taylor Field. Toar Speir had four of the winners' hits, one being a home run. P. Lewis, Lisanti and Barham had two hits each for South End.

Three postponed games will be played off by Allegany Insulation this week. Morris Wholesalers will be met today at Locust Grove, Trozzo's at Narrows Park, Wednesday, and the Amvets, Friday, at Allegany.

Undergarment forfeited to Trozzo's Spots yesterday at Community Park. Scores:

Cleveland Fans Enjoying Case Of Pennantitis

Indians Are Swamped With Ticket Orders

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13 (AP) — Clevelanders by the hundreds of thousands were enjoying the most serious case of pennant-itis today since the Indians grabbed the flag in 1948.

Al Lopez
Indians

With the first place Tribe riding a 10-game winning streak—longest in 10 years—it was hard to get into an extended conversation on any subject but baseball in restaurants, bars, and barbershops.

Over last weekend a total 119,147 went through the turnstiles at the stadium.

The Indians' ticket office is so swamped with advance orders that a fifth telephone operator was hired, and Cleveland's first year manager, Al Lopez, said "for the first time, most of my mail from fans is complimentry."

Autograph Hunters Busy

Down at the Municipal Stadium, a crowd of about 1,000 autograph hunters and the merely curious was stacked around the gate yesterday after the game just for a glimpse of such players as Dale Mitchell, or Larry Doby or Mike Garcia.

A bartender named Lloyd Culp in Eastlake, O. is growing a beard which he won't shave off until they clinch the pennant, or until the first game next year.

Culp made this arrangement with a competing bartender, Tommy O'Toole, a New York Yankee fan. If the Indians win, he gets $400.

Now sporting a three-inch bush, Culp is drinking coffee out of a mustache cup, but his wife, Ellen, says: "no sacrifice is too great for the Indians."

"Frankly," said Culp, "I didn't like this business of firing Lou Boudreau and hiring Lopez as manager. Now I think it was the smartest thing the Indians ever did."

The Indians management got a lot of beefs from people who felt that way for about a month and a half after Boudreau was fired. Many of them swore they would never go to another Cleveland game.

"But the Boudreau issue is dead now," said an Indians' spokesman, thankfully.

Ticket Sales Skyrocket

Nate Dolin, the stadium director for the Indians, said business really shot upwards after the Indians moved into first place last week.

"We sold 51,000 tickets on Saturday, 40,000 for the game that night and 11,000 in advance sales. That's more in one day than any club has ever done anywhere. The crowd Saturday night against the White Sox was 70,600, our second largest of the season," he said.

"And the sale on future games with New York and Boston is terrific."

Pen-Mar Loop Teams Will Play Two Games

Kenneth Robertson, secretary of the Pen-Mar Baseball League, last night announced that two rained out games have been rescheduled for this week.

Wellersburg will play at Klondyke today at 5:30 p. m.

Zihlman will tangle with Wellersburg at the latter place Saturday at 4 p. m.

Women Golfers Vie For Trophy

Women golfers of the Cumberland Country Club will play for the Elsa Lichtenstein trophy in the annual handicap tournament set for today at 10 a. m.

The qualifying round of the women's fall tournament also is scheduled to get under way today. Players will be required to qualify by August 20.

August Eichhorn Succeeds Woodson As Bruce Mentor

Orville Jackson Gets Flintstone Post; 40 At LaSalle Meeting

Robert E. "Bob" Pence will remain as football coach at Allegany High School and will not accept the position of grid and cage mentor at George Washington High School at Alexandria, Va., it was announced last night by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of Allegany County public schools.

Announcement came out of Alexandria, Va., on Friday, August 3, that Pence had been named football and basketball coach at the Virginia school.

Pence informed Superintendent Kopp that he had accepted the Virginia offer in a verbal agreement and then changed his mind and decided to remain at the Campobello school where he had tutored football teams for five seasons. AHS teams have engaged in 50 games since Pence took over the reins in 1946 and have won 29, lost 17 and played four ties.

Eichhorn Succeeds Woodson

Superintendent Kopp also announced that August "Augie" Eichhorn, of Lonaconing, has been transferred from Flintstone High School to Bruce High School, Westernport, where he will succeed Coach Walter E. "Woody" Woodson, resigned.

Eichhorn is a graduate of Central High School, Lonaconing, and the University of Maryland. He made his debut as soccer coach at Flintstone High School last fall and tutored the baseball team there this spring.

Augie excelled in basketball when he attended Central High and was a track star at College Park.

Before he resigned as a member of the faculty at Bruce to accept employment at the Hercules Powder Company, Woodson coached basketball, soccer and baseball at Bruce High School.

Eichhorn's place at Flintstone will be taken by Orville Jackson, former Frostburg athlete, Kopp announced. Jackson will take over the duties of soccer coach in the fall.

40 Report At LaSalle

Approximately 40 candidates for LaSalle High School's football team attended a meeting at Carroll Hall last night. A coach has not been named but Phil Carolan, former Explorers' mentor, agreed to send the squad through its initial workouts. A light drill is scheduled for 2 p. m. today at Community Park. No equipment has been issued. Brother Joseph, director of athletics, attended last night's session.

700 "Musicians" Accept Invite To Ebbets Field

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (INS)—A musical monstrosity invaded Ebbets Field for free tonight and made more noise than a Dodger rhubarb with an umpire.

It was all part of a musical appreciation—or depreciation—gimmick rigged up by the Brooklyn management that provided free admissions for those who carried their musical instruments in the ball park.

The musicians, with or without union cards from Local 802, were placed in the left field section of the park, there to compete with the "sweet" refrains of the Dodger "Sym-Phony," a little group which blares away regularly from behind first base.

Some 700 musicians and would-be musicians, toting trumpets, violins, clarinets, saxophones and the like, streamed through Gate "M."

Dodger President Walter O'Malley got the musical bug in a recent row with the union over the Brooklyn Sym-Phony. It seems two members of that talented crew were union men and were performing at the ballyard without remuneration.

All was made serene, however, when the two unionists retired from the band and were replaced by non-union lads.

And while the Dodgers and Braves went through their baseball paces this humid August night, there was much more than the usual amount of hootin' and tootin' from the stands. Music lovers just had to make the best of things.

Harridge To Hear White Sox Protest

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (INS) — American League President Will Harridge today called a meeting for Aug. 27 to iron out the dispute over the Yankee-White Sox game on July 27 which was called because of rain, giving New York a 3 to 1 victory.

Harridge said he invited to the conference Casey Stengel, Yanks' manager; Paul Richards, managing Chicago's White Sox, and the four umpires who worked the game. The meeting will be held at the American League offices.

The quarrel is over Umpire Hank Soar's decision to call the game, played in New York, at the end of the eighth inning. The White Sox went into the top of the ninth trailing 3 to 1. Then Chicago drove in three runs to lead 4 to 3 and loaded the bases with only one out.

Soar called time because of rain and an hour later called the game on the score at the end of the eighth.

Rinehart Given State Race Post

Gets 6-Year Term At $3,000 Salary

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 13 (AP)—D. Eldred Rinehart, Washington county farmer and horseman, today was named to the State Racing Commission.

The state house announced the long-awaited appointment by Governor McKeldin.

Rinehart replaces Wilbur R. Dulin of Anne Arundel County for a six-year term at an annual salary of $3,000.

Rinehart, 47, has been active in Western Maryland Republican circles for some time.

For six years he has been president and general manager of the Agriculture and Mechanical Association of Washington County, sponsor of the county fair and its half-mile track at Hagerstown.

That post had delayed Rinehart's appointment, McKeldin said last winter the Smithsburg fruit grower was his choice for a commission vacancy. But he consented to hold up the actual appointment until the close of Hagerstown's 10-day meeting. It ended last Saturday.

Rinehart also has served four years as president of the Washington County Farm Bureau.

The appointment was McKeldin's first to the three-man commission that supervises flat and harness racing in Maryland. The governor did elevate Frank Small, Jr., to the chairmanship two weeks ago. H. Courtenay Jenifer, now the lone Democrat in the group, resigned as chairman but will continue as a member until his term expires in 1953.

Dulin, a Democrat, had agreed to stay on until Rinehart became available. Then state senator from Anne Arundel county, he was put on the agency two years ago after Stuart Janney, Baltimore county sportsman, resigned at the height of a state house wrangle over racing legislation.

Bob Samuels of Houston, Tex., first baseman on Brandeis University's baseball team, is a pre-rabbinate student.

Rinehart Given State Race Post

Gets 6-Year Term At $3,000 Salary

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 13 (AP)—D. Eldred Rinehart, Washington county farmer and horseman, today was named to the State Racing Commission.

The state house announced the long-awaited appointment by Governor McKeldin.

Rinehart replaces Wilbur R. Dulin of Anne Arundel County for a six-year term at an annual salary of $3,000.

Rinehart, 47, has been active in Western Maryland Republican circles for some time.

For six years he has been president and general manager of the Agriculture and Mechanical Association of Washington County, sponsor of the county fair and its half-mile track at Hagerstown.

That post had delayed Rinehart's appointment. McKeldin said last winter the Smithsburg fruit grower was his choice for a commission vacancy. But he consented to hold up the actual appointment until the close of Hagerstown's 10-day meeting. It ended last Saturday.

Rinehart also has served four years as president of the Washington County Farm Bureau.

The appointment was McKeldin's first to the three-man commission that supervises flat and harness racing in Maryland. The governor did elevate Frank Small, Jr., to the chairmanship two weeks ago. H. Courtenay Jenifer, now the lone Democrat in the group, resigned as chairman but will continue as a member until his term expires in 1953.

Dulin, a Democrat, had agreed to stay on until Rinehart became available. Then state senator from Anne Arundel county, he was put on the agency two years ago after Stuart Janney, Baltimore county sportsman, resigned at the height of a state house wrangle over racing legislation.

Bob Samuels of Houston, Tex., first baseman on Brandeis University's baseball team, is a pre-rabbinate student.

MT. SAVAGE CHAMPS GET TROPHY—George D. McGann, second from left, is shown presenting trophy to Manager Ralph E. Dickel, of the Town team which won both halves of the split season schedule in Mt. Savage Little Baseball League. The trophy presentation exercises were held Sunday at Mt. Savage. Those in the picture, left to right: FRONT ROW—Roger Frankenberry, Paul Dickel and Gerard McGann. BACK ROW—Gerald Walsh, President McGann, Manager Ralph E. Dickel, George Bishields, Danny Williams and Paul A. Dickel, assistant manager, standing back of Williams.

This will be the third year for the Barter Theater to appear in Keyser. It will start with the first show on Thursday, November 1, when a comedy, "Light Up the Sky," by Hart and Kauffman, will be presented. Petticoat-Pants Game Is Planned By Playground

Keyser Group To Hold Spelling Bee

KEYSER, W. Va.—The program and grounds committees of the East End Playground, Armstrong Street Extended, are ready for introduction of two outstanding and unusual programs on the playground this week.

The first event, a baseball game tonight between the women and men, promises to be an hilarious feature. Roy Hartman will be captain of the men's team, and the women will be piloted by Mrs. Oren Brown.

Women players will wear men's clothing and the men have been told they must wear women's apparel. All righthanded men must bat left handed and left handers bat from the right side, and the women have won an additional handicap of forcing the men to hop the base paths instead of running, if they hit the ball.

Losers of this event must pay a penalty of buying soft drinks for the victors. The feature event is billed as the "Petticoat-Pants" baseball game.

The second feature will be presented Thursday evening, when an old fashioned spelling bee will be held, followed by an old fashioned box supper. The playground group has extended a welcome to citizens of Keyser and McCoole and visitors will be welcome to enter the contest of spelling big and little words.

Joseph Stanislawzyk will be the announcer for the preliminary event and will select the words for a group of elementary school children setting the pattern for the older entrants, who will receive their words from Miss Jeannette McGuffie, supervisor for the Mineral County Schools. Prizes will be awarded.

At the conclusion of the "bee," W. O. Borror will conduct an auction in which the box lunches will be sold to highest bidders. Women of the group will prepare the boxes and the man who purchases a box will share the contents with the woman who prepared it.

For those who do not enter into the box lunch treats, there will be hot dogs, tonic, home made ice cream and cake on sale. There will also be a "talking machine" on the ground for the amusement of all.

Petticoat-Pants Game Is Planned By Playground

Keyser Group To Hold Spelling Bee

KEYSER, W. Va.—The program and grounds committees of the East End Playground, Armstrong Street Extended, are ready for introduction of two outstanding and unusual programs on the playground this week.

The first event, a baseball game tonight between the women and men, promises to be an hilarious feature. Roy Hartman will be captain of the men's team, and the women will be piloted by Mrs. Oren Brown.

Women players will wear men's clothing and the men have been told they must wear women's apparel. All righthanded men must bat left handed and left handers bat from the right side, and the women have won an additional handicap of forcing the men to hop the base paths instead of running, if they hit the ball.

Losers of this event must pay a penalty of buying soft drinks for the victors. The feature event is billed as the "Petticoat-Pants" baseball game.

The second feature will be presented Thursday evening, when an old fashioned spelling bee will be held, followed by an old fashioned box supper. The playground group has extended a welcome to citizens of Keyser and McCoole and visitors will be welcome to enter the contest of spelling big and little words.

Joseph Stanislawzyk will be the announcer for the preliminary event and will select the words for a group of elementary school children setting the pattern for the older entrants, who will receive their words from Miss Jeannette McGuffie, supervisor for the Mineral County Schools. Prizes will be awarded.

At the conclusion of the "bee," W. O. Borror will conduct an auction in which the box lunches will be sold to highest bidders. Women of the group will prepare the boxes and the man who purchases a box will share the contents with the woman who prepared it.

For those who do not enter into the box lunch treats, there will be hot dogs, tonic, home made ice cream and cake on sale. There will also be a "talking machine" on the ground for the amusement of all.

Adams Reunion Set

KEYSER, W. Va.—The 17th annual reunion of the Adams family of this area will be held next Sunday at the K of P Grounds in Burlington. Notice has been sent to the known members of the clan by Guy C. Adams, president. Others connected with the family, through relationship, and friends of the members are asked to attend.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13—(INS)—Tall, dark and romantic looking Rory Calhoun stars in "The Way Of A Gaucho"—absolutely and positively the final announcement from 20th about the star of the technicolor special to be filmed in Argentina.

Jimmy Durante

First, it was for Tyrone Power before he developed an allergy for costume pictures. Then, Dale Robertson was elected. But when the chips were down, Phillip Dunne, the producer and the other bosses, decided Rory was more on the Latin side.

So now Rory takes over the "Gaucho" assignment and Dale replaces him in "Return Of The Texan."

Jimmy Durante goes straight in "Baby Needs Shoes." I mean, as straight as the schnozz can make it.

He plays a pianist at the Metropolitan in a sort of wistful, heart-tugging interpretation of a real artist who would like to be a vaudevillian. Can't you just see what Jimmy will do to this part? He'll moiderrr it.

Jane Powell, the star, plays the youngest opera singer at the Met, giving her a chance to shine in several lovely arias. It's for MGM, of course.

If there is to be no dancing in Rita Hayworth's picture—how come there are some quiet negotiations afoot to borrow Roland Petit from Howard Hughes?

Petit is the male star of "The Ballet De Paris" and was put under contract to RKO at the same time Renee Jeanmarie and many other members of the troupe were signed, en masse, by RKO.

I get it straight that Petit is being sought not only to dance with Rita—but he may wind up as leading man in place of Glenn Ford.

Nancy Kelly replaces Faye Emerson on TV while Faye is in Europe, surprising, because Nancy seldom wears those deep V gowns. There's nothing wrong with her acting, however,—and that's probably why she won out over all the busty-belles who wanted the job.

Nancy closed in her Broadway hit "Season In The Sun" Saturday night and will make a flying trip to the coast before taking over the Emerson show.

When Faye returns from Europe, Nancy returns to the stage in a new play, "Twilight Park."

Opening August 16 of the $44-million Delaware Memorial Bridge, sixth longest span in the world, ends one of the worst ferry bottlenecks on eastern seaboard's north-south traffic routes. The new span bridges a mile of water with towers rising 437 feet to support a four-lane roadway high above the largest ocean-going vessels. Engineers and workmen of U. S. Steel's American Bridge Company planned and labored a year-and-a-half to erect the mighty structure using 40,000 tons of steel to replace the Newcastle Ferry shown here at the height of a Sunday traffic snarl. Opening ceremonies, with governors of Delaware and New Jersey attending, dedicate the bridge to World War II dead of the two states.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Are "zany" comedians really funny?

Answer: Presumably anything is funny that makes people laugh, but the current immense popularity of a type of comedian who bears almost no resemblance to a reasonable human being is of special interest to the psychologist, who is himself usually "not amused." If the aim of humor is "escape," what people who love this type of humor are attempting to escape from would appear to be the terrible responsibility that faces any really thinking person today. Perhaps they are lucky to be able to lay down this burden and stop thinking, at least for the duration of a television program.

Must we choose between repression and revenge?

Answer: No, writes Dr. Karen Horney in the American Journal of Psychoanalysis. Your inevitable reaction toward a person who has frustrated or hurt you will be to feel "vindictive" toward him — that is, want to make him suffer in return. Yet it is equally undesirable for you either to repress this desire (at the cost of inner conflict) or to try to satisfy it by revenge, which generally will recoil against you. Psychoanalysis offers a way out of the dilemma through helping you overcome the original vindictiveness in some such way as by realizing that the offender did not understand what he was doing.

Can "crazes" be explained?

Answer: There are two facts which may come close to accounting for them. Most people, particularly adolescents, suffer from inexplicable feelings of frustration which prompt them to grasp at almost any promised satisfaction. And again, most people crave a feeling of security and find it in "doing what everybody else does." The average woman wants to be attractive and desirable, but is not sure that she knows how, so that on the basis of these two trends she can be "stampeded," first by being told she should wear short skirts, and then by the "craze" for long ones.

Most people, particularly adolescents, suffer from inexplicable feelings of frustration which prompt them to grasp at almost any promised satisfaction. And again, most people crave a feeling of security and find it in "doing what everybody else does." The average woman wants to be attractive and desirable, but is not sure that she knows how, so that on the basis of these two trends she can be "stampeded," first by being told she should wear short skirts, and then by the "craze" for long ones.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUCS" BAER

The women could win the next election by two million votes. If they spoke to each other.

• — • — •

You know that no woman bothered to sign the Declaration of Independence. What good is it without alimony?

• — • — •

Which indicates that women are smarter than men. They fool all of them some of the time and some of them all of the time. That's not a bad average for any of the time.

• — • — •

How about the general shape of things? Even that will be an improvement. There will be more curves on the graphs.

• — • — •

Franco has been asked to street himself by Don Juan of Castile. So far, no soap.

• — • — •

Don Juan has been in political escrow so long his meerschaum pipe is coloring him. He thinks it is again about time for the Hapsburg shovel chin to be throwing up sand bottom.

• — • — •

The Don sent Franco a sharp little open post-card criticizing his reign. The intrepid letter carrier delivered it on the end of a broom.

• — • — •

The dictator's answer was neither yes or no. It was just a loud roar. So the Don will let it reign.

Why do chiggers have to bite during vacation time? It's hard enough now to get the country out of the red.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Is it bad eye-sight that accounts for the over-done make-up that you see too many women wearing? Certainly male preference isn't responsible—polls show that colleges and men's clubs overwhelmingly turn thumbs down on a trumped-up appearance. And, as every woman knows, artificiality will gain you nothing from other women but censure.

Much Too Much

The worst of it is that most of the women who are guilty usually are completely unaware of their lack of discretion. It's just that their eyes become so accustomed to a delicate swish of rouge that they feel the need of a little more for a greater effect—and then, not so long thereafter, a little more again. The same is true of what starts out as a delicate blond rinse—or any other aid to beauty. Eventually, circles of purple rouge and masses of brassy hair seem as natural to the jaded eyes as Nature's own coloring.

There's a sure cure, though. Just wear dark glasses around the house for ten minutes and then scrutinize your appearance in a window with north light. Use this Powers Girl quiz to discover whether what you see indicates that you are a natural-looking beauty or one who needs to revise her techniques:

1. Does your foundation look darker, lighter, or heavier than the skin at the base of your throat? If it does, you are the loser. The texture and color of your skin must look as though it belongs to you—not to the local beauty parlour. Match your foundation to the color of your skin and apply it in an invisible film—then you'll be the gainer.

2. Does your color appear to come from within? If not, your rouge shade is too dark or your blending is at fault. Nobody—not even you—should be able to tell where your rouge starts and stops!

3. Is your powder showing? Then switch to a medium weight in a color that matches your foundation. Press it on your face liberally; allow it to "set"; then remove every vestige with a clean cotton ball. Unseen, enough will remain to give your skin a velvet look.

4. Is your lipstick neat? Practice until it is.

As Others See You

5. Is your eye make-up noticeable? You're not on the home stretch until you learn to apply your eye cosmetics so that no one can tell you use them!

6. Does your hair look freshly shampooed, dressed, and groomed? That's 100% perfect—unless it is tinted. Then, look again! Is the shade unnatural looking—too black, red, or brassy? Then seek correction from the top expert in your town. It's of top importance to you!

Look at yourself with fresh, wide-open eyes. Then you'll be seeing yourself with the same clarity that others see you!

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

We are indeed thankful for the many floral tributes, the help rendered in the home, the Women of the Moose, cars donated and to thank Rev. Charles I. Krotz, Jr., for his services.

The Family

The family of George M. Shahan wish to thank our many friends for their sympathy and the floral tributes sent. Also grateful appreciation for the kindness of Rev. W. R. Keefe, Jr., of the Grace Baptist Church and Mr. Kight of the Kight Funeral Home.

His wife, Mrs. G. M. Shahan
Step-daughters, Mrs. Thelma Rice and Mrs. Harold Bell.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Bernard (Barney) Smith, who died Three years ago August 14, 1948.

He never thought when leaving home,
That he would never return,
That he so soon in death would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.

We are indeed thankful for the many floral tributes, the help rendered in the home, the Women of the Moose, cars donated and to thank Rev. Charles I. Krotz, Jr., for his services.
The Family

The family of George M. Shahan wish to thank our many friends for their sympathy and the floral tributes sent. Also grateful appreciation for the kindness of Rev. W. R. Keefe, Jr., of the Grace Baptist Church and Mr. Kight of the Kight Funeral Home.
His wife, Mrs. G. M. Shahan
Step-daughters, Mrs. Thelma Rice and Mrs. Harold Bell.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Bernard (Barney) Smith, who died Three years ago August 14, 1948.

That he would never return,
That he so soon in death would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.

Railway Smoke Violations To Be Discussed

Terminal Meeting Planned Today

Results of smoke observations on local railroads during July, which records indicate are the worst in many months, will be discussed at today's Cumberland Terminal Meeting.

Chester T. Williams, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, will be chairman for the meeting scheduled at 1:30 p. m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Results of 37 observations on the Western Maryland last month showed 29 "clear stacks", seven partial violations and one bad violation.

June Violations Cited

In June, the railroad had only three partial violations marked against it and a like amount in May.

The 254 Baltimore and Ohio Railroad observations resulted in 206 "clear stacks", 38 partial violations and 10 bad violations.

The number was only one more partial violation than was recorded against the railroad in June, but in that month, there were no bad violations.

In May, the B. and O. had 29 partial and four bad violations.

W. M. Stresses Care

The Western Maryland last month reported, following a slight rise in partial violations, that it has sent letters to the crews of the engines, telling them to be more careful of partial violations.

Officials added that the carrier would continue to keep after the partial violators.

Baltimore and Ohio officials asked for all available data on partial violations so that immediate investigations might be undertaken.

A sharp decrease in the time limits now allowed for locomotives has been recommended by Charles Z. Heskett, author of the ordinance and a member of the department's advisory board.

Pointing out that the law now defines as a nuisance No. 2 smoke "for a period in excess of eight minutes or more in any period of 30 minutes after said locomotive is in or ready for service", Heskett recommended that the word "eight" be changed to "one".

FAIRGO GETS SPRUCED UP—Ray VanMeter, who is operating a motorized lawn mower, is shown getting the grass at Fairgo in tip-top shape for the 34th annual Cumberland Fair. The agricultural exposition will be held all next week, Monday through Saturday. Agricultural, horticultural, live stock, poultry and pet stock exhibits will be included in the annual fair. VanMeter is only one of many workers who are busy getting everything in readiness for the annual event.

Jap Surrender Anniversary Observance Set

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will have special ceremonies in conjunction with its regular meeting tonight to mark the sixth anniversary of the surrender of the Japanese, ending World War II.

Commander Thomas B. Finan will call upon several members of the post to make special remarks on the occasion. The regular meeting at the Post Home, 206 Harrison Street, begins at 8 o'clock tonight.

On August 14, 1945, Japan surrendered unconditionally asking the Allies for assurance Hirohito might remain on the throne. The Allies specified that he submit to the supreme allied commander and his future status be determined by free election.

Actually September 2 has been designated as V-J Day because it was on that date in 1945 that Japan signed formal articles of surrender on the U. S. Battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay.

Kaylor Opposes Leasing State Lands To Oil, Gas Concerns

Says Wells Could Ruin Garrett Co.

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 13 (AP) — Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the Department of Forests and Parks, does not want oil and gas rights on state-owned properties leased to "big out-of-state companies or speculators."

The Board of Public Works is now considering a request to lease state lands in Garrett County.

The request came from former State Senator George H. Williams of West Virginia and L. Harold Sothoron, former Democratic Senator from Prince George's County in Maryland. They were acting for an unidentified syndicate which owns 32,000 acres in West Virginia and holds some rights on private land in Maryland.

Kaylor said today that "speculators" could "ruin Garrett County." He added big concerns with no interest in the area other than oil and gas might allow wells to flood, "smearing around pollution."

"This would be a deterrent to vegetation and make the county unsuitable for recreation," Kaylor said.

And recreational facilities, he said, are Garrett County's biggest potential industry. "They could be a very lucrative business."

Parts of West Virginia and other states have been ruined by big companies and speculators when they were "uncontrolled," he added. Kaylor doubted local governments could keep control of the gas and oil companies. But he said he would not oppose giving rights to local people.

This move "just popped up like a balloon," Kaylor declared. The state owns 90,000 acres of land in Garrett County, but none of it is in the region presently drilled for gas.

Pastor's Wife Still Critical At Keyser

Suffered Electric Shock At Home

Mrs. L. A. Steele, wife of the pastor of First Methodist Church, Keyser, W. Va., who was nearly electrocuted Monday in a freak accident at her home, remained in "critical" condition at Potomac Valley Hospital late last night.

She was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition, police said, following injuries suffered about 1 p. m. when she was knocked to the porch floor from a ladder as she came into contact with a live wire.

The woman was standing on a step ladder, police added, at her home, 86 South Main Street, cleaning the walls and ceiling. She lost her balance, and as the ladder moved she reached out and grabbed the electric wire. Her hand became fast to the wire and when the ladder fell, the weight of her body broke the hold and she fell to the porch.

Passersby noticed the accident and removed her to the lawn and later rushed her to the hospital.

Goins Released From Custody In Robey Death

Michigan Driver Hit Victim Near Rawlings

Paul E. Goins, Detroit, Mich.. who was driving the vehicle that struck Wheeler A. Robey, 75, Danville, Saturady night on Route 220 three miles south of Rawlings, was released from Allegany County jail yesterday afternoon after investigation by the State's Attorney.

Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, said that investigation to date did not disclose enough gross negligence on the part of Goins to warrant his confinement.

Subject To Recall

Goins was released subject to recall pending further investigation, Fletcher stated.

Goins was being held in Allegany County jail pending action of the State's Attorney's office in connection with the death of Robey, who died in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., Sunday morning, after the accident.

State Police said the elderly building contractor was struck by an automobile driven by Goins.

Prior to the accident, Goins was fined $10 and costs in Keyser by Justice of the Peace Madelyn Bazzel on a charge of assaulting his brother-in-law, Arthur Trenton, Detroit, formerly of Keyser.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said Robey died of a fractured skull and intercranial hemorrhage.

Police Give Account

Trooper A. M. Spioch, investigating the mishap, said Robey alighted from an automobile operated by Frank Rhodes, of New York, visiting in Cumberland, and started across the highway and was hit. He failed to regain consciousness.

The victim was a native of Petersburg, W. Va., and was the son of the late Benjamin F. and Eliza Catherine Powell Robey. He had resided in the Rawlings and Danville section for 20 years.

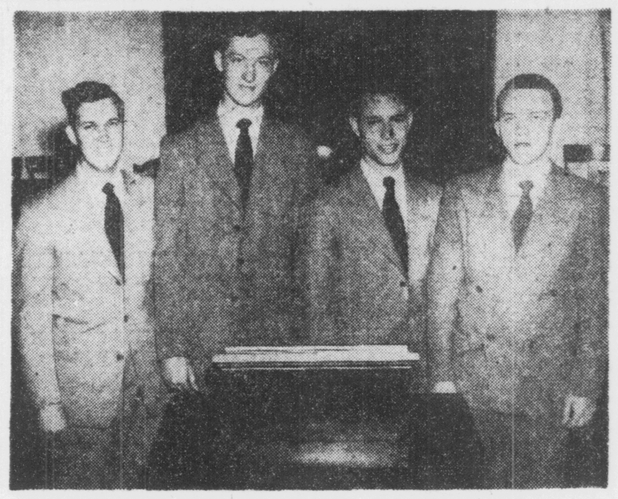
Surviving are a brother, Conrad J. Robey, Rawlings; and three sisters, Mrs. Ida Cooper, Davis, W. Va.; Mrs. Stella Smith and Miss Victoria Robey, both of Rawlings.

The body is at the Rogers Funeral Home, Keyser. A service will be held today at 2 p. m. (EST) in Mount Hebron Church near Maysville, W. Va. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Seeks Permit

Dennis Sylvester Broadwater, trading as Elda, RFD 5, Braddock Road, yesterday filed an application with the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners for a beer and wine license.

Noah Beeman To Face Murder Charge In Fatal Penknife Stabbing Of Young Wife



AMBASSADORS' QUARTET—The First Brethren Church will hold a fellowship program tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church, Fourth and Seymour Streets, and will present the Ambassadors' Quartet, sponsored by Brethren Youth Inc. Shown above are Robert Keplinger, Dayton, Ohio, Phil Lersch, Ashland, Ohio, Harold Barnett, Lost Creek, Ky., and Lyle Lichtenberger, Elkhart, Ind.

Rites For Victim To Be Held Today

A murder charge will be filed today against Noah Earl Beeman, 24, in the fatal penknife stabbing of his 18-year-old wife early Sunday in Frostburg.

The State's Attorney's Office said a warrant charging Beeman with murder will be issued this morning. Beeman's wife, Mrs. Donna L. Beeman, will be buried this afternoon.

Authorities added that the investigation is "nearly complete" with the questioning of several witnesses yesterday. Beeman was quoted as saying he had been drinking before stabbing.

Girl Stabbed Twice

State Police Trooper First Class William F. Baker said Beeman stabbed his wife twice with a three-inch penknife after a family argument at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Airhart, Railroad Street, Frostburg.

Baker reported that Beeman came to the Airhart home, where his wife resided, at about 12:30 a. m. Sunday and accused her of "running around."

The slain girl's father said the argument which ensued erupted into a fight. He declared he came into the room to find his daughter and Beeman struggling on the floor, with Mrs. Airhart trying to pull Beeman away by the hair.

Mrs. Beeman, stabbed through the heart and lung, escaped and ran outside, where she collapsed. Frostburg police arrived and found her dead, then arrested her husband.

Warrant Not Served

A 13-year-old sister of the victim ran to summon a neighbor, Mrs. Ruth Thomas, who said she held Beeman at bay with an empty rifle until police arrived.

Yesterday, relatives voiced bitter criticism of a constable's failure to serve a 19-day-old warrant for Beeman's arrest. Mrs. Beeman obtained a warrant July 24 charging him with assault. Magistrate James Carter of Frostburg said he turned it over to Constable William Twigg, who had not returned it at the time of the slaying.

At Beeman's request, Baker and Deputy Sheriff William Chappell took the handcuffed prisoner to the Durst Funeral Home in Frostburg yesterday to view his wife's body. Baker said Beeman broke into tears as he left. He will not attend the funeral today.

Brethren Church To Sponsor Quartet At Fellowship Event

The First Brethren Church, Fourth and Seymour Streets, will present a fellowship program tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock featuring the Ambassadors' Quartet, sponsored by Brethren Youth, Inc.

Rev. Milton M. Robinson, pastor, announces a full program is being planned and the music will include Negro spirituals, mountain ballads, instrumental numbers, solos, duets, and Gospel quartet numbers.

A playlet depicting scenes from the life of Paul with music and staging will also be featured. Colored slides showing Ashland College in Ohio, the conference, camp and other denomination interests are included on tomorrow night's program.

Plans and programs of the denomination will be discussed as well as posters and other material to explain the work will be available.

The Ambassadors' Quartet is sponsored by Brethren Youth Inc. with headquarters at Ashland College, Ashland, Ohio, and is a project of the Brethren Youth Board. Members of the quartet include Robert Keplinger, Dayton, Ohio, Phil Lersch, Ashland, Ohio, Lyle Lichtenberger, Elkhart, Ind., and Harold Barnett, Lost Creek, Ky.

Meyers To Make Second Bid For Bail Reduction

Hearing Today In Baltimore

Counsel for George A. Meyers, Maryland Communist Party boss now awaiting trial on conspiracy charges, will ask for reduction of his bail at a hearing today in Baltimore.

Meyers, 38-year-old Lonaconing native and former Cumberland labor leader, faces a charge of conspiring to advocate the forcible overthrow of the government.

Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut will hear arguments for lower bond for Meyers and two others snagged last week in an FBI roundup of Communists and Red suspects. They are Roy Wood, party chairman in the District of Columbia, and Maurice Braverman, Baltimore attorney who FBI agents said had frequently appeared in behalf of Communists.

Bond Set At $75,000

Their bond was set at $75,000 each, but their counsel argued this was too much. U. S. Attorney Bernard J. Flynn, however, took the position that high bail was necessary to insure their appearance in court.

Judge Chesnut last week refused to grant an immediate reduction in bail, after noting that "facilities of travel have improved" since the drafting of the Eighth Amendment which prohibits excessive bail.

He added that $75,000 may not be excessive under the circumstances. He did indicate, however, that he may consider reduction of bail after today's hearings.

Agree To Trial

Meanwhile, two of three others picked up by the three-state FBI dragnet have agreed to trial in Baltimore.

Flynn reported that Mr. and Mrs. Philip Frankfeld have signed removal papers from Cleveland and are en route to Baltimore. Frankfeld, 44, was arrested in New York, and his wife, Regina, 41, in Cleveland.

Frankfeld is a former state chairman of the Maryland Communist Party, and the FBI said his wife also held party office in Baltimore. Meyers succeeded Frankfeld when Frandfeld was transferred to Cleveland early this year.

Mrs. Dorothy Rose Blumberg, 47, a former treasurer and education director in the party's Baltimore headquarters, has refused to sign removal papers from New York, where she was arrested. She will be given a hearing August 23 in Brooklyn.

Salvation Army Official Will Reenter Navy

Lt. A. L. McAbee, who has been in charge of the Virginia Avenue Outpost, Salvation Army, since April of this year, will report for active duty in the U. S. Navy September 10 at Washington, D. C.

He served as commanding officer of Salvation Army Corps in Tulsa, Okla., Griffin, Ga., Florence and Birmingham, Ala., before taking up his duties here. He also had three months in public speech and social work in Macon, Ga., earlier this year.

Lt. McAbee attended public grade school and high school and is a graduate of Mercer University in Macon. During World War II he served with the U. S. Navy for three years with 27 months in the Pacific and five months in the Atlantic.

Contingent Fund May Determine 1952 Levy Boost

Auditor Prepares Budget Figures

The size of next year's Contingent Fund may determine whether this city makes use of a five cent boost in its operating levy authorized by the General Assembly.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday afternoon that Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, is now busy preparing figures on the budget as a result of a meeting held yesterday morning.

The tentative budget reached yesterday, he said, will be presented to the Mayor and Council Thursday morning and, if agreed upon, will be prepared into an ordinance.

Action Expected Monday

Mayor Post said action on the budget ordinance is expected Monday at 10 a. m. at a regular meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Declining to elaborate on the amounts decided upon, Mayor Post said the department requests and expectable income are now "fairly close to being balanced."

When asked if the City plans to use the extra five cents authorized, he said it was "possible."

It all depends, Mayor Post said, upon the size of the Contingent Fund the Council wants to carry.

Deadline Is Set

Deadline for the passage of the levy ordinance is this Friday a week.

Last week, requests totaling some $66,000 more than the city can hope to collect for operating expenses were pared down to the $35,000 mark as the study reached the halfway mark.

Wage increases of $12 a month granted to members of the Police and Fire Departments by the General Assembly will take about half of the five cents additional operating tax levy authorized, officials pointed out.

Debt service next year is expected to cost about $236,717, or 37 cents on the tax rate.

This would mean that if the city uses the extra five cents, the present $1.28 tax rate would jump to $1.32.

Health Workers To Attend Area Sanitation Meet

J. B. Dowling Will Speak At Seminar

Four members of the City and County Health Department will attend the annual Interstate Sanitation Seminar to be held August 20 to 23 in Charlottesville, Va.

They are Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer; J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian; W. R. E. King, city sanitary officer, and Blaine Robinette, county sanitarian.

Dowling will be one of the speakers on the second day's program when he discusses water and sewage problems in rural and suburban areas.

He is expected to relate details of the concerted drive the Health Department, the State Roads Commission and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners conducted to curb the seepage of sewage upon state and county highways in this area.

Plans for the program are in charge of Virginia Health Department sanitarians and delegates will be housed at the University of Virginia.

One of the topics to be discussed is the part sanitation will play in the nation's Civil Defense plans.

During July, Dowling reported, sanitarians in the City and County Health Department made 276 field trips, including 43 investigations of sewage on private premises, eight investigations of private water supplies and seven school sewage inspections.

Inspections were also made of 69 food and drink establishments, 119 dairy farms and 13 pasteurization plants.

During the month, 71 conferences were held on sanitation problems.

The department said many of the 402 telephone calls received during July pointed to actual or potential health hazards.

Also slated for tonight's membership meeting is a report of wage and contract provisions provided in a pact reached July 15 between the local and the C. and P. Telephone Company.

Social events of the fall season will also be announced at the meeting.

Membership cards for 1951-52 will be distributed tonight.

On Thursday, stewards of the local will attend a meeting in the UAW-CIO Hall in Hagerstown.

Copies of the new by-laws of the local are being printed and will be distributed to all members in the next few weeks, Slemmer said.

Railway Smoke Violations To Be Discussed

Terminal Meeting Planned Today

Results of smoke observations on local railroads during July, which records indicate are the worst in many months, will be discussed at today's Cumberland Terminal Meeting.

Chester T. Williams, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, will be chairman for the meeting scheduled at 1:30 p. m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Results of 37 observations on the Western Maryland last month showed 29 "clear stacks", seven partial violations and one bad violation.

June Violations Cited

In June, the railroad had only three partial violations marked against it and a like amount in May.

The 254 Baltimore and Ohio Railroad observations resulted in 206 "clear stacks", 38 partial violations and 10 bad violations.

The number was only one more partial violation than was recorded against the railroad in June, but in that month, there were no bad violations.

In May, the B. and O. had 29 partial and four bad violations.

W. M. Stresses Care

The Western Maryland last month reported, following a slight rise in partial violations, that it has sent letters to the crews of the engines, telling them to be more careful of partial violations.

Officials added that the carrier would continue to keep after the partial violators.

Baltimore and Ohio officials asked for all available data on partial violations so that immediate investigations might be undertaken.

A sharp decrease in the time limits now allowed for locomotives has been recommended by Charles Z. Heskett, author of the ordinance and a member of the department's advisory board.

Pointing out that the law now defines as a nuisance No. 2 smoke "for a period in excess of eight minutes or more in any period of 30 minutes after said locomotive is in or ready for service". Heskett recommended that the word "eight" be changed to "one".

Kaylor Opposes Leasing State Lands To Oil, Gas Concerns

Says Wells Could Ruin Garrett Co.

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 13 (AP) — Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the Department of Forests and Parks, does not want oil and gas rights on state-owned properties leased to "big out-of-state companies or speculators."

The Board of Public Works is now considering a request to lease state lands in Garrett County.

The request came from former State Senator George H. Williams of West Virginia and L. Harold Sothoron, former Democratic Senator from Prince George's County in Maryland. They were acting for an unidentified syndicate which owns 32,000 acres in West Virginia and holds some rights on private land in Maryland.

Kaylor said today that "speculators" could "ruin Garrett County." He added big concerns with no interest in the area other than oil and gas might allow wells to flood, "smearing around pollution."

"This would be a deterrent to vegetation and make the county unsuitable for recreation," Kaylor said.

And recreational facilities, he said, are Garrett County's biggest potential industry. "They could be a very lucrative business."

Parts of West Virginia and other states have been ruined by big companies and speculators when they were "uncontrolled," he added. Kaylor doubted local governments could keep control of the gas and oil companies. But he said he would not oppose giving rights to local people.

This move "just popped up like a balloon," Kaylor declared. The state owns 90,000 acres of land in Garrett County, but none of it is in the region presently drilled for gas.

Pastor's Wife Still Critical At Keyser

Suffered Electric Shock At Home

Mrs. L. A. Steele, wife of the pastor of First Methodist Church, Keyser, W. Va., who was nearly electrocuted Monday in a freak accident at her home, remained in "critical" condition at Potomac Valley Hospital late last night.

She was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition, police said, following injuries suffered about 1 p. m. when she was knocked to the porch floor from a ladder as she came into contact with a live wire.

The woman was standing on a step ladder, police added, at her home, 86 South Main Street, cleaning the walls and ceiling. She lost her balance, and as the ladder moved she reached out and grabbed the electric wire. Her hand became fast to the wire and when the ladder fell, the weight of her body broke the hold and she fell to the porch.

Passersby noticed the accident and removed her to the lawn and later rushed her to the hospital.

Goins Released From Custody In Robey Death

Michigan Driver Hit Victim Near Rawlings

Paul E. Goins, Detroit, Mich.. who was driving the vehicle that struck Wheeler A. Robey, 75, Danville, Saturady night on Route 220 three miles south of Rawlings, was released from Allegany County jail yesterday afternoon after investigation by the State's Attorney.

Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, said that investigation to date did not disclose enough gross negligence on the part of Goins to warrant his confinement.

Subject To Recall

Goins was released subject to recall pending further investigation, Fletcher stated.

Goins was being held in Allegany County jail pending action of the State's Attorney's office in connection with the death of Robey, who died in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., Sunday morning, after the accident.

State Police said the elderly building contractor was struck by an automobile driven by Goins.

Prior to the accident, Goins was fined $10 and costs in Keyser by Justice of the Peace Madelyn Bazzel on a charge of assaulting his brother-in-law, Arthur Trenton, Detroit, formerly of Keyser.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said Robey died of a fractured skull and intercranial hemorrhage.

Police Give Account

Trooper A. M. Spioch, investigating the mishap, said Robey alighted from an automobile operated by Frank Rhodes, of New York, visiting in Cumberland, and started across the highway and was hit. He failed to regain consciousness.

The victim was a native of Petersburg, W. Va., and was the son of the late Benjamin F. and Eliza Catherine Powell Robey. He had resided in the Rawlings and Danville section for 20 years.

Surviving are a brother, Conrad J. Robey, Rawlings; and three sisters, Mrs. Ida Cooper, Davis, W. Va.; Mrs. Stella Smith and Miss Victoria Robey, both of Rawlings.

The body is at the Rogers Funeral Home, Keyser. A service will be held today at 2 p. m. (EST) in Mount Hebron Church near Maysville, W. Va. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Noah Beeman To Face Murder Charge In Fatal Penknife Stabbing Of Young Wife

AMBASSADORS' QUARTET—The First Brethren Church will hold a fellowship program tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church, Fourth and Seymour Streets, and will present the Ambassadors' Quartet, sponsored by Brethren Youth Inc. Shown above are Robert Keplinger, Dayton, Ohio, Phil Lersch, Ashland, Ohio, Harold Barnett, Lost Creek, Ky., and Lyle Lichtenberger, Elkhart, Ind.

Rites For Victim To Be Held Today

A murder charge will be filed today against Noah Earl Beeman, 24, in the fatal penknife stabbing of his 18-year-old wife early Sunday in Frostburg.

The State's Attorney's Office said a warrant charging Beeman with murder will be issued this morning. Beeman's wife, Mrs. Donna L. Beeman, will be buried this afternoon.

Authorities added that the investigation is "nearly complete" with the questioning of several witnesses yesterday. Beeman was quoted as saying he had been drinking before stabbing.

Girl Stabbed Twice

State Police Trooper First Class William F. Baker said Beeman stabbed his wife twice with a three-inch penknife after a family argument at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Airhart, Railroad Street, Frostburg.

Baker reported that Beeman came to the Airhart home, where his wife resided, at about 12:30 a. m. Sunday and accused her of "running around."

The slain girl's father said the argument which ensued erupted into a fight. He declared he came into the room to find his daughter and Beeman struggling on the floor, with Mrs. Airhart trying to pull Beeman away by the hair.

Mrs. Beeman, stabbed through the heart and lung, escaped and ran outside, where she collapsed. Frostburg police arrived and found her dead, then arrested her husband.

Warrant Not Served

A 13-year-old sister of the victim ran to summon a neighbor, Mrs. Ruth Thomas, who said she held Beeman at bay with an empty rifle until police arrived.

Yesterday, relatives voiced bitter criticism of a constable's failure to serve a 19-day-old warrant for Beeman's arrest. Mrs. Beeman obtained a warrant July 24 charging him with assault. Magistrate James Carter of Frostburg said he turned it over to Constable William Twigg, who had not returned it at the time of the slaying.

At Beeman's request, Baker and Deputy Sheriff William Chappell took the handcuffed prisoner to the Durst Funeral Home in Frostburg yesterday to view his wife's body. Baker said Beeman broke into tears as he left. He will not attend the funeral today.

Brethren Church To Sponsor Quartet At Fellowship Event

The First Brethren Church, Fourth and Seymour Streets, will present a fellowship program tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock featuring the Ambassadors' Quartet, sponsored by Brethren Youth, Inc.

A playlet depicting scenes from the life of Paul with music and staging will also be featured. Colored slides showing Ashland College in Ohio, the conference, camp and other denomination interests are included on tomorrow night's program.

Plans and programs of the denomination will be discussed as well as posters and other material to explain the work will be available.

The Ambassadors' Quartet is sponsored by Brethren Youth Inc. with headquarters at Ashland College, Ashland, Ohio, and is a project of the Brethren Youth Board. Members of the quartet include Robert Keplinger, Dayton, Ohio, Phil Lersch, Ashland, Ohio, Lyle Lichtenberger, Elkhart, Ind., and Harold Barnett, Lost Creek, Ky.

Meyers To Make Second Bid For Bail Reduction

Hearing Today In Baltimore

Counsel for George A. Meyers, Maryland Communist Party boss now awaiting trial on conspiracy charges, will ask for reduction of his bail at a hearing today in Baltimore.

Meyers, 38-year-old Lonaconing native and former Cumberland labor leader, faces a charge of conspiring to advocate the forcible overthrow of the government.

Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut will hear arguments for lower bond for Meyers and two others snagged last week in an FBI roundup of Communists and Red suspects. They are Roy Wood, party chairman in the District of Columbia, and Maurice Braverman, Baltimore attorney who FBI agents said had frequently appeared in behalf of Communists.

Bond Set At $75,000

Their bond was set at $75,000 each, but their counsel argued this was too much. U. S. Attorney Bernard J. Flynn, however, took the position that high bail was necessary to insure their appearance in court.

Judge Chesnut last week refused to grant an immediate reduction in bail, after noting that "facilities of travel have improved" since the drafting of the Eighth Amendment which prohibits excessive bail.

He added that $75,000 may not be excessive under the circumstances. He did indicate, however, that he may consider reduction of bail after today's hearings.

Agree To Trial

Meanwhile, two of three others picked up by the three-state FBI dragnet have agreed to trial in Baltimore.

Flynn reported that Mr. and Mrs. Philip Frankfeld have signed removal papers from Cleveland and are en route to Baltimore. Frankfeld, 44, was arrested in New York, and his wife, Regina, 41, in Cleveland.

Frankfeld is a former state chairman of the Maryland Communist Party, and the FBI said his wife also held party office in Baltimore. Meyers succeeded Frankfeld when Frandfeld was transferred to Cleveland early this year.

Mrs. Dorothy Rose Blumberg, 47, a former treasurer and education director in the party's Baltimore headquarters, has refused to sign removal papers from New York, where she was arrested. She will be given a hearing August 23 in Brooklyn.

Contingent Fund May Determine 1952 Levy Boost

Auditor Prepares Budget Figures

The size of next year's Contingent Fund may determine whether this city makes use of a five cent boost in its operating levy authorized by the General Assembly.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday afternoon that Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, is now busy preparing figures on the budget as a result of a meeting held yesterday morning.

The tentative budget reached yesterday, he said, will be presented to the Mayor and Council Thursday morning and, if agreed upon, will be prepared into an ordinance.

Action Expected Monday

Mayor Post said action on the budget ordinance is expected Monday at 10 a. m. at a regular meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Declining to elaborate on the amounts decided upon, Mayor Post said the department requests and expectable income are now "fairly close to being balanced."

When asked if the City plans to use the extra five cents authorized, he said it was "possible."

It all depends, Mayor Post said, upon the size of the Contingent Fund the Council wants to carry.

Deadline Is Set

Deadline for the passage of the levy ordinance is this Friday a week.

Last week, requests totaling some $66,000 more than the city can hope to collect for operating expenses were pared down to the $35,000 mark as the study reached the halfway mark.

Wage increases of $12 a month granted to members of the Police and Fire Departments by the General Assembly will take about half of the five cents additional operating tax levy authorized, officials pointed out.

Debt service next year is expected to cost about $236,717, or 37 cents on the tax rate.

This would mean that if the city uses the extra five cents, the present $1.28 tax rate would jump to $1.32.

Bowman's Addition Beauty Queen Crowned

The coronation ceremony followed a parade through the community. Miss Robinette rode on a float with her runners-up, Miss Glenda Johnson and Miss Gloria Wilson, and two flower girls, Barbara Ann Greise and Sherry Shobe.

Corsages were presented to the queen and runners-up, and the queen also was awarded cash prizes totaling $50.

Russia To Attend Jap Treaty Parley

Decision May Mean Attempt To Block Pact

Gromyko To Head Soviet Delegation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Russia, after denouncing the proposed Japanese peace treaty, has given notice it will attend a 50-nation Japanese peace conference called in San Francisco Sept. 4 to sign it.

Moscow's decision foreshadowed a Soviet propaganda attempt to block the American-sponsored peace pact.

Barring an unexpected policy switch, Russia's delegation is expected to refuse to sign—but only after objecting to virtually every paragraph of the treaty draft.

The State Department, in announcing Russia's acceptance today, refused to speculate on whether it means an end to elaborately-laid plans for a brief five-day session, climaxed by a grand signing ceremony Sept. 8. It seemed inevitable, however, that Russian arguments would drag the conference beyond the closing deadline.

Gromyko To Head Delegation

In formal protest notes, Moscow has bitterly condemned the proposed treaty draft as illegal and a device for tying an "aggressive" satellite Japan to the United States.

Acting Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko will head the Russian delegation to the San Francisco meeting. Gromyko is filling in for Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky who reportedly is recovering from pneumonia.

Nearly 25 nations have already indicated they will attend. The Philippines, however, bitterly criticized the absence of reparations for its devastated country. India, likewise has voiced criticism of some sections.

The State Department reported in telling of Russia's acceptance today that a newly-revised draft, the third since March, is now being circulated to all interested governments, including Russia.

Text To Be Published Soon

No details were disclosed. But Press Officer Michael J. McDermott said the text would be published shortly.

The draft treaty so far places no restrictions on Japan's right to rearm. Presumably because of the Communist menace in the Far East.

Russia has especially denounced this. It said in a note to the State Department June 10:

"The government of the U.S.A., with the help of its occupation authorities, is in reality already carrying out a policy of restoring Japanese militarism."

Moscow in effect called for the United States to start all over in writing a treaty for Japan.

U. S. TV Exhibition Is Tempting Lure To German Reds

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—"It's wonderful. It's a marvel of technology and something we never thought to see."

Thus a German youth from Thuringia in the Russian occupation zone described his first glimpse of television today in free West Berlin.

The American-sponsored television exhibition, both in black-and-white and in color, proved a tempting lure to East German Communist youth, footsore and hoarse from their continuing festival in East Berlin.

President Truman, in his greeting to West Berliners for the television exhibition, told them that "the hearts of the free world are with you." Mr. Truman said the show, sponsored by the Economic Cooperation Organization, was aimed to demonstrate "how free men can work together for peace and prosperity."

No-Strings Aid For Spain OK'd By Senate Group

Committee Eliminates Criticism Of Franco

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved a no-strings $400,000,000 military and economic aid program for Franco Spain today and rejected a subcommittee's criticism of the Spanish dictatorship.

The subcommittee, which visited Spain and other European countries in June, had recommended the aid program on the condition the Spanish government "promote the freedoms cherished by the Spanish peoples."

But the full committee, before approving the subcommittee report, cut out the conditions and also struck out criticisms of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government.

The action was taken as the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees began a joint study of the administration's $8,500,000,000 foreign aid program.

Knowland Moves For Cut

During the day, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) moved to cut the total by $1,275,000,000. The House Foreign Affairs Committee has cut $651,000,000 from the total in sending its measure to the House.

Committee approval of the Spanish aid proposal apparently was influenced by a confidential staff memorandum which quoted Ambassador Stanton Griffis as saying in Madrid the Spanish have unlimited manpower but they could be "armed only with broomsticks at the present."

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Green (D-RI), had proposed that strings be attached to the Spanish aid. And the members had voiced these misgivings:

"Enigma" Pointed Out

"No one questions that Spain would be a useful ally in event of a Communist attack in Europe. Yet many people do question whether the acquisition of such an ally is worth the price that would be exacted by way of compromising the moral and spiritual values shared by the free nations of the Atlantic area.

"One of the enigmas that struck the subcommittee at it examined the Spanish situation was that any American assistance to Spain would in fact strengthen Gen. Franco, thereby reducing the likelihood that the Spanish people would regain such freedoms as those of religion, assemblage and press."

At Least 10 Die As Crashing Plane Hits Apartment House

Crashing Plane Sets Apartment Afire

Smoke pours from an apartment building at Seattle after it was set afire yesterday by a crashing B-50 bomber (hidden by smoke in left background.) In foreground near telephone pole, workers are carrying a stretcher. More than 10 persons were killed.

B-50 Explodes, Setting Seattle Structure Afire

Four-Engined Craft Crashes On Takeoff

SEATTLE, Aug. 13 (AP)—A roaring, four-engined B-50 bomber went suddenly out of control after a takeoff from Boeing Field today and smashed into a three-story hillside apartment house, bringing flaming death to more than 10 people.

Carrying 3,500 gallons of gasoline and 300 gallons of oil, the mammoth plane caught fire as she hit and turned a third of the 200-foot long building into a raging furnace.

There were 49 apartments and 67 tenants. How many actually died may not be known for hours. Six men, three of them Boeing Airplane Company test personnel, were aboard the plane.

Explosions Hamper Workers

Four hours after the crash, Fire Battalion Chief R. B. Rogers said nine bodies had been recovered and a tenth was being removed from the mass of twisted steel, tangled bedsprings and charred wood that marked the smouldering death scene. He said other bodies had been sighted but could not estimate the number.

Twice explosions drove workers away. An hour after the crash a fuel tank blew up and in another hour an unexplained gas explosion forced the men back.

The huge aircraft had gained only about 700 feet altitude when it nosed downward, then pivoted on one wing and piled into the apartment house. It made no radio report after takeoff. A tower of flame and smoke shot skyward immediately.

A Boeing official at the scene said three of the men aboard were Air Force personnel and three were Boeing employes. The firm's information office said it could not confirm that report immediately.

Ammunition Explodes

Witnesses said the four engines seemed to be functioning well when the plane started faltering.

One wing apparently struck the side of the main brick building of the brewery before the plane crashed. A scratch mark was visible across it. Then the B-50 continued about 150 feet up the hill before hitting the end of the apartment house. It apparently plowed into it nose first.

Firemen said they heard ammunition exploding in the burning wreckage long after the crash.

The apartments left in the building presented a scene of panic and disorder. There was overturned furniture. Windows were broken. Food was left on tables from which tenants fled in terror.

INCURABLY ILL—Sister Elizabeth Kenny (above), a leader in the fight against polio, told a reporter in Sydney, Australia, yesterday she is incurably ill and has little time left in this world. The famous nurse, who is 65, did not name the disease with which she has been stricken.

Tax Boost Plan Hits Low Income Groups Hardest

Senate Group Works On Version Of Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13. (AP)—A strong move was reported in the Senate Finance Committee today to knock out the individual income tax increase plan approved by the House, and shift the blow more to the lower income groups.

Committee members said they are studying a new proposal to raise personal income tax rates by three percentage points in all brackets. Some members predicted approval of this plan.

How Plan Would Work

It would work like this: In the lower income groups the present levy of 20 per cent on taxable income would be increased to 23 per cent. In much higher income groups, where, say, the present rate is 50 per cent, the rate would go up to 53 per cent.

The House-passed tax bill would increase actual payments—not the rates—by 12½ per cent all along the line.

Both plans would raise approximately the same amount—$2,850,000,000. The difference is in who pays the bill.

Under the new proposal the average couple with two children and a net income of $3,000 to $5,000 would pay 15 per cent more than at present, instead of the 12½ per cent increase in the House bill.

For the same family with $100,000 net income, the increase would be cut from 12½ per cent as provided in the House bill to 5½ per cent.

Works Behind Closed Doors

The Senate committee began working behind closed doors today to write its version of the new tax bill. Chairman George (D-Ga) said no definite decisions were reached, but said he hoped to have a bill ready for the Senate within two weeks.

The House measure would boost taxes a total of $7,200,000,000. In addition to personal income tax increases, it hikes corporate income levies and excise (sales) taxes on scores of products from automobiles to liquor.

Navy Helicopter Hits Power Line, Killing Two

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—A Navy helicopter hit a power line near here today and crashed in flames. Its two occupants were killed.

The tragedy came just a week after another helicopter from the same HU-1 squadron at Miramar Auxiliary Air Station crashed and burned, with the loss of two lives.

Nam Says U.N. Must Change Buffer Stand

Refuses To Offer Any Adjustments

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Aug. 14. (AP)—Allied and Communist armistice teams adjourned their 24th conference today after two hours and 40 minutes and agreed to meet again tomorrow.

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Aug. 14 (AP) — Allied delegates resumed Korean truce talks today under a Communist threat that they must change their attitude on a buffer zone or accept a prolonged deadlock.

The talks, now bogged down for 13 straight sessions on the issue of where to draw a demilitarized zone across Korea, resumed at 11 a. m. (9 p. m., EDT, Monday).

The Reds yesterday flatly turned down an Allied invitation to propose any adjustments in the United Nations demand for a buffer zone based on the present battle line. Most of this lies north of parallel 38.

Instead, the Reds insisted that the U. N. truce team discuss the Communist demand for a demarcation line along parallel 38. This is the old boundary between North and South Korea.

Pyongyang radio, 10 hours after yesterday's session, broadcast a statement by the chief Red delegate, North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, that the Allied delegation must change its attitude on the buffer zone issue or the conference will "not make any progress."

Talks Stalled Since July 27

The question of where to draw a buffer zone has deadlocked the talks since July 27. A total of 28 hours and 18 minutes has been consumed on the one subject, including one session where the negotiators sat for two hours and 11 minutes without saying anything.

Despite the failure to progress, the feeling persisted at U. N. advance headquarters that the Communists may still back down from their insistence on a buffer zone along the 38th parallel.

There was no indication that the U. N. delegation, headed by Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, would revise its stand for a defensible line along present battle positions. However, it was believed the Allies might consider a compromise if the Communists would meet them half way.

Short-tempered little Gen. Nam gave no hint Monday that the Reds would revise their stand. Frequently he used such words as "arrogant, absurd and self-contradictory" to describe the U. N. stand.

In effect he rejected in advance a conciliatory offer from Joy.

Joy Answers Nam's Questions

Joy opened the one-hour 20-minute Monday session by replying in detail to five questions submitted Sunday by Nam.

As soon as Joy finished, Nam picked up a previously prepared and translated paper which described Joy's answer as "not satisfactory," according to a U. N. communique.

Obviously, Nam had his rejection ready before he had heard what the senior U. N. delegate would say.

Joy had explained that the U. N. proposed buffer zone was given to the Reds to provide a "clear and concise" understanding of what the Allies wanted in a demilitarized zone.

Then Joy offered to compromise again and concluded by asking, "have you any adjustments to propose?"

Chevallier's Widow Charged With Murder

ORLEANS, France, Aug. 13 (AP)—Pretty Yvonne Chevallier was formally charged with murder today in the strange politics-conquers-love shooting of her young cabinet minister husband, Pierre.

Theoretically, dark-haired Mme. Chevallier, who is reported to be in her late 30s, faces the possibility of being guillotined. Actually French courts are apt to show great leniency in such a case.

Leniency is expected even if the investigation shows that her chief object of jealousy was not another woman but her husband's promising political career which was taking most of his time.

O'Mahoney Calls For More Taxes, Cut In Spending

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Less government spending and more taxes are needed if the country is going to lick inflation, Chairman O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) of the Congressional Economic Committee declared today.

O'Mahoney called his Senate-House group together to consider a warning from its staff experts that rising prices, increased inflation and three years of federal deficits may be by-products of the nation's giant defense program.

He failed to get a quorum of the committee, so the report was not acted on today. But O'Mahoney reported there appeared to be general agreement among the senators and representatives present that "inflation is the most serious threat to the position that this country is taking in the world."

"The American economy is the principal bulwark of the free world," O'Mahoney said, recalling the prediction of some experts that Russia is banking heavily on an American economic collapse in its cold war plans.

"This committee out to issue a report on the importance of preventing inflation from taking hold in this country by seizing every opportunity to reduce expenditures and to balance the budget by increased taxation," he said.

A Senate-House conference committee agreed today on an economy formula which they said would require a 10 per cent cut in current federal payrolls.

Macfadden Plans 'Chute Jump After His 83rd Birthday

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Bernarr Macfadden, 82-year-old physical culturalist, plans to make a parachute jump over Niagara Falls "within the next 10 days," a spokesman for the octogenarian said today.

The spokesman added that Macfadden plans to end his leap into the water below the falls.

"He (Macfadden) wants to know what it's like to go into the water," the spokesman said.

Macfadden had planned to make the parachute leap over the falls Aug. 18, two days after his 83rd birthday. But that depends on the weather, the spokesman said, "which should be right within the next 10 days."

India, Pakistan Pullback Asked

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 13 (AP)—United Nations Mediator Frank Graham was reported today to have suggested that India and Pakistan compromise by pulling some of their advance troops back in the dispute over Kashmir.

The reports circulated after Graham talked alone with Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru for 50 minutes.

While there is no confirmation, it is believed here that Graham made similar suggestions to Pakistani Premier Liaquat Ali Khan in an effort to ease the threat of war. Graham came here from Karachi.

A spokesman for Graham's mission would not answer questions about possible progress.

(Authoritative sources in Paris said the Big Three powers—the United States, Britain and France—may send a note to India and Pakistan urging they take it easy.)

'Ike's' Aide Says Help Of Germany 'Must' In Defense

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower's chief of staff has told congressmen behind closed doors that the help of Western Germany is "very close to being a must" in any successful defense of Western Europe.

Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther indicated before the House Foreign Affairs Committee recently that Eisenhower's North Atlantic defense planning is going forward on the assumption Western Germany will be brought into the European defense effort. His testimony was made public today.

Gruenther also said:

(1) He does not believe Russia can start another "Korean war" in Europe by using only satellite states.

(2) The Balkan satellites aren't strong enough to go to war except as units of a Russian army.

(3) An attack by Russia and her satellites on Yugoslavia might well start World War Three.

On Germany, Gruenther was asked this question by Rep. Merrow (R-NH):

"Do you think it would be possible to realize the objective that you have now set forth that Europe will be in a position to defend itself, without the integration of Western Germany economically and militarily into these plans?

Gruenther: "It is conceivably possible, but with the greatest of difficulty. I would say the participation of Germany comes very close to being a 'must.' x x x Naturally in our thinking we are going on the hypothesis that the inclusion of Germany obviously is a 'must.' We think it is very essential.

9 Saved, 20 Missing After Ship Abandoned

ROTTERDAM, Aug. 13 (AP)—Nine exhausted survivors of the Norwegian freighter Bess were rescued from the stormy North Sea tonight, 24 hours after the Bess was abandoned in a gale.

Radio messages received here said the bodies of two others, a man and a woman, were recovered. Twenty others of the 31 persons aboard the Bess still are missing.

Friendship Balloons Czechoslovakia-Bound

MUNICH, Germany, Aug. 13 (AP)—Two thousand balloons soared into the air toward Czechoslovakia tonight, carrying across the iron curtain messages of Western friendship for the Communist-ruled Czechs.

The balloons were sent up by the American Crusade for Freedom organization.

Bill Gives Reserves 30-Day Recall Notice

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—A House Armed Services subcommittee decided today to require by law that the services give military reservists plenty of advance notice before recall to duty.

The new reserve bill, now being written by the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Brooks (D-La), would require a minimum 30 days notice "unless military conditions as determined by the appropriate secretary do not permit."

Witnesses from the services and reserve associations conceded that the section would merely write out in law the present policy of the Defense Department.

Cadets, If Ousted, Must Register For Draft

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP) — Selective Service said today cadets dropped from the Military Academy at West Point must register for the draft within 30 days, if not already registered.

Those who entered the academy before they were 18 years old presumably are not registered. As cadets, they were in military service and not required to register.

Once the boys are out of West Point and registered, they will be subject to reclassification and, if placed in class 1-A, may be ordered for induction.

The spokesman estimated that, allowing time for appeal and for processing, this might take about 60 days.

"Hot Potato?" O'Conor's Handling Of Md. Crime Inquiry Under Fire

BALTIMORE, Aug. 13 (AP)—The only Baltimore Republican in the General Assembly contended today that Sen. O-Conor (D-Md) handled last week's Maryland crime investigation like a "hot potato."

Samuel Hopkins, Third District delegate who has been mentioned as a possible aspirant for the Republican nomination in the new Seventh Congressional District, said that among other things O'Conor failed to call witnesses about tieups between politics and crime.

The Senate committee headed by O'Conor completed testimony on Maryland crime last Thursday.

Speaking of O'Conor, Hopkins said in his statement:

"If I were running against him, I certainly would rake him over the coals. He has soft-pedaled everything to do with the relations between crime and politics.

"Of course, he was in a difficult position. As a former state's attorney, he might have had things come up which would ruin him completely.

"From some of the things, I've heard, I can understand that he might have thought twice before going in there with both fists flying. If you get people mad, they might start to tell on you."

"To Err Is Human" Haven In Catholic Colleges Offered 90 Accused Cadets

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman today offered 90 accused West Point cadets a haven in any of three Catholic men's colleges.

"To err is human, to forgive is divine," the Cardinal said in a statement.

He referred to the pending ouster of the 90 cadets, accused of academic cheating in the greatest scandal in West Point's 150 years.

The three colleges that are open to the cadets are Fordham University, Manhattan College and Iona College.

Of the three, only Fordham has any rank in collegiate football. Cardinal Spellman made no mention of athletics. But many of the accused cadets were members of Army's great grid team.

Fordham with about 10,000 students and Manhattan with 2,500 are in New York City. Iona is a small college in New Rochelle, N.Y., with about 1,300 students.

The Army at West Point said some of the involved cadets will leave the campus for home tomorrow. Each will have a final chance to talk things over with the academy superintendent, Maj. Gen. Frederick A. Irving.

Congress Hopes To Quit On Oct. 1

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP) — Democratic leaders began talking today about Congress going home in October. But it may be wishful thinking in the August heat.

There's still a mountain of work to be moved if Congress even makes a dent in the huge pile of bills introduced since Jan. 1.

To date, a total of 7,130 measures have been offered—5,130 in the House and 2,000 in the Senate. Only 115 of them have become law—that is passed by both houses and approved by the President.

Senate Democratic Leader McFarland (Ariz) told reporters after a White House conference with President Truman and top party leaders that he hopes to close shop on Oct. 1.

That would indicate the great bulk of the bills now pending will be left for the second session of the 82nd Congress next year—the big political year.

House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) wasn't as optimistic as McFarland. He said he had "no idea" when Congress would be able to quit work. He added he hopes the House will be in a position late next week to start a ten-day recess.

British Oil Plan Handed To Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 13 (AP) — Britain offered a guarantee tonight against any interference in Iranian affairs as part of her proposed agreement on the bitter oil nationalization dispute.

British Lord Privy Seal Richard Stokes handed a plan for joint operation of the rich South Iranian oil fields and huge Abadan refinery to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's negotiations but kept details secret.

The Briton told reporters, however, Britain had renewed her offer to turn over all assets of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company to the Mossadegh government and to abolish AICO "as such" in this country.

No immediate reaction came from the Iranians after the hour and a half meeting.

Iranian charges that the British government and AIOC have been a corrupting influence in the politics and economic life of the country have been a main root and cause of the extremist oil nationalization drive that flowered under Mossadegh.

Prince Drops Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13 (AP) — Prince Igor Troubetzkoy today ordered his attorney to drop his fight against Barbara Hutton's Mexican divorce in the hope he might effect a reconciliation with the dime store heiress.

The Lithuanian prince telephoned the instructions from Paris, said Attorney Melvin Belli of San Francisco.

That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Comfort-Loving TV Fan Uses Mirrors

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 13 (AP) —George W. Kister has figured out how to watch his living room television set while he's upstairs in bed.

He does it with mirrors—four of them.

The first one—about the davenport—reflects the program to a larger mirror above the fireplace. From there it goes to a mirror at the top of the stairs and then on to the fourth mirror in Kister's bedroom.

"It works swell," says Kister.

Man Spinster Says Raped Her Gets Life

TOWSON, Md., Aug. 13 (AP)—Two Baltimore County judges sentenced Norman Richard Strait of Prince George's County to life imprisonment today after they convicted him of attempting to rape a 72-year-old Hyattsville spinster.

The little old woman, as the state's principal witness, testified that Strait raped her after offering her a ride in his automobile last February 1.

Strait, a Prince George's County employe, testified that he never saw the woman until after she picked him out of a police lineup three days later.

Catherman's Business School

171 BALTIMORE STREET

CUMBERLAND, MD.

On August 17, 1951, Catherman's Business School will complete its thirty-fourth scholastic year.

In these years many thousands* of students have pursued its courses and subsequently found a demand for their service in this and other communities. In fact there has not been an unemployed Catherman graduate for seventeen years.

A Federal Government Investigator says: "Your school has an excellent reputation."

A Businessman says: "We favor Catherman students as we have always found graduates of this school very efficient and capable of handling the business entrusted to their care."

A Doctor says: "My secretary, who acquired her training at your school, well.....there just are no better!"

The cost is surprisingly little. Outside of your room and board, it equals about your first two months' salary. And your room and board can be earned while in school, if you wish.

May we give you further details? No obligation. Just fill out and return the attached coupon.

Chas. S. Catherman

* 482 students in calendar year 1950.

Mr. Catherman: Please send me details of your courses.

Indian Monkey Situation Tough

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The monkey situation in India is really tough, the House Foreign Affairs Committee disclosed today, what with each of the critters destroying about a dime's worth of grain every day.

The committee delved deeply into the monkey situation during hearings on the foreign aid bill. It wanted to know, among other things, why India, which recently got a grant of grain from the United States, doesn't curb the grain-destroying proclivities of its countless sacred monkeys.

Horace Holmes, an expert for the State and Agriculture Departments, supplied some of the answers.

Nobody knows how many monkeys there are in India, Holmes said, but "there are far too many," and they can ruin a grain field in nothing flat. What they don't eat, they destroy just for plain devilment—the destruction rate being ten cents per day per monkey according to best estimates.

Pfc. Ceglar To Be Reassigned

KEYSER, W. Va.—Pfc. Geraldine (Jerry) Ceglar, who has been visiting at her home in Keyser for the past week, will leave today for Lackland Air Base, San Antoine, Texas, for reassignment.

Pfc. Ceglar, who has been with the Women's Air Force for several months, received her diploma for the first stage of the dietition course at Camp Cooke, near Los Angeles, Calif., and was given a short furlough before entering upon her second course of duties.

Bus Goes In Lake; 34 Die

Red Festival Disenchants American; Calls It "Fake"

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—An American student who came here for the Communist world youth peace festival "to see whether it had anything constructive to offer for the cause of world peace" declared today that he was thoroughly disenchanted.

"The whole thing is a fake," he said. "And I think it has done more to divide East and West further than anything else."

The student, in his mid-twenties, refused to tell interviewers his name because he feared publicity might prejudice his chances of getting a teaching job in the United States when he finishes study for his doctorate at the University of Padua in Italy.

"Call me Vincent," he said, in an accent which sounded like a New Yorker's.

He said there were only about 40 Americans at the East Berlin festival, most of them recent arrivals. This contrasted sharply with Communist advance advertising that 500 Americans would show up.

"And," he added, "the other Americans came independently, as I did, and not as a delegation. They are mostly students living abroad or in Europe as tourists."

"Vincent" said he was not a member of the Communist Party but had been sympathetic with a lot of its aims.

However, he said, living two years in Europe, where he could see Communism in practice, had disabused him of most of these ideas.

"I observed for instance," he said, "that the Communist-inspired strikes in Italy actually lowered the standard of living of the workers instead of raising it. I have found that Communism has a lot of flaws."

Sister Kenny Incurably Ill

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 13. (AP) —Sister Elizabeth Kenny, a controversial figure for 40 years in the fight against polio, told reporters today she has an incurable disease and "I do not know how long I will live.

"There is no need for me to be sorry," she told a reporter for the Sydney Morning Herald in an interview in her hotel lounge. "I have done my work. My discovery has been recognized."

A Sydney Sun reporter said Miss Kenny, 65, looked ill but did not name the disease.

She plans to fly to the United States Thursday on the way to an international poliomyelitis conference in Copenhagen, Denmark. A nurse will go along.

War Hero Is Found Dead In Apartment

VEVAY, Ind., Aug. 13 (AP)—The body of Samuel Woodfill, one of the outstanding heroes of World War I, was found today in his apartment here.

The body was found by Sheriff Ora Scudder, who said Woodfill apparently died several days ago. The cause of death was not immediately determined but the sheriff said it probably was natural.

Woodfill won the Medal of Honor for leading an attack near Cunel, France, Oct. 12, 1918.

Food For Flood Victims

DUEBENDORF, Switzerland, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Swiss Air Force parachuted more than 2,000 pounds of bread today into the Calanca valley of Southeastern Switzerland for villages which are practically cut off from the outside world because of last week's floods.

Fears For Oatis' Life Expressed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Rep. Armstrong (R-Mo) told the House today he fears William N. Oatis will be killed within "a matter of weeks" unless released from a Czechoslovak prison.

Oatis, Associated Press correspondent at Prague, was sentenced to ten years on charges of espionage which the State Department denounced as a farce.

Armstrong said he received a cablegram from Ray Brock, free lance journalist now in Turkey, saying Oatis "is getting the full treatment and every brute cunning method of inquisition known to the dread Russian MVD—secret police—is being used to bring Mr. Oatis to the point of death."

Armstrong quoted the cablegram further:

"He (Oatis) is being subjected to solitary confinement in a small cell. There are endless questionings under blinding flood-lights, periodic beatings, the use of drugs, starvation and unspeakable indignities."

In the Senate, Sen. McCarthy read an identical message from Brock. McCarthy made no comment except to say he thought the Senate should hear it.

Thomas Jefferson employed a dozen men on his plantation to make iron rails.

Agricultural Program Set

The first step in taking the "agricultural pulse" of Maryland's three western counties was initiated at a meeting yesterday in the local office of the Production Marketing Administration.

Allegany, Washington and Garrett counties were represented at the session, presided over by Dudley C. Aist, administrative assistant of the Maryland PMA.

A program was set up at the meeting for future sessions to be held throughout the counties regarding policies of the Department of Agriculture. Dates and places of these meetings will be announced later.

The county get-togethers will be open to the public, and are designed to give the people what they want in agriculture policy. Charged with setting up the program in Allegany county is Albert O'Neal, chairman of the Allegany County Mobilization Committee.

Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, said anyone will be free to criticize the current policies of the Department of Agriculture at the meetings. At the same time, he added, suggestions will be welcome.

Two Area Men Enlist In U. S. Air Force

They are Charles W. Stafford, RFD 2, Williams Road, and William E. Ellifritz, 35 Potomac Street, Ridgeley.

Commissioner Long Defends Police, Fire Promotions

Following a discussion of the method used in promoting members of the Cumberland Fire Department, on order by Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long naming Walter W. Hartman as lieutenant was passed by the Mayor and City Council yesterday.

When the order drawn by Long was read, Mayor Thomas S. Post commented that "There is too much favoritism and politics in promotions".

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick said he was in accord with Mayor Post's statement. Tederick said he believed some method more equitable should be used.

Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said that the promotion procedure of men in both the Police and Fire Departments followed in the past probably will be the pattern for the future, and that he expects no change until a system he suggested some time ago is adopted.

Under this system employes of the city would qualify for a certain minimum salary upon being hired. Then during a three-year period they would be classified as to their ability and if satisfactory they would achieve the maximum salary at the end of the period.

This would be an incentive for all employes to make themselves better qualified in their work and would benefit both the worker and the city taxpayer, Buchholtz said.

Long said he has used the most fair method he could devise in deciding upon men to be promoted. One-third of the consideration is based on seniority of the man in question, one-third for his standing in Civil Service Commission tests, and one-third on the recommendation of the chief of the department.

Long said each chief has to have men to work with he regards as efficient and most cooperative.

"I don't know any better way in which to do it," Long said.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner, said she thought that the men being considered for promotion should be from the top of the Civil Service lists, and that consideration should not start at the bottom of the list and work upwards to somewhere in the middle.

Long replied that Hartman was at the top in seniority, among the top men on the Civil Service list and had the recommendation of the fire chief. He also commented that Mrs. Roeder has made appointments in personnel of the City Recreation Department with the statements that it was upon the recommendation of Mr. Hoey (Edwin F. Hoey, recreation director).

Long added, "If you can give me any fairer way to decide such appointments I will be happy to listen."

At the end of the discussion the matter was put to a vote and unanimously passed.

Christie Road Man Gets Prison Sentence

A 20-year-old Christie Road man pleaded guilty yesterday in Circuit Court to violating his parole and Associate Judge George Henderson imposed the original sentence.

He is Raymond G. Everitt, who had been tried and pleaded guilty to a forgery charge when arraigned July 28, 1950. At the time, he was sentenced to a period not to exceed two years in the Maryland State Reformatory. However, the sentence was suspended and a two-year parole granted.

In January of this year, Everitt was charged in Federal Court in Baltimore with pilfering a money order from a mail box here.

Everitt served almost six months in the Federal Reformatory in Petersburg, Va., and then was brought to the Allegany county jail to face the parole violation.

Tryout with the Dodgers

Brooklyn stars Carl Furillo (right) and "Preacher" Roe have given cigarettes a tryout. Carl says, "I made the mildness tests I've read about. My own 30-day Camel test sold me. Camels have swell flavor—and they're mild!"

"The Preach" agrees: "I've tried a lot of brands and Camel is my choice."

Make the one sensible cigarette mildness test. Smoke only CAMELS for 30 days!

There's one sensible, thorough way to test a cigarette for mildness—give it a steady tryout. Smoke only Camels for 30 days—enjoy Camel's rich, full flavor—and compare Camels for mildness.

Not On The Must List

If Congress wants a September adjournment, it can get away from Washington before October 1 by completing action on (1) the 1951 tax bill, already passed by the House, (2) the foreign aid authorization bill, not yet considered in either house, (3) all of the regular appropriation bills. Senate Majority Leader McFarland has told his colleagues that if this "must program" is completed, he has assurance from the President that Congress will not be called back into session before its regularly scheduled meeting in January.

It caused no surprise that the must list omitted the President's proposals for further revision of the price control law, and particularly for reinstatement of the livestock quota system—which McFarland himself had voted to abolish. Nor was there any astonishment that civil rights measures were given no place on the program. The President is expected to hold his fire on these and other Fair Deal objectives until the 1952 election is nearer at hand.

What did cause surprise was the failure to schedule as a "must" the additional legislation needed to institute universal military training. The framework for UMT was provided by the draft extension bill signed by the President on last June 19. That measure says the system is to come into effect whenever the President or Congress finds that manpower needs of the armed forces can be met without further drafting under the Selective Service system.

But there is one essential condition: Congress must first have approved general legislation to safeguard the health, welfare, safety, etc. of the trainees. Recommendations for such legislation are now being framed by the National Security Training Commission, whose members were confirmed by the Senate last June 29. The commission is under instruction to report to Congress within four months—that is, before the end of October. And the Armed Services committees are under instruction to report bills on the basis of the Commission's recommendations within 45 days thereafter.

These elaborate arrangements, which were designed to insure final action before the end of 1951, now appear likely to fail of their purpose. UMT seemed close to achievement at the height of the Korean campaign last spring, but may now be as far away as before the Reds invaded South Korea.

The Mikado Now

The Treaty of Versailles, ending World War I, provided in Article 227 for the trial of Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany "for a supreme offense against international morality and the sanctity of treaties." The peace treaty with Japan, scheduled to be signed at San Francisco on September 4, contains no similar article with respect to the Japanese emperor. Hirohito sits as securely on his throne as he did on the day of the Japanese surrender, August 14, 1945, though he is now a constitutional monarch and no longer the "god-emperor" of his people.

The Tokyo government seemed more concerned for the fate of the emperor in the closing days of World War II than with the fate of the empire. It offered surrender on August 11, 1945, on the basis of the Potsdam declaration, but "with the understanding that the said declaration does not comprise any demand which prejudices the prerogatives of his majesty as a sovereign ruler." The Allies replied that, from the moment of the surrender and until a peace treaty was signed, the emperor's authority would be subject to the supreme allied commander (MacArthur); the emperor would issue such orders as would be required by the supreme commander to give effect to the surrender terms.

Nationalist China and Australla had wanted to "hang Hirohito." Russia and Britain left it to the United States. Washington saw a supreme advantage in using the emperor's authority with the Japanese people and the imperial armed forces to ease the difficulties of the surrender and the subsequent occupation of Japan. Experience has confirmed the wisdom of that policy as opposed to the World War I policy of "Hang the Kaiser."

Incidentally, the former ruler of Germany died peacefully at his estate at Droon, Holland, on June 4, 1941. He had fled across the border shortly before the German surrender. The project to put him on trial quickly came a cropper when the Dutch government rejected a demand of the Allies that it deliver Wilhelm into their hands.

Flowers On Hiroshima

Over Hiroshima a lone B-26 bomber dropped two wreaths and baskets of loose flowers. It opened its bomb bay doors at the spot where, six years before, the first atomic bomb had fallen on the unsuspecting Japanese city and had almost wiped it out in one tremendous searing blast. This flight recalled that earlier one. The falling flowers were meant for the victims and the wreaths wre intended to express a hope for peace.

No one could say that there was anything out of place in this ceremonial act carried out by an American crew in an American plane. The people of Hiroshima had planned a day-long observance of this anniversary, and surely they are entitled to remember the unforgettable tragedy that struck them on August 5, 1945.

There must have been many in Hiroshima who could hardly bear to watch the B-26 circle above them, though they were aware it carried nothing to do harm. They know from horrible experience that only one plane, if it is charged with delivering an atomic bomb, can snuff out thousands of lives in an instant, cripple thosuands of bodies, turn a whole city into a blazing ruin.

Rise In UC Reserves

Rising employment in the last fiscal year had a marked effect on the unemployment compensation reserves of the states through increasng income and reducing payments. Figures for the year ended June 30, released by the U. S. Department of Labor, show that income, including interest on government borrowing from the reserves, exceeded outgo by $641,000,000. This excess brings the total of state funds deposited with the United States Treasury, to $7,329,000,000.

This is a sharp reversal from the previous fiscal year when the states paid out $670,000,000 more than they took in. According to the Federal Social Security Administration's records, the favorable turn occurred in July, 1950, the first month of the last fiscal year, when withdrawals from the Treasury by the states for benefits dropped sharply. They continued to drop in succeeding months, with the exceptions of December and January.

How To Keep Well

Nutrition Is A Lively Topic

Many factors govern the amount and type of food eaten by the peoples of the world. Cost, availability, storage, and refrigeration must be considered as well as fertility of the soil, the number of inhabitants, the climate, religion, and dietary habits. This explains why the problem is different in the United States from what it is in Asia, Africa and Europe.

Some races lack protein and other protective foods because there are few animals or they have an aversion to or religious scruples against consuming meat, chicken and eggs. In these areas infant mortality is high. In other sections of the world there is enough food to supply the desired number of calories, but the quality is not good. If thiamin is inadequate, for example, the natives are forced to contend with beriberi. In Europe, space and soil are important and the farmers may be unable to produce enough for their population.

Since what we eat influences health it is only natural that considerable research has been done in the field of nutrition. This is not new as early man, thru trial and error, finally determined what was poisonous in field and forest. Then came a period when it was found that nutriment could be made more edible by cooking, curing, and other treatment. By adding condiments, it became more palatable; and by cooking or processing separate items, many new types of food became available.

As centuries passed they began to recognize that food provided energy in the form of calories. With this information it was possible to classify edibles as to their caloric value. Shortly thereafter, scientists learned that various other elements were equally if not more important than calories. These are the carbohydrates, fats, proteins, minerals and vitamins. The latter discovery created a stir and we are still in the midst of a popular vitamin fad. These substances were sold originally in drug stores but now grocery stores carry them also and they are even given to factory workers on the job and school children with their lunch.

Vitamins also made us aware of the diseases that developed in individuals who ate meals deficient in these products. Ten years ago many were afflicted with beriberi, scurvy, rickets, or pellagra. These maladies have become as rare as hen's teeth even in places where they flourished in the past. In 1939, 34 cases of pellagra were admitted to the Cincinnati general hospital; from 1946 to 1948, only one victim came to their attention. A Chicago scientist, looking for a pellagra case for study, went among the alcoholics in skid row but was unable to find a single sufferer, indicating that even those who prefer drinking to eating are doing fairly well so far as vitamins are concerned.

But many problems must be solved before the science of nutrition is established on a firm footing. The diets of numerous families are said not to be as good as the average food supply affords. In certain homes too much attention is still being paid to quantity rather than quality. In other words, the money available is not being used to the best advantage. These individuals need better information on food values, information that is scientific and not created by high powered sales organizations. The relationship between soil and food obtained therefrom also is being investigated as it never has been done before. It, too, is being subjected to scientific scrutiny and from now on we can expect more enlightenment along this line.

TOMORROW: Go to the operating room happy.

NEPHRITIS

Mrs. E. writes: My 11 year old daughter developed a type of kidney trouble in which her whole body swelled up, her blood pressure went to 160, and albumin appeared in her urine. She is much better now, after eight weeks' treatment. When will she be out of the woods completely?

REPLY

This question must be answered by your physician. The outcome in all kidney cases depends upon various factors, several of which you fail to mention, such as the blood chemistry, eye ground studies, and additional urinary findings.

HEART AND PRESSURE

A. L. writes: Can the blood pressure be normal when the heart is diseased?

REPLY

It is possible to have "leakage" of the heart valves, angina pectoris, or coronary thrombosis with no abnormalities of the blood pressure. However, hypertension usually is associated with enlargement of the pumping apparatus and, in some instances, with arteriosclerosis of the coronary arteries.

WARM WATER

B. Z. writes: Will taking a glass o hot water every morning before breakfast harm the kidneys or bladder?

REPLY

Only Propaganda Can Win The Cold War; Stalin Fears Influence Of Outside World; Friendship Balloons Are Start In The Right Direction

(NOTE—Drew Pearson is on another tour of Europe, studying conditions there in this period of world tension and crisis. Following is another of his dispatches from Central Europe.)

NEAR THE IRON CURTAIN, IN CENTRAL EUROPE — The most important answer to the alarming question put before Congress recently by Secretaries Marshall and Pace—"Will there be war with Russia soon?"—lies in the long stretch of barbed wire extending from the Black Sea to the Baltic which Winston Churchill named the iron curtain.

Most Americans, including the U. S. Government, have neglected the importance of this barrier between East and West.

We have failed to realize that there will always exist the danger of war with Russia as long as this curtain exists; as long as the Moscow radio can tell the Russian people anything they want about us and the Russian people have no way of knowing the opposite; and as long as there is no free parliament, no free church, no free press, no free public opinion to prevent the Kremlin from declaring war.

We have also failed to realize that even if we fight a war with Russia and win, actually our victory will be temporary unless we can convert the Russian people to friendship with the U.S.A. Until we have done that, we shall have to fight wars all over again.

Finally we have failed to realize that Russia has never been conquered by force of arms. Napoleon tried it and got bogged down on the road to Moscow. Hitler also tried it and got swamped in front of Stalingrad.

But the Kaiser, having been stopped in Latvia, picked up Lenin in Switzerland, put him on a special train with drawn blinds, and sent him to Russia. It was after this that Russia, under a new Bolshevist regime, finally surrendered.

In other words, it was propaganda and politics which really defeated the Czar.

Weather Balloons

That is one reason why I have been hammering home the idea that we should use any and all kinds of propaganda, including weather balloons, to penetrate the iron curtain and get the truth to the people of Russia and the satellites.

No matter what else is happening inside Russia, one thing is certain. Stalin has imposed the iron curtain for the specific reason that he fears contact between the Russian people and the outside world.

He knows, and a small segment of the Russian people also know, how American and Soviet troops drank vodka together, toasted their mutual friendship together on the shores of the River Elbe at the end of the war.

He also knows how soldiers of the Red Army who have visited Vienna, Warsaw, Prague or even shell-pocked Berlin, have returned to tell their friends about the culture and economic progress of the free world living beyond the Soviet border. Some of these soldiers have shown such enthusiasm over the West and such skepticism over communism that it has been necessary to isolate them, following their discharge, from their native villages.

Stalin also knows that when the Nazis advanced into Russia in 1940 the astounding total of 3,600,000 Russians surrendered to the Germans.

We in the West did not know about this wholesale surrender until after we had seized German documents and interviewed German officers after V-E Day. But Stalin knew. And he knew that the German army never would have penetrated Russia as it did if many of the Russian people had not actually welcomed it, and if whole segments of the Red army had not been eager to surrender.

The Kaiser's army in 1915-17 advanced only to Riga. It never actually reached the soil of Russia proper. Hitler's army in 1940 marched two-thirds of the way across Russia, right down to the Caucasus. In other words, the Czar, with all his tyranny, commanded more loyalty than Stalin.

These are some of the reasons for the iron curtain. These also are some of the reasons why we must make the iron curtain a lace curtain if we are to prevent war; if we are to win permanent peace over a period of years.

Counter Propaganda

Propaganda balloons floated across the iron curtain have their drawbacks. If they disrupt satellite and Russian public opinion enough, the Kremlin is bound to start the rumor that they are carrying bacteriological warfare—germs aimed to ruin the crops of the Communist people.

The Kremlin may also plant a bomb with an alleged propaganda balloon, arrange to kill someone and then claim that Westerners are trying to murder the Russian people.

Some counter-propaganda like this is almost certain to happen. But when two nations suffer such strained relations as the U.S.A. and U.S.S.R. you can't make those relations any worse, and sometimes revolutionary methods and radical surgery improve them. Certainly it will be true that the louder the Kremlin squawks and tried to twist the meaning of friendship messages to the Russian people, the more it is certain that such propaganda is hurting.

Freedom-friendship balloons floated across the iron curtain are not, of course, going to change the people of Russia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary overnight. But they can help. And added to the Voice of America and other propaganda, some of which cannot be written about, they can hit the Kremlin in the Achilles' heel which Stalin is worried most about—the fear that the people behind the iron curtain may get to know that we are a friendly, peaceful people who will fight if necessary, but who, contrary to the Russian radio, do not want war.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — There is no keener judge of political factionalism that President Truman—and what he did the other day in boosting General Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination was about as effective a piece of maneuvering as anyone has done in reaching right into the opposition party to call attention to its weaknesses.

For what is rapidly taking shape is a split in the Republican party as fundamental as that which caused the break in 1912, when the Democrats rode to victory as a consequence of the schism.

This time, the Democrats may benefit not by the formation of a third political party but by the acquisition of millions of Republican voters who will not stand for a nationalist candidate as contrasted with an internationalist.

Nationalist Or Internationalist

General Eisenhower is an internationalist. Not only does his job today imply this, but his whole background and experience is plainly on that side.

In brief, if the Republicans want to go to the country with an international-minded candidate—as they did with Dewey and Willkie—they can do so in 1952 by nominating General Eisenhower.

If, on the other hand, the Republicans want a nationalist candidate, they will nominate Senator Taft of Ohio.

This is not to say that a nationalist candidate will or will not win in 1952. The situation will be far different from 1920 when the Republicans straddled and won and subsequently took what was at that time called the "isolationist" side—refusing to join the League of Nations. Senator Taft favors a closer union with Great Britain and France. He voted for the Marshall Plan and troops to Europe and is by no means an isolationist, as his opponents like to describe him.

But when campaign time comes, Senator Taft's record will be matched against the Democratic nominee, whether that's Mr. Truman or Chief Justice Vinson or anyone else. The Democrats will stand four-square on the international program of the Administration, whereas Senator Taft would inevitably campaign as a critic of that record and all its future implications.

If General Eisenhower were to be nominated on the Republican ticket, it would mean that the Republican party, in convention assembled, had agreed to accept the viewpoint of the Dewey-Stassen wing of the party and that foreign policy would be much less of an issue than if Senator Taft were the nominee.

The regular organization in the Republican party today leans toward Senator Taft. Will that be the situation next summer when the Republican convention meets?

A cleavage inside the Republican party is shaping up which will rock the party from one end of the country to the other. President Truman may or may not be mischievously inclined as he adds fuel to the flames by speaking in such a friendly way about General Eisenhower and the Republican nomination. He may feel that if the General runs and is elected, at least the foreign policy will not change materially and history will say the present Administration's program has been vindicated.

Practical People

Politicians are practical people. They usually name a candiate they think can win. At the moment the anti-Taft folks are saying the Ohio Senator cannot win because he has not been an internationalist. His supporters insist he would win for that very reason, because the country, as a consequence of the Korean war, has drifted away from its enthusiasm of recent years for the international position.

The dispute on this point will have to be settled by the voters. The Republicans can carry a number of Mid-Western states on the anti-international issue. Can they carry any of the Eastern or Far-Western states on that basis? Can they make any inroads in the South?

Many Republicans insist that there was no chance in 1944 or 1948 to choose between nationalism and internationalism. They would welcome such a clear-cut choice next time. So would Mr. Truman. For he is confident that on that issue alone any Democratic nominee can be elected. That's why he sees trouble for the Republicans unless they nominate Eisenhower, and permanent wounds developing for them anyhow in the pre-convention months as the Republican party engages in a bitter struggle for control between its international and national factions.

Is Our Strategy Right?

WASHINGTON

Some of the most brilliant men in the Defense Department are taking a hard new look at American strategic planning. They are beginning to ask themselves whether our basic strategic concept—the way we intend to fight a war if war comes—should not be recast, root and branch.

A nation's war strategy must be based on its actual military situation. Since the Korean war began, our real military situation has been rapidly changing. Consider first our situation in terms of conventional military strength. On July 1, 1950, we had nine under-strength divisions; a mothball Navy; and a 42-group Air Force masquerading as 48 groups. We had an alliance with Western Europe which was a fake alliance, since Western Europe could not be defended. By July 1, 1952, we shall have the capacity to put about 50 extra-size full-strength divisions into the field in the first year of a war—about twice as many as could be shipped overseas in one year. We shall have a navy which should be capable of dominating the seas absolutely, a strong Naval air arm and a powerful Marine Corps. We shall have a 95-group Air Force, and whatever the precise outcome of the present air power dispute, the Air Force will then certainly be scheduled to grow rapidly larger.

All this gives no grounds for complacency. The balance of power in conventional arms is still certainly with the Soviets. Europe is still, as of today, almost certainly indefensible. Yet the planners, rightly or wrongly, look forward to a time when the balance in conventional military power will be at least partially restored, and when Western Europe will have a really serious defense.

Great Atomic Potential

Now consider the second category of power—atomic power. Here very much greater strides than is generally realized have been made. On this point it is well to tread lightly. But it can be said that the American atomic potential, by July 1, 1952, will be so great that atomic bombs can be regarded as more expendable than the planes which carry them. Nor is this all. For the first time, because of significant reductions in size and weight, atomic bombs can be carried in light planes, or delivered by guided missiles.

This means, for example, that the Navy can now for the first time deliver bombs even from the lighter carriers, and that Air Force delivery is no longer confined to the strategic bombers. This in turn means a greatly increased atomic potential, because deliverability is just as important a factor in atomic power as the size of the stockpile.

In brief, our real military situation is certainly changing. And the best men in the Pentagon are beginning to think that at least at some time in the future, when the balance in conventional military power begins to be restored, our basic strategic concept should change also. The fact is that our war strategy has rested squarely on population bombing.

To put this ugly fact bluntly, our willingness to use atomic bombs against the largest Russian population centers, in order to cause enormous civilian casualties and thus to disrupt the Soviet industrial and political system, has been the heart and soul of our war planning. This strategic concept, however hideous morally, has been wholly correct, since this willingness has been the only deterrent to Russian aggression.

Yet its weakness is very evident. Population bombing precludes that alliance with the Russian people which such Soviet experts as George Kennan consider the real key to victory. A war which ended with the great cities of Eurasia—or even only of the Soviet Union— in ruins, is not a war which could properly be said to have been won.

Most "Economical" Use

Population bombing is the most "economical" use of the bomb, since the bomb so used is most efficiently destructive. But since we are becoming very rich in atomic bombs, the question is beginning to be asked whether we cannot afford to be "uneconomical" in their use, provided always that something like a real power balance in conventional arms is established.

The planners are beginning to wonder whether our exclusive emphasis on population bombing may not be a hangover from the time when we seemed permanently condemned to hopeless weakness in the conventional arms, when a limited atomic stockpile was really all we had. They are asking themselves whether warfare might not be returned to the battlefield, where it belongs, and to the area which directly supports the battlefield.

Might it not be possible to hold population bombing in reserve, as an overwhelming retaliatory weapon, to be used only in case of atomic attack on our own great population centers, and those of our allies? Might not bombing priorities be assigned instead to enemy air fields, atomic plants and stockpiles; to relatively isolated critical installations like hydro-electric power plants and oil refineries; to lines of communications and military installations behind the front; and to heavy enemy troop concentrations?

These questions are being asked only very tentatively, and it is easy to find reasons why they should be answered in the negative. But it is well to remember what we so tragically forgot in the last war—that the aim of war is not confined to simple military victory. A war based essentially on unlimited population bombing simply could not result in real political victory. And this is why it is good that these questions are being asked, however cautiously, in the Defense Department.

The Attorney General's Lists

The decision of the Supreme Court, in the cases involving the joint Anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc., International Workers Order, Inc., is extremely important. These organizations sought their deletion from the Attorney General's list of subversive organizations. Lower courts had upheld the Attorney General; the Supreme Court held that these organizations had a right to sue for such deletion.

Mr. Justice Burton, who gave the majority opinion, said:

". . . To defend such a designation of them, on the basis of the complaints alone, is an assertion of presidential authority so to designate an organization at the option of the Attorney General without reliance upon either disclosed or undisclosed facts supplying a reasonable basis for the determination. It is that, and only that outer limit of the authority of the Attorney General that is now before us."

Further, he said:

". . . The organizations to be designated on that list are not limited to those having federal employes in their memberships. They may even exclude such employes from membership. Accordingly, the impact of the Attorney General's lists is by no means limited to persons who are subject to the employes loyalty program."

The Supreme Court is only supposed to deal with what has been placed before it and therefore, if no one called the attention of the learned brethren to the facts of life, they are not expected to know anything about them. For instance, Hede Massing, Louis Budenz, Whittaker Chambers and others have testified under oath that they were part of Communist apparatuses outside the government, under the control of Soviet Russia, which were actually engaged in efforts to infiltrate our government, in which they succeeded in specific cases.

There is ample evidence of this kind of activity in the files of the FBI, the House Committee on Un-american Activities, and now the McCarran Committee, to establish the validity of the Attorney General's list. What the Supreme Court has actually done is to open the door for each of these organizations—there are several hundred—to go into court to force a hearing on whether their names should or should not be on the list.

Maybe that is the only just way to do it. Justice Burton says:

". . . The acts of the Attorney General and the Loyalty Review Board, purporting to be taken by them under authority of the executive order, have seriously and irreparably impaired, and will continue to so impair, the reputation of the organization and the moral support and good will of the American people necessary for the continuance of its charitable activities. . ."

That is precisely what the list is designed to do. In the case of one of these organizations, the International Workers Order, Inc., I have before me the brief prepared by Paul W. Williams, special counsel for the insurance department of the State of New York, which successfully sought to put this organization out of the insurance business. The brief shows:

"The IWO operates through a system of more than 1,600 lodges throughout the United States. These lodges fall into 16 nationality societies, which are administrative subdivisions of the IWO, having no separate corporate existence. In many cases much of the business of these societies is transacted in the language of the nationality group in question. These groups are as follows:

"American Russian Fraternal Society; Carpatho-Russian American Mutual Aid Society; Cervantes Fraternal Society; Croatian Benevolent Fraternity of America; Czech Workers Society; Douglass Lincoln Fraternal Society; Finnish American Mutual Aid Society; Garibaldi American Fraternal Society; Hellenic American Fraternal Society; Hungarian Brotherhood; Jewish Peoples Fraternal Order; Polonia Society; Roumanian American Fraternal Society; Serbian American Federation; Slovak Workers Society; Ukrainian American Fraternal Union."

The brief clearly establishes Communist propagandist activity by the International Workers Order. The Attorney General is required to show "weighty reason for departing in this instance from a rule so deeply imbedded in history and in the demands of justice. Nothing in the loyalty order requires him to deny organizations opportunity to present their case. The executive order, defining his powers, directs only that designation shall be made 'after appropriate investigation and determination.' This surely does

Council Order Puts Firemen On State Retirement System

The Mayor and City Council passed a resolution yesterday morning to make it possible for members of the Cumberland Fire Department to be placed under provisions of the Employe Retirement System of the State of Maryland.

The resolution provides for all funds now in the local pension fund of the firemen be turned over to the state agency.

Only one member of the department decided to stay out of the state program. He is R. Leo Reichert, whose letter to the Mayor and Council outlining his views was read yesterday morning.

Reichert said he was not opposed to other members of the department joining the state pension system, but he was not in favor of joining himself. He requested the city to return to him all the money he had contributed to the firemen's pension fund and in return he would sign a release whereby the city would not be responsible for paying pension funds to him at anytime in the future.

The bid of the Cumberland Contracting Company, the only one received, for paving Trost and Piedmont avenues in the North End was accepted. The bid was $10.87 per ton for 385 tons of blacktop machine laid on the streets. The bid on the asphalt was 32 cents per gallon.

An order was passed in which $50 was donated to the Cumberland Lions Club to help defray the expense of the Cumberland Horse Show the organization is sponsoring. The net proceeds of the show will be used to aid needy blind and crippled children.

The daily average consumption of water last week was 12,262,000 gallons as compared to 12,614,000 gallons for the same period last year. The weekly consumption was 85,840,000 gallons as compared to 88,300,000 last year. Water in Lake Gordon is three feet below the spillway and two inches above the crest of Lake Koon.

Four War Dead To Be Reburied

Bodies of four more area war dead arrived Sunday in San Francisco from Korea aboard the Lynn Victory.

Port officials listed the men as Pfc. William Robert Jackson, 27, husband of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Jackson, Shaft; Cpl. John T. Wilt, son of Michael C. Wilt, Route 2, Swanton; Pfc. William B. Friend, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Friend, Sang Run, and Cp. Wayne E. Riggleman, son of Claude S. Riggleman, Fisher, Hardy county, W. Va.

Next of kin have been notified and a military escort will accompany the bodies to the place designated by relatives.

Pfc. Jackson was killed in action February 9, the day he had been reported missing. He served 23 months in the European Theater during World War II. Prior to entering service, he attended St. Michael's parochial school and was graduated from Beall High School, Frostburg.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson, of West Main Street, Frostburg, Pfc. Jackson was recalled to active duty October 14 and trained at Camp Campbell, Ky., and Camp Stoneman, Calif. He arrived in Japan, December 29, and six days later was sent to Korea where he was attached to the 24th Infantry Division.

Pfc. Jackson was employed as a powder operator at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory plant before reentering the Army. Besides his widow and parents, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Juanita Flannigan, Frostburg.

Pfc. Friend also had been listed as missing in action before his death was reported.

Police To Make Drive On All-Night Parking

The City Police Department plans to begin a program of checking all-night parking on city streets, according to Police Commissioner John J. Long.

Long said there is an ordinance on all-night parking which states that no persons shall permit a vehicle to stand in any street, alley or other public place all night without first having obtained a permit from the Police Department.

Reasonable grounds for such a permit must be furnished, Long added.

Long said many complaints have been received of all-night parking violations, and that the city garbage collections and street department workers have been hampered by cars parked all night.

Cars found by police parked overnight will first be tagged with a courtesy warning ticket. The owner should contact police for a permit to park. A survey of available garages and off street parking areas will be made. Permits for all night parking will be kept at a minimum, Long said.

your meals will be BETTER when you cook with ELECTRICITY

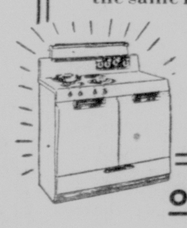
Foods cooked electrically retain more of their vitamins, minerals, appetizing appearance and flavor. The original quality is not lost as it is in cooking on antiquated stoves.

Cooking with electricity is so simple and easy, and results are so certain that cooking becomes "a joy instead of a job." And you always do things better when you enjoy the method of doing them.

An electric range always automatically provides the same heat for the same switch position. By eliminating all guesswork about length of cooking time and correct heat, cooking with electricity can make any cook a good cook and make a good cook a superb cook.



ONLY AN ELECTRIC RANGE GIVES ALL THESE ADVANTAGES
√ COOLER kitchen
√ LOW COST of operation
√ BETTER and MORE HEALTHFUL
√ FAST as fire without flame
√ PERFECT RESULTS everytime
√ AUTOMATIC OPERATION
√ CLEAN--no smoke, no soot
√ EASY---simplest way to cook
√ SAFER for home and family
√ MOST MODERN way of cooking

Legion To Ask Congress Help With Vet Bonus

Bond Issue Termed "Inflationary"

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 13 (AP)—State headquarters of the American Legion made public today a resolution calling upon Congress to take necessary steps to help pay the West Virginia veterans' bonus.

At the same time, the Legionnaires praised Gov. Patteson and his administration for their efforts to sell the bonds despite obstacles put in the way by federal agencies.

Earlier, the state department of the Legion in convention here had proposed that the $96,000,000 workmen's compensation fund be used to pay the bonus.

Gov. Patteson had told the Legionnaires it would be unwise to use other state funds to finance the program.

The bonus was voted last year and specific tax measures were provided for paying off the bonds.

When the first issue of bonds amounting to $67,500,000 was offered for sale, however, the National Voluntary Credit Restraint Committee advised investment houses against their purchase.

The committee had decided a bond issue of this type was inflationary in character.

In asking Congress to act to nullify this order, the resolution made public today also asked the legislative body to "censure those officials who have arrogantly arrogated unto themselves a so-called authority far beyond and outside the delegated duties and responsibilities given them by the limitations of law."

Cass Taylor Leases Shober's Restaurant

Casper R. Taylor, one of Allegany county's best known club and tavern managers, announced yesterday that he has leased Shober's Restaurant, 501 North Mechanic Street, from John C. Shober and assumed active operation of the business.

Present policies of the business, which has been operated by Mr. Shober for the past 15 months, will be continued, according to Mr. Taylor. The lease, subject to the approval of the Board of License Commissioners of Allegany County, is on a ten-year lease basis.

Mr. Shober first opened the restaurant and bar at the property, located at the corner of North Mechanic and Valley streets, on June 20, 1912, and returned to active management a little more than a year ago after it had been operated ten years by William V. Keegan, former city commissioner.

In leasing the popular North End business, Mr. Taylor returned to the native section of his home city. He resided in the North End during his boyhood days and after spending several years on the West Side, where he operated a grocery store and later a tavern, purchased the Clary Club in 1935 to develop it into one of the leading entertainment centers in Western Maryland.

Lydia Pinkham's has a quieting effect on the uterine contractions (see chart) which often cause menstrual pain!

• Women and girls who suffer from those functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches of menstruation — who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days" — may often be suffering quite unnecessarily!

Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave complete or striking relief from such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases tested!

Yes! Medical evidence shows Lydia Pinkham's thoroughly modern in action. It exerts a remarkably calming effect on the uterus — without the use of pain-deadening drugs!

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to the millions of women and girls whom it has benefited. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for you?

Take Lydia Pinkham's through the month. See if you don't get the same relief from the pains and weakness of "those days"! See if you don't feel better before and during your period!

12 YEARS BEFORE THE PILGRIMS LANDED. The first glass factory in America was set up one mile from Jamestown, Va., in 1608. From this factory came the first bottle blown in America. Bottles made in this factory became the first manufactured product exported from this country. The factory was destroyed in 1622 by Indians who massacred the inhabitants of Jamestown.

HE CARRIED WAR UNDERWATER. In 1777, David Bushnell built the first submarine for military purposes. It was called the "American Turtle." The submarine carried a one-man crew. The operator could cause it to submerge and rise by pumping water in and out. The "American Turtle" was not a military success, although it nearly sank the English warship "Eagle" in New York harbor during the Revolutionary War.

Only two persons were hurt in Garrett county. The report said there were ten accidents and eight property damage mishaps.

Davis, Elliott Paroled Again

KEYSER, W. Va.—Charles "Sonny" Davis and Edward Elliott have again been released on parole by Judge Ernest A. See in Mineral County Circuit Court, but not until each had paid his share of the costs of court action and cost of materials they were charged with stealing.

Davis paid $119.10 and Elliott turned over $124.10. Davis had previously paid $5.

The two were arraigned over a year ago. After their case was presented they promised to make restitution and were paroled, but payments were not made.

Bass May Get Job McCray Gave Up At William And Mary

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Aug. 13 (AP)—Marvin Bass, a sprawling fellow they call "Big Moose," probably will be tapped by his alma mater this week to become the next head football coach at the College of William and Mary.

Bass is currently the school's line coach. He would fill the shoes left vacant by the sudden resignation last Saturday of R. N. (Rube) McCray. McCray and basketball coach Barney Wilson resigned as college officials probed alleged "tampering" with high school transcripts to make athletes eligible for admission.

(To enter William and Mary, a high school student must graduate in the upper half of his class of an accredited secondary school.)

McCray indicated he would recommend Bass to succeed him.

Rice's Beats Lover's Leap In 1st Game Of Series, 5-4

Hits By Rice, Davis, White Win In Eighth 2nd Game Wednesday

Successive singles by Joan Rice, Dallas Davis and Margie White in the 8th inning produced the run that gave Rice's Grocery a 5-4 decision over Lover's Leap in the opener of the best-of-five series for the championship of the Queens Softball League yesterday at Stitcher Field.

Lover's Leap had knotted the count in the last of the 7th, forcing the game into an overtime stanza.

Rosalie Bowers, Rice's pitching ace, limited Lover's Leap to two hits—a double by Virginia Stratton and a single by Clara Kreigline.

The Grocery girls walloped the offerings of Hite and Betsy often for 12 safeties, including four two-base hits. Wanda True paced the attack with three hits in four trips while D. Rice, Bowers and Rice accounted for two hits each.

Red Sox Leave Doerr At Home

Veteran 2nd Sacker Is Reported Ailing

BOSTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Veteran second baseman Bob Doerr was left home tonight as the Boston Red Sox began their final long road trip — 16 games — of the season, five games out of first place.

Doerr has been in bed several days with a sacroiliac condition. He may rejoin the team Friday in Washington but probably won't be able to play.

Thus the Sox, selected by many before the season to win the American League pennant, left on their trip with one spare infielder, Fred Hatfield. Lou Boudreau is nursing a fractured hand and will be out for a couple more weeks.

The Sox just completed a 21 game home stand with an 11-10 record and must play better than .500 ball on the road or sag so far off the pennant race they won't be able to recover.

They will play three games against the Athletics in Philadelphia, three at Washington, then three at St. Louis, two at Chicago, a pair in Cleveland against the Indians, and a three game series at Detroit.

Iowan Is Leader In Jaycee Golf

George Clark's 69 Tops Field By Stroke

DURHAM, N. C., Aug. 13 (AP)—Seventeen-year-old George Clark of Ottumwa, Iowa, playing in the third threesome from the end, came home in the twilight today with a brilliant 33-36—69 to lead the first qualifying round of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce National Junior Golf Tournament.

His one-under par tour of the 6,660-yard Hope Valley Country Club course finally wrested away the lead from big Kent McLachlan of Vancouver, Wash., member of the Oregon team, who, seven and one half hours earlier, posted a 34-36—70 to apparently clinch the first day lead.

Sharing third place with 71s, two off the pace were Charlie Strack of York, Pa., who flew in today and played the course without any practice, and Don McLaughlin of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Five threats at 72 included Bob Schoener of Allentown, Pa., whose outgoing 33 matched Clark's front nine, but the Pennsylvanian fell off to 39 coming home.

Thirteen tied at 73, including the defending champion, Eddie Merrins of Meridian, Miss., who followed a par 35 with a three-over 38.

The field of 210 swarmed over the course for almost 13 hours in 90-degree temperatures. Heavy rain shortly after midnight made the course play long.

Another 18-hole round tomorrow will cut the field to 128 for the first round of match play on Wednesday morning.

Cleveland Fans Enjoying Case Of Pennantitis

Indians Are Swamped With Ticket Orders

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13 (AP) — Clevelanders by the hundreds of thousands were enjoying the most serious case of pennant-itis today since the Indians grabbed the flag in 1948.

Al Lopez
Indians

With the first place Tribe riding a 10-game winning streak—longest in 10 years—it was hard to get into an extended conversation on any subject but baseball in restaurants, bars, and barbershops.

Over last weekend a total 119,147 went through the turnstiles at the stadium.

The Indians' ticket office is so swamped with advance orders that a fifth telephone operator was hired, and Cleveland's first year manager, Al Lopez, said "for the first time, most of my mail from fans is complimentry."

Autograph Hunters Busy

Down at the Municipal Stadium, a crowd of about 1,000 autograph hunters and the merely curious was stacked around the gate yesterday after the game just for a glimpse of such players as Dale Mitchell, or Larry Doby or Mike Garcia.

A bartender named Lloyd Culp in Eastlake, O. is growing a beard which he won't shave off until they clinch the pennant, or until the first game next year.

Culp made this arrangement with a competing bartender, Tommy O'Toole, a New York Yankee fan. If the Indians win, he gets $400.

Now sporting a three-inch bush, Culp is drinking coffee out of a mustache cup, but his wife, Ellen, says: "no sacrifice is too great for the Indians."

"Frankly," said Culp, "I didn't like this business of firing Lou Boudreau and hiring Lopez as manager. Now I think it was the smartest thing the Indians ever did."

The Indians management got a lot of beefs from people who felt that way for about a month and a half after Boudreau was fired. Many of them swore they would never go to another Cleveland game.

"But the Boudreau issue is dead now," said an Indians' spokesman, thankfully.

Ticket Sales Skyrocket

Nate Dolin, the stadium director for the Indians, said business really shot upwards after the Indians moved into first place last week.

"We sold 51,000 tickets on Saturday, 40,000 for the game that night and 11,000 in advance sales. That's more in one day than any club has ever done anywhere. The crowd Saturday night against the White Sox was 70,600, our second largest of the season," he said.

"And the sale on future games with New York and Boston is terrific."

Pen-Mar Loop Teams Will Play Two Games

Kenneth Robertson, secretary of the Pen-Mar Baseball League, last night announced that two rained out games have been rescheduled for this week.

Wellersburg will play at Klondyke today at 5:30 p. m.

Zihlman will tangle with Wellersburg at the latter place Saturday at 4 p. m.

Women Golfers Vie For Trophy

Women golfers of the Cumberland Country Club will play for the Elsa Lichtenstein trophy in the annual handicap tournament set for today at 10 a. m.

The qualifying round of the women's fall tournament also is scheduled to get under way today. Players will be required to qualify by August 20.

August Eichhorn Succeeds Woodson As Bruce Mentor

Orville Jackson Gets Flintstone Post; 40 At LaSalle Meeting

ROBERT E. PENCE

Robert E. "Bob" Pence will remain as football coach at Allegany High School and will not accept the position of grid and cage mentor at George Washington High School at Alexandria, Va., it was announced last night by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of Allegany County public schools.

Announcement came out of Alexandria, Va., on Friday, August 3, that Pence had been named football and basketball coach at the Virginia school.

Pence informed Superintendent Kopp that he had accepted the Virginia offer in a verbal agreement and then changed his mind and decided to remain at the Campobello school where he had tutored football teams for five seasons. AHS teams have engaged in 50 games since Pence took over the reins in 1946 and have won 29, lost 17 and played four ties.

Eichhorn Succeeds Woodson

Superintendent Kopp also announced that August "Augie" Eichhorn, of Lonaconing, has been transferred from Flintstone High School to Bruce High School, Westernport, where he will succeed Coach Walter E. "Woody" Woodson, resigned.

AUGUST EICHHORN

Eichhorn is a graduate of Central High School, Lonaconing, and the University of Maryland. He made his debut as soccer coach at Flintstone High School last fall and tutored the baseball team there this spring.

Augie excelled in basketball when he attended Central High and was a track star at College Park.

Before he resigned as a member of the faculty at Bruce to accept employment at the Hercules Powder Company, Woodson coached basketball, soccer and baseball at Bruce High School.

Eichhorn's place at Flintstone will be taken by Orville Jackson, former Frostburg athlete, Kopp announced. Jackson will take over the duties of soccer coach in the fall.

40 Report At LaSalle

Approximately 40 candidates for LaSalle High School's football team attended a meeting at Carroll Hall last night. A coach has not been named but Phil Carolan, former Explorers' mentor, agreed to send the squad through its initial workouts. A light drill is scheduled for 2 p. m. today at Community Park. No equipment has been issued. Brother Joseph, director of athletics, attended last night's session.

700 "Musicians" Accept Invite To Ebbets Field

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (INS)—A musical monstrosity invaded Ebbets Field for free tonight and made more noise than a Dodger rhubarb with an umpire.

It was all part of a musical appreciation—or depreciation—gimmick rigged up by the Brooklyn management that provided free admissions for those who carried their musical instruments in the ball park.

The musicians, with or without union cards from Local 802, were placed in the left field section of the park, there to compete with the "sweet" refrains of the Dodger "Sym-Phony," a little group which blares away regularly from behind first base.

Some 700 musicians and would-be musicians, toting trumpets, violins, clarinets, saxophones and the like, streamed through Gate "M."

Dodger President Walter O'Malley got the musical bug in a recent row with the union over the Brooklyn Sym-Phony. It seems two members of that talented crew were union men and were performing at the ballyard without remuneration.

All was made serene, however, when the two unionists retired from the band and were replaced by non-union lads.

And while the Dodgers and Braves went through their baseball paces this humid August night, there was much more than the usual amount of hootin' and tootin' from the stands. Music lovers just had to make the best of things.

Harridge To Hear White Sox Protest

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (INS) — American League President Will Harridge today called a meeting for Aug. 27 to iron out the dispute over the Yankee-White Sox game on July 27 which was called because of rain, giving New York a 3 to 1 victory.

Harridge said he invited to the conference Casey Stengel, Yanks' manager; Paul Richards, managing Chicago's White Sox, and the four umpires who worked the game. The meeting will be held at the American League offices.

The quarrel is over Umpire Hank Soar's decision to call the game, played in New York, at the end of the eighth inning. The White Sox went into the top of the ninth trailing 3 to 1. Then Chicago drove in three runs to lead 4 to 3 and loaded the bases with only one out.

Soar called time because of rain and an hour later called the game on the score at the end of the eighth.

Rinehart Given State Race Post

Gets 6-Year Term At $3,000 Salary

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 13 (AP)—D. Eldred Rinehart, Washington county farmer and horseman, today was named to the State Racing Commission.

The state house announced the long-awaited appointment by Governor McKeldin.

Rinehart replaces Wilbur R. Dulin of Anne Arundel County for a six-year term at an annual salary of $3,000.

Rinehart, 47, has been active in Western Maryland Republican circles for some time.

For six years he has been president and general manager of the Agriculture and Mechanical Association of Washington County, sponsor of the county fair and its half-mile track at Hagerstown.

That post had delayed Rinehart's appointment, McKeldin said last winter the Smithsburg fruit grower was his choice for a commission vacancy. But he consented to hold up the actual appointment until the close of Hagerstown's 10-day meeting. It ended last Saturday.

Rinehart also has served four years as president of the Washington County Farm Bureau.

The appointment was McKeldin's first to the three-man commission that supervises flat and harness racing in Maryland. The governor did elevate Frank Small, Jr., to the chairmanship two weeks ago. H. Courtenay Jenifer, now the lone Democrat in the group, resigned as chairman but will continue as a member until his term expires in 1953.

Dulin, a Democrat, had agreed to stay on until Rinehart became available. Then state senator from Anne Arundel county, he was put on the agency two years ago after Stuart Janney, Baltimore county sportsman, resigned at the height of a state house wrangle over racing legislation.

Petticoat-Pants Game Is Planned By Playground

Keyser Group To Hold Spelling Bee

KEYSER, W. Va.—The program and grounds committees of the East End Playground, Armstrong Street Extended, are ready for introduction of two outstanding and unusual programs on the playground this week.

The first event, a baseball game tonight between the women and men, promises to be an hilarious feature. Roy Hartman will be captain of the men's team, and the women will be piloted by Mrs. Oren Brown.

Women players will wear men's clothing and the men have been told they must wear women's apparel. All righthanded men must bat left handed and left handers bat from the right side, and the women have won an additional handicap of forcing the men to hop the base paths instead of running, if they hit the ball.

Losers of this event must pay a penalty of buying soft drinks for the victors. The feature event is billed as the "Petticoat-Pants" baseball game.

The second feature will be presented Thursday evening, when an old fashioned spelling bee will be held, followed by an old fashioned box supper. The playground group has extended a welcome to citizens of Keyser and McCoole and visitors will be welcome to enter the contest of spelling big and little words.

Joseph Stanislawzyk will be the announcer for the preliminary event and will select the words for a group of elementary school children setting the pattern for the older entrants, who will receive their words from Miss Jeannette McGuffie, supervisor for the Mineral County Schools. Prizes will be awarded.

At the conclusion of the "bee," W. O. Borror will conduct an auction in which the box lunches will be sold to highest bidders. Women of the group will prepare the boxes and the man who purchases a box will share the contents with the woman who prepared it.

For those who do not enter into the box lunch treats, there will be hot dogs, tonic, home made ice cream and cake on sale. There will also be a "talking machine" on the ground for the amusement of all.

Adams, president. Others connected with the family, through relationship, and friends of the members are asked to attend.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS
(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

Jimmy Durante

First, it was for Tyrone Power before he developed an allergy for costume pictures. Then, Dale Robertson was elected. But when the chips were down, Phillip Dunne, the producer and the other bosses, decided Rory was more on the Latin side.

So now Rory takes over the "Gaucho" assignment and Dale replaces him in "Return Of The Texan."

• — • — •

Jimmy Durante goes straight in "Baby Needs Shoes." I mean, as straight as the schnozz can make it.

He plays a pianist at the Metropolitan in a sort of wistful, heart-tugging interpretation of a real artist who would like to be a vaudevillian. Can't you just see what Jimmy will do to this part? He'll moiderrr it.

Jane Powell, the star, plays the youngest opera singer at the Met, giving her a chance to shine in several lovely arias. It's for MGM, of course.

• — • — •

If there is to be no dancing in Rita Hayworth's picture—how come there are some quiet negotiations afoot to borrow Roland Petit from Howard Hughes?

Petit is the male star of "The Ballet De Paris" and was put under contract to RKO at the same time Renee Jeanmarie and many other members of the troupe were signed, en masse, by RKO.

I get it straight that Petit is being sought not only to dance with Rita—but he may wind up as leading man in place of Glenn Ford.

Nancy Kelly replaces Faye Emerson on TV while Faye is in Europe, surprising, because Nancy seldom wears those deep V gowns. There's nothing wrong with her acting, however,—and that's probably why she won out over all the busty-belles who wanted the job.

Nancy closed in her Broadway hit "Season In The Sun" Saturday night and will make a flying trip to the coast before taking over the Emerson show.

How much longer before the Errol Flynns admit it?

Talk about the way the newcomers are clicking—Tony Curtis is second, and Piper Laurie third on a screen magazine popularity poll. They're making their own announcement about who is first.

The Henry Fondas have gone to Catalina now that he's closed his long, long run in "Mr. Roberts."

Louis Hayward and June Blanchard have it good—and that ain't bad.

Raymond Massey leaves for London immediately now he's finished "Carson City" at Warner's. He'll probably do "The Hanging Judge" on the stage there.

Robert Young has bought himself a single motor plane and took his first flight in it today—to Detroit, where he presents scholarships to engineering students in behalf of the Fisher Body Company.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Opening August 16 of the $44-million Delaware Memorial Bridge, sixth longest span in the world, ends one of the worst ferry bottlenecks on eastern seaboard's north-south traffic routes. The new span bridges a mile of water with towers rising 437 feet to support a four-lane roadway high above the largest ocean-going vessels. Engineers and workmen of U. S. Steel's American Bridge Company planned and labored a year-and-a-half to erect the mighty structure using 40,000 tons of steel to replace the Newcastle Ferry shown here at the height of a Sunday traffic snarl. Opening ceremonies, with governors of Delaware and New Jersey attending, dedicate the bridge to World War II dead of the two states.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Are "zany" comedians really funny?

Answer: Presumably anything is funny that makes people laugh, but the current immense popularity of a type of comedian who bears almost no resemblance to a reasonable human being is of special interest to the psychologist, who is himself usually "not amused." If the aim of humor is "escape," what people who love this type of humor are attempting to escape from would appear to be the terrible responsibility that faces any really thinking person today. Perhaps they are lucky to be able to lay down this burden and stop thinking, at least for the duration of a television program.

Must we choose between repression and revenge?

Answer: No, writes Dr. Karen Horney in the American Journal of Psychoanalysis. Your inevitable reaction toward a person who has frustrated or hurt you will be to feel "vindictive" toward him — that is, want to make him suffer in return. Yet it is equally undesirable for you either to repress this desire (at the cost of inner conflict) or to try to satisfy it by revenge, which generally will recoil against you. Psychoanalysis offers a way out of the dilemma through helping you overcome the original vindictiveness in some such way as by realizing that the offender did not understand what he was doing.

Can "crazes" be explained?

Answer: There are two facts which may come close to accounting for them. Most people, particularly adolescents, suffer from inexplicable feelings of frustration which prompt them to grasp at almost any promised satisfaction. And again, most people crave a feeling of security and find it in "doing what everybody else does." The average woman wants to be attractive and desirable, but is not sure that she knows how, so that on the basis of these two trends she can be "stampeded," first by being told she should wear short skirts, and then by the "craze" for long ones.

The women could win the next election by two million votes. If they spoke to each other.

You know that no woman bothered to sign the Declaration of Independence. What good is it without alimony?

• — • — •

Which indicates that women are smarter than men. They fool all of them some of the time and some of them all of the time. That's not a bad average for any of the time.

• — • — •

How about the general shape of things? Even that will be an improvement. There will be more curves on the graphs.

Franco has been asked to street himself by Don Juan of Castile. So far, no soap.

• — • — •

Don Juan has been in political escrow so long his meerschaum pipe is coloring him. He thinks it is again about time for the Hapsburg shovel chin to be throwing up sand bottom.

• — • — •

The Don sent Franco a sharp little open post-card criticizing his reign. The intrepid letter carrier delivered it on the end of a broom.

The dictator's answer was neither yes or no. It was just a loud roar. So the Don will let it reign.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Is it bad eye-sight that accounts for the over-done make-up that you see too many women wearing? Certainly male preference isn't responsible—polls show that colleges and men's clubs overwhelmingly turn thumbs down on a trumped-up appearance. And, as every woman knows, artificiality will gain you nothing from other women but censure.

Much Too Much

The worst of it is that most of the women who are guilty usually are completely unaware of their lack of discretion. It's just that their eyes become so accustomed to a delicate swish of rouge that they feel the need of a little more for a greater effect—and then, not so long thereafter, a little more again. The same is true of what starts out as a delicate blond rinse—or any other aid to beauty. Eventually, circles of purple rouge and masses of brassy hair seem as natural to the jaded eyes as Nature's own coloring.

There's a sure cure, though. Just wear dark glasses around the house for ten minutes and then scrutinize your appearance in a window with north light. Use this Powers Girl quiz to discover whether what you see indicates that you are a natural-looking beauty or one who needs to revise her techniques:

1. Does your foundation look darker, lighter, or heavier than the skin at the base of your throat? If it does, you are the loser. The texture and color of your skin must look as though it belongs to you—not to the local beauty parlour. Match your foundation to the color of your skin and apply it in an invisible film—then you'll be the gainer.

2. Does your color appear to come from within? If not, your rouge shade is too dark or your blending is at fault. Nobody—not even you—should be able to tell where your rouge starts and stops!

3. Is your powder showing? Then switch to a medium weight in a color that matches your foundation. Press it on your face liberally; allow it to "set"; then remove every vestige with a clean cotton ball. Unseen, enough will remain to give your skin a velvet look.

4. Is your lipstick neat? Practice until it is.

As Others See You

5. Is your eye make-up noticeable? You're not on the home stretch until you learn to apply your eye cosmetics so that no one can tell you use them!

6. Does your hair look freshly shampooed, dressed, and groomed? That's 100% perfect—unless it is tinted. Then, look again! Is the shade unnatural looking—too black, red, or brassy? Then seek correction from the top expert in your town. It's of top importance to you!

Look at yourself with fresh, wide-open eyes. Then you'll be seeing yourself with the same clarity that others see you!

Tomorrow: College wardrobes.

The real trouble here stems from the fact that the Attorney General's lists are a product of an executive order which does not define the word "subversive."

If we want really to get Communists, Marxist and Russian agents, out of the government, why not specifically define them as such?

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Bernard (Barney) Smith, who died Three years ago August 14, 1948.

"The Authority on Authorities"

PLAN FOR EITHER WAY

WHEN you see that the only chance for your contract is a squeeze, perhaps a double-squeeze, and you don't know for sure just where the key cards of the defenders lie, it is fortunate if you can preserve in some suit the ace and king opposite each other, one of them singly guarded and the other twice-guarded. You may be able then to use the third-round threat of that suit to make some defender establish the third trick there for you or throw away a winner elsewhere.

5 ♦	Pass	5 NT	Pass
6 ♠	Pass	7 NT

When the 6-Spades response to the Blackwood 5-No Trumps showed South holding all three missing kings, North confidently put his skillful partner in the grand slam. Later he was glad he did.

Upon seeing the heart 10 lead, South counted up. If the missing six spades were divided 3-3 between the defenders, fourteen tricks were easy. If they were not that well split, then a squeeze would be needed. South decided on his closing format—holding his own three clubs opposite dummy's two and in the dummy the spade 7 and heart 5, while he also would retain his fifth diamond, the 10, as the squeezer.

Playing down to that position, he watched the fall of the cards. East's toss of a heart on the third of the spade K, A and Q showed that the squeeze would be needed, as South himself shed a heart. Then came the diamond A, Q and K, on which East put a club, the heart A, the diamond J and finally the squeezing diamond 10.

Both defenders had discarded the best way, West holding the spade J and three clubs, East the heart Q and three clubs. On that last diamond, West had to hold the spade J as protection against the 7, so discarded his club 4, whereupon the spade 7 was put on from dummy. Now East's job was impossible. If he threw the heart Q, the club K and A and heart 5 would finish the hand. He therefore tossed one of his three clubs. The club 5 to the A, 2 to the K and 9 then gave South the last three tricks.

Railway Smoke Violations To Be Discussed

Terminal Meeting Planned Today

Results of smoke observations on local railroads during July, which records indicate are the worst in many months, will be discussed at today's Cumberland Terminal Meeting.

Chester T. Williams, superintendent of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, will be chairman for the meeting scheduled at 1:30 p. m. in the Council Chamber at City Hall.

Results of 37 observations on the Western Maryland last month showed 29 "clear stacks", seven partial violations and one bad violation.

June Violations Cited

In June, the railroad had only three partial violations marked against it and a like amount in May.

The 254 Baltimore and Ohio Railroad observations resulted in 206 "clear stacks", 38 partial violations and 10 bad violations.

The number was only one more partial violation than was recorded against the railroad in June, but in that month, there were no bad violations.

In May, the B. and O. had 29 partial and four bad violations.

W. M. Stresses Care

The Western Maryland last month reported, following a slight rise in partial violations, that it has sent letters to the crews of the engines, telling them to be more careful of partial violations.

Officials added that the carrier would continue to keep after the partial violators.

Baltimore and Ohio officials asked for all available data on partial violations so that immediate investigations might be undertaken.

A sharp decrease in the time limits now allowed for locomotives has been recommended by Charles Z. Heskett, author of the ordinance and a member of the department's advisory board.

Pointing out that the law now defines as a nuisance No. 2 smoke "for a period in excess of eight minutes or more in any period of 30 minutes after said locomotive is in or ready for service", Heskett recommended that the word "eight" be changed to "one".

FAIRGO GETS SPRUCED UP—Ray VanMeter, who is operating a motorized lawn mower, is shown getting the grass at Fairgo in tip-top shape for the 34th annual Cumberland Fair. The agricultural exposition will be held all next week, Monday through Saturday. Agricultural, horticultural, live stock, poultry and pet stock exhibits will be included in the annual fair. VanMeter is only one of many workers who are busy getting everything in readiness for the annual event.

Health Workers To Attend Area Sanitation Meet

J. B. Dowling Will Speak At Seminar

Four members of the City and County Health Department will attend the annual Interstate Sanitation Seminar to be held August 20 to 23 in Charlottesville, Va.

They are Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer; J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian; W. R. E. King, city sanitary officer, and Blaine Robinette, county sanitarian.

Dowling will be one of the speakers on the second day's program when he discusses water and sewage problems in rural and suburban areas.

He is expected to relate details of the concerted drive the Health Department, the State Roads Commission and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners conducted to curb the seepage of sewage upon state and county highways in this area.

Plans for the program are in charge of Virginia Health Department sanitarians and delegates will be housed at the University of Virginia.

One of the topics to be discussed is the part sanitation will play in the nation's Civil Defense plans.

During July, Dowling reported, sanitarians in the City and County Health Department made 276 field trips, including 43 investigations of sewage on private premises, eight investigations of private water supplies and seven school sewage inspections.

Inspections were also made of 69 food and drink establishments, 119 dairy farms and 13 pasteurization plants.

During the month, 71 conferences were held on sanitation problems.

The department said many of the 402 telephone calls received during July pointed to actual or potential health hazards.

On August 14, 1945, Japan surrendered unconditionally asking the Allies for assurance Hirohito might remain on the throne. The Allies specified that he submit to the supreme allied commander and his future status be determined by free election.

Actually September 2 has been designated as V-J Day because it was on that date in 1945 that Japan signed formal articles of surrender on the U. S. Battleship Missouri in Tokyo Bay.

CWA-CIO Plans Member Drive In This Area

Contract Report Is Slated Tonight

Local 2105, Communications Workers of America (CIO), will open a membership drive in this area at a meeting set tonight at 8 o'clock in Textile Workers Hall, according to Robert O. Slemmer, president of the area local.

M. V. Chatain, this city, has been named chairman of the membership drive.

Plans call for securing 100 per cent membership of all plant maintenance employes in the Cumberland, Oakland, Hagerstown and Frederick areas within the next few months.

The unit now has 170 members in the area and in Cumberland represents about 98 per cent of eligible workers, Slemmer said.

Also slated for tonight's membership meeting is a report of wage and contract provisions provided in a pact reached July 15 between the local and the C. and P. Telephone Company.

Social events of the fall season will also be announced at the meeting.

Membership cards for 1951-52 will be distributed tonight.

On Thursday, stewards of the local will attend a meeting in the UAW-CIO Hall in Hagerstown.

Copies of the new by-laws of the local are being printed and will be distributed to all members in the next few weeks, Slemmer said.

Kaylor Opposes Leasing State Lands To Oil, Gas Concerns

Says Wells Could Ruin Garrett Co.

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 13 (AP) — Joseph F. Kaylor, director of the Department of Forests and Parks, does not want oil and gas rights on state-owned properties leased to "big out-of-state companies or speculators."

The Board of Public Works is now considering a request to lease state lands in Garrett County.

The request came from former State Senator George H. Williams of West Virginia and L. Harold Sothoron, former Democratic Senator from Prince George's County in Maryland. They were acting for an unidentified syndicate which owns 32,000 acres in West Virginia and holds some rights on private land in Maryland.

Kaylor said today that "speculators" could "ruin Garrett County." He added big concerns with no interest in the area other than oil and gas might allow wells to flood, "smearing around pollution."

"This would be a deterrent to vegetation and make the county unsuitable for recreation," Kaylor said.

And recreational facilities, he said, are Garrett County's biggest potential industry. "They could be a very lucrative business."

Parts of West Virginia and other states have been ruined by big companies and speculators when they were "uncontrolled," he added. Kaylor doubted local governments could keep control of the gas and oil companies. But he said he would not oppose giving rights to local people.

This move "just popped up like a balloon," Kaylor declared. The state owns 90,000 acres of land in Garrett County, but none of it is in the region presently drilled for gas.

Today, however, things are expected to get back to normal, with cloudy, warm and humid weather, followed by scattered showers.

Pastor's Wife Still Critical At Keyser

Suffered Electric Shock At Home

Mrs. L. A. Steele, wife of the pastor of First Methodist Church, Keyser, W. Va., who was nearly electrocuted Monday in a freak accident at her home, remained in "critical" condition at Potomac Valley Hospital late last night.

She was taken to the hospital in an unconscious condition, police said, following injuries suffered about 1 p. m. when she was knocked to the porch floor from a ladder as she came into contact with a live wire.

The woman was standing on a step ladder, police added, at her home, 86 South Main Street, cleaning the walls and ceiling. She lost her balance, and as the ladder moved she reached out and grabbed the electric wire. Her hand became fast to the wire and when the ladder fell, the weight of her body broke the hold and she fell to the porch.

Passersby noticed the accident and removed her to the lawn and later rushed her to the hospital.

Goins Released From Custody In Robey Death

Michigan Driver Hit Victim Near Rawlings

Paul E. Goins, Detroit, Mich., who was driving the vehicle that struck Wheeler A. Robey, 75, Danville, Saturady night on Route 220 three miles south of Rawlings, was released from Allegany County jail yesterday afternoon after investigation by the State's Attorney.

Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, said that investigation to date did not disclose enough gross negligence on the part of Goins to warrant his confinement.

Subject To Recall

Goins was released subject to recall pending further investigation, Fletcher stated.

Goins was being held in Allegany County jail pending action of the State's Attorney's office in connection with the death of Robey, who died in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., Sunday morning, after the accident.

State Police said the elderly building contractor was struck by an automobile driven by Goins.

Prior to the accident, Goins was fined $10 and costs in Keyser by Justice of the Peace Madelyn Bazzel on a charge of assaulting his brother-in-law, Arthur Trenton, Detroit, formerly of Keyser.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said Robey died of a fractured skull and intercranial hemorrhage.

Police Give Account

Trooper A. M. Spioch, investigating the mishap, said Robey alighted from an automobile operated by Frank Rhodes, of New York, visiting in Cumberland, and started across the highway and was hit. He failed to regain consciousness.

The victim was a native of Petersburg, W. Va., and was the son of the late Benjamin F. and Eliza Catherine Powell Robey. He had resided in the Rawlings and Danville section for 20 years.

Surviving are a brother, Conrad J. Robey, Rawlings; and three sisters, Mrs. Ida Cooper, Davis, W. Va.; Mrs. Stella Smith and Miss Victoria Robey, both of Rawlings.

The body is at the Rogers Funeral Home, Keyser. A service will be held today at 2 p. m. (EST) in Mount Hebron Church near Maysville, W. Va. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Noah Beeman To Face Murder Charge In Fatal Penknife Stabbing Of Young Wife

AMBASSADORS' QUARTET—The First Brethren Church will hold a fellowship program tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church, Fourth and Seymour Streets, and will present the Ambassadors' Quartet, sponsored by Brethren Youth Inc. Shown above are Robert Keplinger, Dayton, Ohio, Phil Lersch, Ashland, Ohio, Harold Barnett, Lost Creek, Ky., and Lyle Lichtenberger, Elkhart, Ind.

Rites For Victim To Be Held Today

A murder charge will be filed today against Noah Earl Beeman, 24, in the fatal penknife stabbing of his 18-year-old wife early Sunday in Frostburg.

The State's Attorney's Office said a warrant charging Beeman with murder will be issued this morning. Beeman's wife, Mrs. Donna L. Beeman, will be buried this afternoon.

Authorities added that the investigation is "nearly complete" with the questioning of several witnesses yesterday. Beeman was quoted as saying he had been drinking before stabbing.

Girl Stabbed Twice

State Police Trooper First Class William F. Baker said Beeman stabbed his wife twice with a three-inch penknife after a family argument at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Airhart, Railroad Street, Frostburg.

Baker reported that Beeman came to the Airhart home, where his wife resided, at about 12:30 a. m. Sunday and accused her of "running around."

The slain girl's father said the argument which ensued erupted into a fight. He declared he came into the room to find his daughter and Beeman struggling on the floor, with Mrs. Airhart trying to pull Beeman away by the hair.

Mrs. Beeman, stabbed through the heart and lung, escaped and ran outside, where she collapsed. Frostburg police arrived and found her dead, then arrested her husband.

Warrant Not Served

A 13-year-old sister of the victim ran to summon a neighbor, Mrs. Ruth Thomas, who said she held Beeman at bay with an empty rifle until police arrived.

Yesterday, relatives voiced bitter criticism of a constable's failure to serve a 19-day-old warrant for Beeman's arrest. Mrs. Beeman obtained a warrant July 24 charging him with assault. Magistrate James Carter of Frostburg said he turned it over to Constable William Twigg, who had not returned it at the time of the slaying.

At Beeman's request, Baker and Deputy Sheriff William Chappell took the handcuffed prisoner to the Durst Funeral Home in Frostburg yesterday to view his wife's body. Baker said Beeman broke into tears as he left. He will not attend the funeral today.

Meyers To Make Second Bid For Bail Reduction

Hearing Today In Baltimore

Counsel for George A. Meyers, Maryland Communist Party boss now awaiting trial on conspiracy charges, will ask for reduction of his bail at a hearing today in Baltimore.

Meyers, 38-year-old Lonaconing native and former Cumberland labor leader, faces a charge of conspiring to advocate the forcible overthrow of the government.

Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut will hear arguments for lower bond for Meyers and two others snagged last week in an FBI roundup of Communists and Red suspects. They are Roy Wood, party chairman in the District of Columbia, and Maurice Braverman, Baltimore attorney who FBI agents said had frequently appeared in behalf of Communists.

Bond Set At $75,000

Their bond was set at $75,000 each, but their counsel argued this was too much. U. S. Attorney Bernard J. Flynn, however, took the position that high bail was necessary to insure their appearance in court.

Judge Chesnut last week refused to grant an immediate reduction in bail, after noting that "facilities of travel have improved" since the drafting of the Eighth Amendment which prohibits excessive bail.

He added that $75,000 may not be excessive under the circumstances. He did indicate, however, that he may consider reduction of bail after today's hearings.

Agree To Trial

Meanwhile, two of three others picked up by the three-state FBI dragnet have agreed to trial in Baltimore.

Flynn reported that Mr. and Mrs. Philip Frankfeld have signed removal papers from Cleveland and are en route to Baltimore. Frankfeld, 44, was arrested in New York, and his wife, Regina, 41, in Cleveland.

Frankfeld is a former state chairman of the Maryland Communist Party, and the FBI said his wife also held party office in Baltimore. Meyers succeeded Frankfeld when Frandfeld was transferred to Cleveland early this year.

Mrs. Dorothy Rose Blumberg, 47, a former treasurer and education director in the party's Baltimore headquarters, has refused to sign removal papers from New York, where she was arrested. She will be given a hearing August 23 in Brooklyn.

Contingent Fund May Determine 1952 Levy Boost

Auditor Prepares Budget Figures

The size of next year's Contingent Fund may determine whether this city makes use of a five cent boost in its operating levy authorized by the General Assembly.

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday afternoon that Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, is now busy preparing figures on the budget as a result of a meeting held yesterday morning.

The tentative budget reached yesterday, he said, will be presented to the Mayor and Council Thursday morning and, if agreed upon, will be prepared into an ordinance.

Action Expected Monday

Mayor Post said action on the budget ordinance is expected Monday at 10 a. m. at a regular meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Declining to elaborate on the amounts decided upon, Mayor Post said the department requests and expectable income are now "fairly close to being balanced."

When asked if the City plans to use the extra five cents authorized, he said it was "possible."

It all depends, Mayor Post said, upon the size of the Contingent Fund the Council wants to carry.

Deadline Is Set

Last week, requests totaling some $66,000 more than the city can hope to collect for operating expenses were pared down to the $35,000 mark as the study reached the halfway mark.

Wage increases of $12 a month granted to members of the Police and Fire Departments by the General Assembly will take about half of the five cents additional operating tax levy authorized, officials pointed out.

Debt service next year is expected to cost about ¢236,717, or 37 cents on the tax rate.

This would mean that if the city uses the extra five cents, the present $1.28 tax rate would jump to $1.32.
